

New to Meet Old at Hello Dance

Annual Mixer Saturday Night Brings Holman

By RUBY JACKSON

Everyone likes to dance—especially when the dance is free. Therefore, a large number of students are expected to attend the Hello dance tomorrow night at McArthur court. Art Holman's orchestra will provide music, and new students will have a chance to meet the faculty members and student officers who will comprise the receiving line.

Since the dance, starting at 9 p. m., is to be strictly informal and is a no-date mixer affair, girls will wear suits or dressy wools, and heels if they wish. Boys are advised to wear sports coats or sweaters, with slacks.

Primarily this dance is for the freshmen and new students, but others are welcome to attend.

It is permissible for boys to ask girls to whom they have not been previously introduced to dance, and will give students a chance to meet each other informally, Don Swink, dance chairman, said.

Jim Carney will have the floor of the "Igloo" ready for dancing, Winnie Green is securing patrons and patronesses, and Kenny Bowes will handle distribution of tags.

Dr. Leslie Wyatt To Replace Porter

Dr. Leslie Wyatt, a graduate of the University of Kansas medical school, will take over the duties of assistant physician of the University infirmary during the 1941-42 school year. He replaces Dr. L. S. Porter who will accept a fellowship for advanced study and later will enter private practice.

Freshman Charter Seems Contradictory

By JIM WATSON

A "constitutional convention" for freshmen last night ended in an uproar that made last year's initial freshman upheaval look like a pink tea party.

The class-card question reared its ugly head again, and the constitution adopted last night provides what seems to be contradictory information regarding the necessity of cards for class membership.

Article No. 2 states: "All registered students in the class of 1945 who possess a membership card of the class of 1945 of the University of Oregon shall be members."

Section No. 1 of Article No. 4, however, says: "All regularly enrolled students in the class of 1945 of the University of Oregon shall be entitled to any and all privileges of the class, providing they meet the requirements of the University."

By-Laws Up

As explained to the freshmen last night by ASUO President Lou Torgeson the provision in Article No. 2 will be clarified at Thursday's meeting next week when by-laws will be considered. The cards may be free, if the by-laws are so worded, Torgeson said, pointing to the absence of any price stipulation in the article as it now stands.

Torgeson had barely started reading the proposed constitution, which was passed out to all freshmen, when he was interrupted by a motion from the balcony, by June Hitchcock, which stated: "In view of the fact that law students and the faculty are more aware of the import of this constitution than we are, I move it be accepted." The motion was promptly seconded.

Vote Changes

In the discussion that followed, it was proposed as an "amendment" to the primary motion, that the entire constitution be read before its adoption. The "amendment" was killed on the first vote, 192-191. The proponents of the "amendment" called for a recount, which resulted in 216-162 against the proposed "amend-

Looking South

Happily, Head Coach Tex Oliver boarded the south-bound train last night for Saturday's conference opener with Stanford. With him was a travelling squad of 32 players.

Hopes High Say Coaches

Cheering students, led by the rally committee, paraded through the campus last night, ending at the millrace bleachers with a rally for the Stanford-Oregon game Saturday in Palo Alto.

Proceedings were begun by Les Anderson, rally leader. Yell Leaders Earle Russel, Max Miller, and Bud Steele were introduced and led the group in an Oregon yell, following which Student Body President Lou Torgeson greeted the students and encouraged them to give the team their total support.

Backfield Coach Manny Vezie, a newcomer to the coaching staff, from Loyola university, was introduced by Torgeson. Coach Vezie asserted that the team's prospects against the Stanford Indians in Saturday's game looked very bright.

Following a yell for Coach Vezie, Russ Hudson introduced Head Coach Tex Oliver, who announced that he had a great deal of confidence in the team's prowess and that he was not a bit nervous concerning the game's outcome.

Bill Regner, right end, and Elliot Wilson, center, each gave short talks. A yell for the varsity was interrupted by the ap-

Throng Expected in McArthur Registration to Last Through Saturday

Long lines, trailing serpent-like over the floor of McArthur court, will begin to form this morning, as students swarm to register for the University of Oregon's 65th academic year.

C. L. Constance, assistant registrar, estimated Wednesday that there would be an enrollment drop of approximately 5 per cent. Drafting of many persons of college age and the abundance of defense jobs, both of which may be seen as indications of a decreasing enrollment, may be balanced against the large number of students who turned out for rush week this year. For the past few years the University has been gaining in enrollment.

Approximately 4000 students registered last year.

Registration will begin at 8 a. m. today and continue until 5 p. m. It will reopen Saturday and continue through the same hours.

Students planning to drive cars at school this year must register them at a special automobile table which will be located near the housing table. The automobile committee advises that all students memorize their license numbers before registration, so as to speed up the lines. They emphasized that no student would be allowed to register until his automobile had been checked in by the committee.

Tax to Increase Price of Tickets

By JEAN SPEAROW

The ASUO athletic card drive, which starts this morning with the opening of the doors at McArthur court, offered new incentive for speed to prospective ticket-purchasers when Ed Walker, ASUO ticket manager, yesterday revealed that the sales tax passed by congress in August will affect athletic cards to the extent of 10 per cent, beginning October 1.

Students who purchase cards before this date will be exempt from the tax, the cards being only $9 as previously announced. However, cards bought after October 1 will be subject to the 10 per cent tax, bringing the total cost to $9.90. Students who wish to take advantage of the partial payment plan, five dollars down and the rest winter term, will be saddled with 10 per cent extran on the part of the ticket which is payable after October 1, or $4.40.

Spirit High

With a goodly number of cards already bought and paid for by Palo Alto-bound fans, the card drive gets its official start this morning, with several houses already reporting their intention of going 100 per cent just as fast as their members can push their way through registration.

Total card value this year comes to more than $30. This includes admission to six football

APPOINTED LAST NIGHT

On the eve of today's opening Oregon drive, Eleanor Beck, right, and Ted Harmon were announced associate editors of the 1941-42 book by Wilbur Bishop, editor. The two will take over duties immediately.

Largest Yearbook in World Goes on Sale at Registration

Sale of the 1942 Oregon, proposed "world's largest college yearbook" will get into full swing this morning when hundreds of students, old and new, pass in long lines through the registration tables at the Igloo.

The first major step was taken in the organization of the 1942 Oregon when Ted Harmon and Eleanor Beck were appointed associate editors, according to Wilbur Bishop, editor. Two of the most experienced workers on the yearbook, Harmon and Miss Beck served last year as managing editor and executive secretary. They will help in supervising the staff, planning layouts, deciding style, and determining policy.

J. W. S. Manages

The other Oregon position is held by Wes Sullivan, who was appointed managing editor last year. Sullivan will be in charge of all photography arrangements and work connected with it.

New features in this year's annual include four four-page inserts with natural color pictures and two four-page inserts in duograph. Three new sections, Women, Men, and Campus Life, are planned. Except for the Lemon Punch section, the complete vol-

Exec Comm Expected To Act on Vacancies

Action will probably be taken on the filling of two vacancies in the ASUO executive committee tonight when the committee meets to consider appointment of successors or advisability of calling a special election.

The two vacancies were left when Chuck Woodruff, sophomore representative on the council, and Bob Calkins, first vice-president, did not return to school. Calkins is now in the army and Woodruff is working in Los Angeles and attending UCLA.

According to the ASUO constitution, the committee is authorized to appoint successors who may serve until the originally elected officers are again declared eligible for service, Lou Torgeson, ASUO president, said.

However, there is an argument, advanced by some members of the committee, that a special election may be called, if the committee deems it necessary. Other committee members argue that a special election cannot be called without a two-thirds vote of the student body, declaring for the election.
