

Star Turns to Starvation For Sake of Slim Figure

By JEAN SPEAROW

Thin soups and green vegetables, toast and tea . . . this is the prison fare to which Grace Moore dutifully devotes herself in order to maintain her slim one hundred and twenty-five pounds, occasionally a pound over, but never more.

When the scales are behaving as they should and the "pound to spare" is still to spare, she calls out gaily to the cook, "Nora, we will have the Bavarian cream for dessert tonight."

Then when the admonishing pointer begins to tremble upward she resigns herself once more to her diet, one Bavarian cream to the good.

Exercise Helps

Walking, swimmin, and horse-back riding are all a part of the eternal vigilance she exercises in order to insure her slender figure. The exercise helps to offset the time she spends in the kitchen. For Miss Moore is a homebody and loves to fuss around with pots and pans, and any cook who doesn't like it must find her domain elsewhere. It is only to be hoped that she doesn't leave the kitchen till the aforementioned pots and pans are cleared away.

Desserts Puzzling

Salads and desserts are, to Miss Moore, what solitaire and crossword puzzles are to another. Instead of puzzling out what combination of four letters spells the name of some secretary of state to a certain president, Miss Moore puzzles her pretty head as to what combination of four vegetables or fruits will make the most delectable salad.

Exchange tickets to Miss Moore's concert may be purchased from Ed Walker's office in McArthur court until Friday, October 10, the night of the performance.

Torchlight Display Set For Idaho Game

As a sidelight of the Oregon-Idaho game tonight the rally squad has drawn up plans to present a show of torchlight card tricks which will be performed with all lights in Hayward field extinguished.

Everyone is urged to bring as many matches as possible to the game for they will be used in the performance, said Les Anderson, in charge of the program.

The presentation will occur during half time and will be followed immediately by a contest to choose two majors and two majorettes for the band. Competition will be for twirling majors only.

Candidates for major are Dick Shelton, Bob Wiseman, and Elwood Rickman. Running for majorette honors are Doris Gardner, Helen Marie Skjersaa, Lorraine Mason, Mary Anderson, Jeanne Gill. Ballots for the election will be distributed by Skull and Dagger men as students enter the stadium and will be collected after half time.

Anyone sitting in the rooters' section must wear a rooter's lid, according to Anderson, and another sale of the caps will be held today.

UO Extension Classes to Open October Sixth

Eugene extension classes will open for the term Monday, October 6, the general extension division has announced. The classes will meet once a week for a two-hour period from 7:15 to 9:15 for eleven weeks, which completes the term. All students completing a term's work in a course will receive two term hours of credit, with the exception of those enrolled in non-credit courses.

The fees are, for credit courses, $5.00 per term per course; non-credit, one course $5.00, two courses $8.00, and three $12.00. Enrollment cards are handed out at the first meeting of each class which should be filled out and returned with the fee at the second meeting.

SDX to Entertain Foreign Newsmen

National Newspaper week, October 1 to 8, will be honored at the University when Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, entertains Jay Allen at a dinner following his talk at an assembly Friday morning. Mr. Allen is the well-known European reporter and author who recently made front page news when he was imprisoned in Nazi Germany.

Deadline for social calendar dates is Thursday, October 2, announced Assistant Dean of Women Alice B. Macduff yesterday. All social chairmen should see about dates for house dances as soon as possible. Dates are to be turned in to the dean of women's office.

More Card Sellers Qualify For Prize

Seven more living organizations yesterday reported 100 per cent ownership of athletic cards, thus making their card representatives eligible for the radio prize, to be awarded to one of the all-out salesmen.

The organizations and their representatives are: Delta Upsilon, Wilbur Linde; Pi Beta Phi, Nancy Riesch; Kirkwood Co-op, Len Farr; Alpha hall, Stan Hager; Theta Chi, Bill Bergtholdt; Alpha Chi, Kay Jenkins; Chi Psi, Al Silvernail.

House representatives may have until Wednesday to seal their houses 100 per cent thereby qualifying for the radio.

Tickets may still be purchased at Ed Walker's ticket office, at Johnson hall, and at the ticket booth at Hayward field.
