

Speech Group To Meet Here This Saturday

Dahlberg to Make Plans for Session Saturday, May 17

By VEVA PETERSON

The eleventh annual state speech conference of the Oregon Speech association, which will be held Saturday, May 17, at the Osburn hotel, will draw elementary, high school, and college teachers from all over the state. W. A. Dahlberg, head of the speech division, is in charge of local arrangements.

Miss Grace Bridges, president of the association, will preside at the opening general session. Welcome to the delegates will be given by Dr. J. F. Cramer, superintendent of Eugene public schools, followed by a talk on choral reading by Elizabeth May Jenks, University of Washington. Watt. A. Long, principal of Shattuck school, Portland, will discuss "The Function of Creative Drama in Units of Work."

Three Sections

Sectional meetings will be divided into three sections, speech correction, conducted by Dr. Earl W. Wells, Oregon State college; panel discussion, with Dr. Herbert E. Rahe, Willamette university, presiding; and demonstration by Mr. Thomas H. Gentle, Monmouth, Oregon, presided over by Virgil Reese, Philomath public schools.

In the afternoon a panel discussion will be held with Mr. D. Palmer Young, Oregon State college, presiding. Topic of the discussion will be "How can speech-training be best fitted into a modern educational program? Why is speech a marginal subject in most school systems?"

Speech Officers

Officers of the Oregon Speech association are Miss Grace Bridges, Portland public schools, president; D. Palmer Young, Oregon State College, vice-president; Harry L. Keats, Jr., Portland public schools, secretary-treasurer.

Donald Hargis, University of Oregon, is chairman of the luncheon arrangements.

OFFICIALLY OFFICIALS

Oregon's four top ASUO officers are now officially installed into their 1941-42 positions. They took over duties yesterday at the final student body assembly of the year when they were given the oath of office by Governor Charles A. Sprague.

Governor Confident Of College Benefits

By HERB PENNY

Expressing confidence Thursday in the college student's ability to meet present world conditions, Governor Charles A. Sprague said emphatically, "I believe that every young man should continue his college education."

"Young men should prepare themselves to meet any situation that arises, and they can do this best by education," he smiled.

Woman's Place

In regard to the women's place in the national defense program, the governor declared that, although there would be no place for women in the more arduous duties, women would probably play a prominent part in the manufacturing end of defense preparations.

"In olden days," said the governor, "when the man of the family had to leave the field to go and fight, the woman took the plow and did the work formerly done by the man. It is just the same today."

Education Necessary

"Young men should not leave college because of the present program," he emphasized. "We shall need trained men and we can get them from the colleges. It is wrong to think that college educations will be unnecessary in the present situation," Oregon's chief executive declared.

Governor Sprague revealed his opinions concerning national defense and the college student directly following his address to the University student body at the installation of ASUO officers Thursday. His smiling face grew earnest as he stressed the importance of college students to the nation at the present time.

Moot Trial Acquits Defendant of Libel

In a mock expose of the law school student-faculty honor system, Don Richardson, defendant, was acquitted of libeling Wendell Wyatt in last night's moot trial at the Lane county court house.

Morris Carter and Elmo Vickers successfully presented Richardson's case against the plaintiff's attorneys, Bob Recken and William Robert.

Damages of $200, general and punitive, were asked on the basis of malice. Witnesses for the plaintiff were Law School Instructor Charles G. Howard, Wendell Wyatt, Brock Miller, and Dave Rementeria.

Defense witnesses were Floyd Hamilton, Hugh Collins, and Don Richardson.

Norris Gets Plans Of Union Building

A large display of pictures of student union buildings from all over the country has been received by Dr. Will V. Norris, chairman of the student-faculty committee for student union planning.

The set of pictures is sent from school to school in an attempt to raise interest in student union buildings as well as show functions of those already built.

The location chosen for display will be announced soon, Dr. Norris said. There are from one to two hundred mounted pictures comprising the display.

Musicians Picnic

Students and faculty of the music school will meet Sunday afternoon from 1 to 6 for a picnic at Swimmers' Delight. An afternoon of swimming, boating, baseball, and dancing has been planned.

Chairman for the affair is Becky Anderson, with Dorothy Gelman, Geraldine Walker, and Margery Williams assisting.

of women's office announced. These regulations specifically state that no social activities are to be held in living organizations during the two weeks prior to final examinations.

'Easy Game' Makes Olson Join Bug-Gang

Campus Calendar

By BILL HILTON

"Five years of football unscathed, and in less than one minute of a pushball game I get a broken leg," commented George Olson, injured in the annual frosh-soph melee Junior Weekend.

Olson declared, "I don't know just how it happened yet."

"We started 100 yards apart, with the ball on the 50-yard line. I was the second man to reach the ball, but when I started to hit it with my shoulder, it just wasn't there."

Ball Too Light

"The ball was so light that the first man to reach it knocked it nearly out of the playing field. When both teams met, something had to give and it happened to be my leg."

Olson's mother who was visiting him at the time of the interview remarked, "Yes, and you would probably do it again," to which Olson smiled shyly.

"The only trouble with the game was," Olson remarked, "that the teams were started too far apart. It would be all right if players were started about 10 feet apart, but in 100 yards they get up too much speed and hit just a little too hard," he asserted.

Idea Explained

"The idea of the game," Olson explained, "is to keep the ball in the air and 'bat' it around with your hands, not to try to put it over the goal by main strength."

Olson remarked, "I think that if the students understood the game and how it is supposed to be played it would be all right."

Sharing thermometers with Olson today are: Elizabeth Walker, Leda Sheppard, Nancy Gardner, Frances Roth, Mary Failing, Lucille Johnson, James Kurtz, Ralph Harlow, Dan Mercer, Jules Napier, Gordon Jones, and Ed Blumenthal.

Open house will be held at Westminster house Friday evening. All students who are interested are asked to come Saturday to help work on the terrace for the outdoor fireplace. A potluck lunch will be served at noon. Students may come any time during the day to help on the subject.

Those going on the music school picnic Sunday should meet at the music building at 1 p.m. A charge of 50 cents will be made, and everyone who can furnish transportation is urged to bring a car.

From All Sides

"I'm all for Brooks and Braemar sweaters," declared an unidentified tutor who left the dining room early before an onslaught of knit-clad females, "because they're loose. But these girls who try to look like a picture out of Film Fun—they disturb the digestion."
