

Moms Pick Three Girls For Awards

Scholarships Go To Future Writer, Social Scientists

Alyce Pepion, Audrey Holliday, and Patricia Young were appointed Oregon Mothers scholars at the annual meeting of the Oregon Mothers held in Eugene Saturday, May 10. Miss Pepion's award was $200 and the other two awards were $150. All three women were applicants from high school graduating classes of this spring.

Miss Pepion will graduate from Bandon high school and plans to prepare to teach physical education and social sciences. Graduating from Gresham high school, Miss Holliday plans to study social sciences and business administration. Miss Young is graduating from Wheeler high school and plans to major in journalism.

The Oregon Mothers' scholarships are awarded each year on the basis of outstanding promise as a University student, together with need for scholarship assistance in order to attend the University. The Oregon Mothers is a state-wide organization of mothers of University of Oregon students.

About 50 applications were received this year, the majority of them in the top tenth of freshmen entering the University. The committee making the selections were Mrs. Herbert M. Clark, president of the Oregon Mothers; Dr. Rudolf H. Ernst, Dr. Astrid Williams, and Dean Karl W. Onthank of the University.

UO Co-op Refunds Five Per Cent Cash

Oregon's Co-op store will pay a 5 per cent cash rebate on all purchases made during the past school year, it was decided Wednesday at a directors' meeting.

Students are asked to bring their cash register receipts to the store on or before May 20. No payments will be made for receipts brought in after that date.

Student Softies Set New High For Infirmary

Patient number 1143 was admitted to the University infirmary today, as compared to 947 at this same time last year. According to Nurse Helen Pruyn, supervisor nurse, over 200 patients were in the hospital in the 28 days of February, setting a new high for students treated in this length of time.

UO Cadet Corps To Parade Today

The Eugene American Legion post will be honored guests of the University military department today as some 900 cadets drill and parade under command of student officers, according to Col. R. M. Lyon, head of the department.

The Oregon unit, praised by reviewing officers from the regular army for its excellent performances in the past, will pass in review shortly after 2 o'clock. The military staff extends an invitation to the public to view the parade.

Colonel Lyon stated that the regiment is at the peak of their training and a fine showing can well be expected today as the troops march behind the University band in colorful review.

There remain only three more Thursday drill periods including the final parade May 29. At this time the military program will be drawn to a close with the presentation of awards by Chancellor Hunter. The ROTC staff announced that all the remaining parades will be open to the public.

Four Papers Left

Four more editions of the Emerald will be issued this term. Final paper of the school year comes out one week from tomorrow.

Student-Faculty Trout Contest Closes Monday

Coachman, Blue Upright Flies Best For Local Rivers

Casting into its last week is the Emerald-Hendershott fish contest, open to student and faculty members and offering an opportunity to win a $5 fly rod.

Rains of the last few days have raised the water level on the Willamette and McKenzie rivers somewhat and recent improving weather promises ideal conditions for campus piscators during the weekend.

Recommended flies for the Cascade streams are the Blue Upright and the Royal Coachman. Fly hatches have been expected this week and, if the flies come out in any great number, the fish will probably strike at anything offered.

During hatches of dun-colored flies, fishermen have noticed that fish will sometimes strike at a bright fly like the Royal Coachman because of its contrast to the hatching flies. Another method is to use a fly like the Whirling Dun, which resembles the hatching flies.

All that is necessary to enter the campus contest is to weigh in the fish at Hendershott's. Closing date is Monday, May 19, which leaves only one more weekend for Oregon's Izaak Waltons to try and capture the elusive rainbow.

PE Majors Hold Annual Picnic; Battle With Ants

Combatting the ants Wednesday were campus PE majors and dates at a picnic at Swimmers' Delight. As means of direction to the spot, confusing and misleading signs and clues guided the athletic fiends.

Swimming, dancing, and a frosh-sophomore baseball game were the entertainment. At the end of the guide signs was found a treasure trove of cokes.

Campus Calendar

YMCA executive cabinet meets at 9 p.m. at the "Y."

All members of Phi Theta Upsilon and Kwama are asked to be in uniform at this morning's installation assembly.

Orides members must sign up for picnic by Thursday with Mrs. Siefert in Gerlinger hall.

SDX Chooses Pair

The two will become professional members of the organization, which has chapters in all leading colleges and universities where journalism is taught, and in alumni groups in cities in all sections of the country. The society plans to initiate the members at a session in Portland, at which the undergraduates will join with the alumni for the event.

Draftees' Fees

(Continued from page one) military credits allowed at the University shall not exceed 24 hours for commissioned officers or six term hours for non-commissioned officers and men. From the total hours shall be deducted credit earned in ROTC before entering the service; and any further ROTC work taken after re-entering college shall not carry credit toward graduation beyond the limits set above.

Special Petitions

The third main question concerns special work done in limited branches of the service.

Students may petition through the dean of their academic major to take faculty examinations for credit in specific courses listed in the institutional catalog.

The state selective service board has requested the registrar's office to send information concerning any disputed selectee student's record. If the board finds that the situation warrants consideration, it will recommend that the student be deferred temporarily in order to complete scholastic work. The government feels that it will benefit by allowing completion of scholastic training of its future "warriors" so long as it does not seriously interfere with inductment schedules.

Students Will Give Practice Libel Case

Wendell Wyatt has ordered his attorneys to bring suit against Don Richardson, on charges of libel, in the third law school moot trial to be held at 7:30 this evening in the Lane county court house.

Wyatt has decided that certain words inscribed on a window in Fenton hall refer to him, and that by reason of the publication his character and reputation have been damaged.

He has retained George Recken and William Robert to represent him. Richardson's case will be defended by Morris Carter and Elmo Vickers.

Since the damaging inscription impeaches Wyatt's reputation as a student, Vickers is petitioning the court to seize the plaintiff's class notes and briefs as evidence.

Serving as clerk will be Jack Hay. All students who wish to serve as jurors are requested to hand Hay their names before the trial. Jack Dunn will be notary-bailiff and Dick Bryson will act as sheriff-reporter. Orlando Hollis, law professor, will serve as judge.

Yearbooks Await Many Who Signed Without Paying Up

Anyone who has ever signed a card pertaining to the last Oregoniana probably has one waiting at the activities office now, according to Dick Williams, business manager.

Williams estimated that approximately 50 of the unclaimed yearbooks at the office were ordered through a down payment by people who do not realize the balance of the price has been deducted from their general deposit. He urged all students to check with the office.

There is still a need for canoe fete programs at the Oregoniana business office, Williams stated. All students who do not want their program or have an extra one are urged to bring it to the office where it will be used for reference work.
