

McKee Twirls Second No-Hit Softball Game

Pi Kap Chucker Runs Consecutive No-Hit Innings to Thirteen as Fijis Fall, 2-0; Olson Fans Fourteen as Campbell Wins

By ART LITCHMAN

Harvey McKee, sensational Pi Kap fireball artist, pitched his second consecutive no-hit no-run game yesterday as the Pi Kaps dumped the Fijis, 2 to 0. McKee has now hurled thirteen consecutive innings of hitless ball in his last two starts against the Betas and the Fijis. In the only other game he has pitched this year Kirkwood coop managed to make one earned run.

The Pi Kaps scored what proved to be the winning run in the first inning when Jim Harrison walked and tallied when Paul Formosa banged a long double into center field. Two errors and a single in the sixth enabled the winners to score their other run.

Formosa led the Pi Kap batters with two hits. He also drove a hit on top of the Igloo that was foul by inches. McKee struck out ten men, walked three and received perfect support from his teammates.

One-Hitter

Elmer Olson, Campbell coop strikeout king, pitched a one-hit game as the coop pounded out an 8 to 1 victory over Gamma. Olson fanned fourteen as he continued to lead the league in strikeouts. He has struck out 32 in two games.

Rallies by the coop in the third and fourth innings put the game on ice for Olson. In the third three hits and an error resulted in three runs. Four runs scoring on a six-hit splurge in the fourth ended the coop scoring. Stan Weber, Dick Vannice, and Claire Lindquist banged out two hits apiece to lead the fourteen hit attack on Bob Wilson, Gamma pitcher.

Bill "the Goon" Borchers, making his initial start of the season, struck out twelve and allowed only three hits as the DUs nosed out Sigma, 1 to 0. The winning run scored in the first inning when Jim Doern walked, stole second, and tallied on Bob Wren's double. Borchers was wild at times and continued to get in the hole by walking the Sigma batters.

State Prep Track Meet Here Friday

Like flies to an open jam pot comes the cream of Oregon's prep trackmen to Eugene Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17, for the 15th annual state track and field championships.

Information that takes care of the preppers and their coaches from the time they arrive in Eugene Friday until they leave some time Saturday or Sunday, has been mailed to all coaches.

All eight districts are to have a trainer and manager to represent them in the meet. Judges of place and marshals have also been chosen. These men are all Oregon athletes.

Dinner Planned

All of the coaches will be the guests of the athletic department of the University at the Anchorage Friday evening. At this dinner the drawings for the final events on Saturday will be announced.

Weather conditions proving favorable, this should be one of the fastest meets in state prep history. Several title-holders are returning that have turned in close to record times in their district meets. Chief among these are Wally Still of Milton-Freewater who runs the hundred in around 9.9. Ray Johnson, Medford, who does the quarter mile in :49.5, is expected to improve on his record time this year.

Other stars are Stu Schweitzer, Astoria, low hurdles and Ted Hoover, Toledo.

A brief opening day ceremony will be held at 1 o'clock Friday at Hayward field, in which all entrants will participate.

Dean Eric W. Allen Entertains Class

Dean Eric W. Allen entertained members of the senior editing class at his home Wednesday night, in spite of the absence of fall. He was injured during the wrestling season. Henry and Howard Steers are both young—they're about a year away.

Thus we see there are 21 lettermen out for positions on the team. The ends are weak in reserve strength; no experienced men are out for fullback; and right halfback and quarterback to some extent are lacking in strong reserve material.

Oregon's 1941 football lineup? Right here. After a confab with the Oregon coaching staff, the following list of men are rated according to their ability. Naturally, these men may not enjoy the same status next October after three weeks of fall practice, but these players are listed as of the final day of spring practice. It may be different after Uncle Sam has a crack at them.

Center—Elliott Wilson stands out. Wilson has no superior in the Pacific coast conference as a line backer. Hersch Patton and George Van Pelt are of conference caliber and will see action.

Quarter Back—Roy Ell and Duke Iverson. Both are fine blockers and excellent line backers. Ell is a little more consistent and a little more accurate in blocking and tackling, perhaps. Iverson has an evident advantage in some situations because of his power, weight, and height. Either of these with Wilson backing up the line will give Oregon a pair of line-backers, the peers or better than those of any other conference school. Vic Collins, after a one-year lapse, has made a good showing that has been handicapped by a shoulder injury. Buzz Baker has looked good at both quarter back and right half.

Four Fullbacks

Fullback—Jim Newquist. Newquist has a slight edge with Bill Dunlap not far behind. Newquist is quick, Dunlap is heavier. Illness prevented Tom Oxman from taking part in the last two weeks of spring practice. Until that time there was little to choose among the three candidates. Bob Taylor is another serviceable fullback.

Left Halfback—Frank Boyd and Tom Roblin. Roblin appears as the best runner and blocker. Boyd's all-around ability—passing, punting, running—places him at the top. Both men are experienced. Jake Leicht, considering the short time that he was out, will make a strong bid for No. 1 spot next fall. He was used sparingly by the coaches, and then he switched to track. Larry Olson, because of his punting and passing, would have seen action had Edwin M. Atherton not ruled him ineligible.

Clyde Lee must be considered. He is a deadly safety tackler and shows ability and courage. It is nearly impossible to get behind him—all the players entertain that ambition. It is too bad that Inky Boe wasn't eligible, for he would have been a candidate, but again it's the Atherton edict that ruled him out.

Leading Ground Gainer

Right Halfback—Curt Mechem. Mechem is far ahead of the other candidates. He was the coast's leading ground-gainer last year. Ken Oliphant made a good showing at this post after shifting to it late in spring practice, then he went out for track. Roblin will be used here some. Larry Casper, another ineligible, looked better than was expected.

Right End—Bill Regner. Regner has improved in spring practice although he is a senior. Possibilities of all-coast loom depending upon Regner's own initiative to work. Tony Crish and Jim Shephard are very close. Bert Gianelli, another Atherton ineligible, was on a par with Crish and Shephard.

Left End—Hymie Harris. Lou Butkovich is not far behind Hymie. Dick Stanton made much improvement over his previous performances. Bill Borchers, for his short time out after basketball, made an excellent showing. Manny Vezie, new end coach, is responsible for much of the improvement shown by these ends.

One of the Best Tackles

Right Tackle—Dick Ashcom. Ashcom was one of the best tackles in the league last season. If anything, he is better now. Merritt Kufferman is good defensively but needs work on his blocking. Cliff Giffin is overweight and must reduce. Pat Wynne has an edge over Giffin despite not having played any ball in high school.

Left Tackle—Ed Moshofsky. He's out in front, although Chuck Elliott is next and pressing Moshofsky. Tom Terry, after his illness, made an excellent showing in his week of play. Ray Marlowe is green, he needs experience.

Experienced Guards

Right Guard—Val Culwell. Steve Bodner is next following and then comes Bob Davis. These are all lettermen. There isn't much to choose between them. Len Surles has showed more improvement during spring practice than any other man on the field and will see action as will tough, little Don Vernier.

Left Guard—Ray Segale. He is the one senior guard and shows the value of the experience in his finished playing. Stony Jackson and possibly Surles will play here. Floyd Rhea can't be overlooked, for he started the Oregon State game last Johnny Browning, Sigma hurler, pitched airtight ball after the first inning but his teammates couldn't hit Borchers in the pinches.

Sigma Chi outscored the Phi Psis in a wild, loosely played game, 7 to 4. Frank Lockwood and Bill Boyd held the Phi Psis in check except for the first and fourth innings.

Ed Schick pitched the Phi Sigs to a 4 to 2 win over Sigma. The Phi Sigs tallied three times in the second and held the lead throughout the game.

Zeta won from Kirkwood coop by default.
