

Term Will Contain Several Vacations

With the beginning of classes Monday, September 29, the University of Oregon starts the 65th year of its history. Students will continue their academic studies uninterrupted until Saturday, October 11, when many of them will go to Portland to attend the Oregon-California game. This is also the last day for registration or addition of new courses.

Armistice day, which falls on Tuesday, November 11, will be the first real holiday, with no classes scheduled. This date has also been set aside for the Oregon-Santa Clara game in Portland.

Four days will be allowed for the Thanksgiving vacation, starting Thursday, November 20, and terminating Sunday, November 23.

Classes for the term end Friday, December 12, and final examinations will be held from Monday, December 15, through Friday, December 19. Christmas vacation will last until winter term registration, Monday, January 5.

Very Little Theater To Enact 'Skylark'

"Skylark," by Samson Raphaelson, will be presented at the Very Little Theater, in the Lane county fairgrounds on West 13th street about the middle of October, it was revealed Monday. Later in the year the VLT players will present "The Little Foxes," "Will Shakespeare," a comedy, and possibly an old-fashioned melodrama on the order of "The Drunkard," which has played to capacity houses for two seasons.
