

Old Flickers To Run Soon

A new series of movies illustrating the progress of the motion picture industry will be presented in Chapman hall auditorium beginning Wednesday, October 8, and continuing every Wednesday through November 12.

This year's series will be entitled "Some Memorable American Films" and will consist of six stages in the development of films covering the period from 1896 to 1935.

Jeff Kitchen, assistant educational activities manager who is in charge of the series this year, announces that there will be four consecutive showings of the films every Wednesday, beginning at 2:10 p.m. in an effort to take care of the students that flock to the showings.

Students will be admitted upon presentation of their educational activities card. The University of Oregon Film society will sell memberships into their club to faculty members, which will entitle them to attend all six showings. Memberships are $1.50 plus a 15-cent tax.

Last year's movies were so well attended that hundreds of students were turned away at the door, and even with repeat performances, there were students who were disappointed.

"Some Memorable American Films" will include such productions as "Cavalcade" by Frank Lloyd, Josef von Sternberg's "Underworld," "Enoch Arden" with Wallace Reid and Lillian Gish, "Monsieur Beaucaire" with Rudolph Valentino, "The Freshman" with Harold Lloyd, "The Sex Life of a Polyp" with Robert Benchley, and "Robin Hood" with Douglas Fairbanks.

Faculty members may obtain tickets at the educational activities office. The complete program will be published before the series start.

Exec Comm Petitions Deadlined for Friday

The vacancy on the rally squad, left by Ray Dickson's failure to return to school, will be filled next week by a majority vote of the executive council and Les Anderson, rally squad chairman.

Petitions for the position, which is for a senior man, must be turned in to Lou Torgeson or Bette Morfitt before 5 Friday afternoon.

Library to Have New Magazines

According to Willis Warren, periodical librarian, several of the foreign publications which have suspended distribution to the United States during the present war are again mailing copies to the University library.

Magazines are now being received from Guatemala, Peru, Sweden, and Switzerland. Other magazines are still being received regularly from Mexico, England, and several pan-American publications written in Spanish.

Several of the new magazines which started this year and will continue during the remainder of the year are: "Hispanic American Record," which will be of special interest to the Spanish students as it is about the relations between North America and South American Current History, which promises to be of extra interest as it now is a combination of four leading magazines, Forum, Century, Events, and the old magazine, Current History.

Several of the other new magazines to be found at the library in the future will be: Bulletin World Assignments for Adult Economic Studies, England; Mexico, written both in Spanish and English, Mexico Tourist Association; British Journal of Educational Psychology, England; Geological Magazine, England; University of Chicago Round Table, and 14 transactions of the American Philosophical society, held at Philadelphia.

Girls Allowed 11 o'Clock Stay

Eleven o'clock late permission has been granted to all women students by Mrs. Hazel P. Schwerling, dean of women, for this evening so that they may participate in the annual all-campus church night.

All Eugene churches are holding open house and are featuring refreshments and entertainment in order to acquaint the students with their programs.

Westminster house will be open from 8 to 11 and has planned an evening of informal games, dancing, music, and refreshments. A circus and jitney dance will be featured at the St. Mary's Episcopal church on Thirteenth and Pearl from 8 to 11 in the parish house.

Wesley is holding a free chili supper at 6:30 at the First Methodist church on 1165 Willamette. A party will follow the feed at 8 p.m. Lutheran students have scheduled their get-together for the YWCA at 7:30.

A program of folk and square dancing and games under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ed True of the architecture school has been planned by the Congregational church. The fun will begin at 8 and refreshments will be served afterwards. Christian Science students will meet on the third floor of Gerlinger at 8:30.

The First Baptist church on Broadway and High will entertain in the church social hall Saturday night. The theme of the program will be a trip to Aloha land.

Professor John L. Casteel of the speech division gave an address for the Women's City club last Tuesday on the subject, "Poetry and the Present Crisis."

Dean Jewell, Shafer Appear at Conclave

Dean of Education J. R. Jewell and Mr. Hugh M. Shafer, also of the school of education, were speakers at the annual meeting of supervising teachers in Corvallis last week. Mr. Shafer spoke on the "Challenge of Teaching in a Democracy."

The meeting is called each year to discuss new developments in teaching and is under the direction of Dr. Frank Parr of Corvallis.

Exec Council Will Fill Rally Squad Opening

Petitions for positions on the ASUO executive committee must be turned in to ASUO President Lou Torgeson or ASUO Secretary Bette Morfitt before 5 p.m. Friday, Torgeson said Wednesday night.

At present there are openings for one senior and one sophomore for jobs vacated by Bob Calkins and Chuck Woodruff.

Persons applying for the jobs must be able to comply with the University and ASUO scholastic eligibility requirements.

Extension Catalogue Demand Increases

The general extension division is receiving a greatly increasing number of requests for correspondence catalogues, according to W. G. Beattie, assistant director. The number of requests is much higher than at this time a year ago, he said, and it is felt that the decrease in the enrollment of students on the campus may be affecting the number of those interested in the services offered by the extension division.

Hat Sale Today

A sale of rooters' lids will be held this afternoon from 3 to 5 by girls of the rally squad. Booths will be situated in front of the Co-op and the Side.

Caps will sell for 75 cents and all freshmen are required by tradition to wear a cap to games.

Library Tours Slated For Speech Students

All sections of the extemporaneous speech classes will tour the library next Friday and Monday. The purpose of the tour is to show students how to use the library, as much of their first term work will be research work in the library.

Each instructor will accompany his own group. There are 11 sections in extemporaneous speaking.
