

Jack Bryant Earns Air Corps Position

Jack Bryant, former student at the University of Oregon, was among 229 flyers who were recently commissioned as second lieutenants in the army air corps at Kelly Field, Texas. He will fly a Lockheed Peashooter, P39, P40.

Bryant, who is from Clatskanie, was a journalism student on the campus, and for some time wrote a popular gossip column in the Daily Emerald.

Bryant will be remembered by many for his famous column "Behind the Eight Ball," and for the time he gained national fame when members of a campus group shaved his head in retaliation for some published remarks which they resented.

For some time Bryant was forced to wear a long knit wool wig about the campus, and as a result his picture appeared in "Life" magazine.

Kitchen to Organize Campus Time Agency

Time, Inc., announced yesterday the formation of a campus agency with Jeff Kitchen as manager and Jim Banks as assistant in charge of sales.

Hunter Van Sicklen, Emerald dramatic columnist last year, now serving as northwest circulation representative for Time, is at Oregon laying groundwork for the agency and launching the initial drive.

"Time is generally recognized as a distinct asset in many courses stressing current affairs," Van Sicklen stated. "Some professors regard it as a text, valuable because it is an authoritative, concise assimilation of vital trends."

Kitchen and Banks plan to appoint student salesmen on a commission basis in co-operation with Janet Smith of the student employment bureau.

The agency is authorized to handle Life and Architectural Forum on special student and professor rates in addition to Time, a weekly news periodical.

Editor Explains Bishop emphasized, however, that the "fact that the 1942 Oregoniana may be the world's largest college yearbook is not the all-important feature. The fact that the Oregoniana has been rated one of the top five or six yearbooks in the nation in the past six years, and received Pacemaker and All-American honor ratings in four of those years, is the real source of the Oregoniana's fame," he said.

Although costs of production are up, the yearbook will still sell for $5, with a $1 reduction allowed holders of athletic cards. A Painless Payment Plan has been evolved by the Oregoniana business office, which will allow students to place their orders now, paying one dollar at the beginning of each term, with the balance to be taken from their breakage fee, Page said.

At Second Glance

(Please turn to page two) performance by the kitchen aquacade, the dishes are stacked and dried."

Of working in a fraternity house, the unknown houseboy says this:

"We lost the silverware, but probably it was sold to the Japs for scrapiron. Anyway, the fellows all chipped in and bought a buzzsaw with which to cut our steaks. The president gets to run the saw and all the fellows hand their steaks up to him. Most of the time to expedite matters, the cook makes Mulligan stew. Or, tiring of Mulligan stew, we have stew without Mulligan."

"Of course, we do wash dishes in fraternities, too, though the house dog comes in mighty handy at times. We dump the forks, spoons and buzzsaw into the rinse water and then on to a dry dishtowel, which formerly was, I think, the sheet in the guest room. Then we juggle it around until it is reasonably dry. I know that around Christmas time the whole house gathers around and we sing 'Jingle Bells'."
