

GREETINGS, GATE, LET'S ARBITRATE

Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University of Oregon law school, received a new tribute to his capability as strike arbitrator early this month when he was appointed to hear a union case for 1,200,000 railroad employees. Dean Morse received special note earlier for his work on Coast Longshoremen strikes.

No Definite Day Set for Return Of Dean Morse

No date has been set for the return of Dean Wayne L. Morse, law school head, who is in Chicago as chairman of President Roosevelt's emergency fact-finding committee on railroads.

The committee is investigating the dispute covering 19 railway labor groups, and 1,250,000 employees. Formation of the committee halted a threatened strike, set for September 15.

Dean Morse was appointed September 19 and is due to present his report November 1.

Elwin E. Overton, visiting professor of law, will take the criminal law classes in Dean Morse's absence.

Dean Morse has been active in the past in arbitrating labor disputes on the Pacific coast water-

Emerald Business Staff To Meet Monday at 8

All persons interested in working on the Emerald business and advertising staff will meet Monday evening at 8 p. m. in Room 105, Journalism building, according to Fred O. May, business manager of the daily.

Positions will be open for advertising salesmen, office workers, layout workers, national advertising workers, promotion, and circulation workers, May said. There are no special requirements for staff positions.

Frank Short III

Frank Short, instructor of advertising in the school of journalism, will be unable to attend previously made appointments because of illness. However, he expects to meet his regular classes at the beginning of this term.

front. He has been noted for his fairness and popularity on all sides.

Special Libe Hours Prevail This Week

As a convenience to students who arrive early on the campus, the library is maintaining special hours all this week and next Monday. During this period the circulation department will be open from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. and the reference and periodicals department will be open from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 p. m. until 5 p. m.

Regular hours will be observed beginning Tuesday. Reference, periodicals, and reserve departments will be open from 7:45 a. m. until 10 p. m. Monday through Friday under this regular schedule. On Friday, however, the reserve book room will close at 5 p. m. On Saturday the circulation and reference departments will be open from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m., and the reserve section from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. Both departments will be open to students from 2 p. m. until 9 p. m. Sundays.

All students are requested to note these hours carefully as they will be rigidly enforced. Under no circumstances will exceptions be made, library officials state.

BA School to Offer New Credit Courses

The school of business administration is starting, for the first time, credit courses in typewriting and shorthand.

Formerly no credit was given with these two secretarial subjects. But now, because of the increased demand for it, credit will be given.

Only the very elementary course will be taught in both subjects.

Stores to Present Annual Fall Show

Fall will begin officially in Eugene when stores participating in the annual fall opening window display contest unveil their windows at 7:30 p. m. this evening. The windows will be judged by a panel of 35 townswomen. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners.

During the evening many Eugene stores will have open house. This will give customers an opportunity to find out about changes and improvements to stores. A band concert will be given by the Eugene high school.

The board of judges will include wives of University faculty members and six representatives each of the Elks' auxiliary, the Legion auxiliary, the Catholic Daughters, the Eastern Star, and ladies of the labor council.
