Oregana Business Head Tells Yearbook's Value

College year-books not only endure in value; they actually increase in value as time goes on, Emerson Page, Oregana business manager, said recently in describing the 1942 annual.

The Oregana, which Page declares will be the "world's best," may be ordered at registration tables Friday and Saturday. Last year, he said, there were several persons who were not able to obtain a copy of the book, because they did not place their orders early enough in the year. He explained that the great cost of printing so many pictures and so much color work made it impossible to print extra copies, unless there was a certainty of selling them.

The price is $5. Persons buying athletic cards, however, will be allowed a $1 discount on the annual, he said.

Library to Conduct Two Tours Today

Tours will be conducted today at 10:30 and 3 to acquaint new students with the library before school starts, it was announced Wednesday by Miss Findly, University librarian. If there is sufficient demand, the tour will continue Friday, Saturday and throughout the following week.

Krenk Plans Audition Of Freshman Talent

Freshman talent for the University's weekly radio program will be auditioned this week by M. A. Krenk, instructor in speech at the broadcasting room in the extension building.

First year students who play an instrument, sing, or are interested in dramatic presentation are invited to see Mr. Krenk from 7 to 8 o'clock on Thursday and Friday evenings.

The first radio program will be presented October 2 over the local station from 7:30 to 8:30, according to Mr. Krenk.

Especially noticeable during rush week: "Some people are like dictionaries—full of words but can't say a thing."
