promised for this year's annual, which will be completely done in lithography.

"Since so many houses have gone 100 per cent in athletic cards," Bishop argued, "there is no reason why these same houses can't go 100 per cent on Oregana sales—and $1 credit is given to athletic card holders."

Bishop declared that this year's Oregana sales are approximately 14 per cent higher than at the same time last year. "The All-American reputation will be reason enough for persons purchasing an Oregana."

Drive chairmen are Charles Haener, Len Barde, and Paul Larson, the Oregana editor announced. Town students may place their orders at the Oregana offices in McArthur court or in Johnson hall.

Professor Sipe has invited those taking the trip to come to his laboratory Monday evening for further study. The trip is open to anyone interested in natural history. Those who attend are to park their cars on the north side of the butte and walk to the basalt columns on the west side.

Joe Gurley Now Edits Air Corps Magazine

Joe Gurley, June 1941, is now editor of Crosswinds, a magazine published by the air corps training detachment in Oxnard, California. The magazine, about 20 pages in length, is full sized and deals principally with air corps life.

While at Oregon, Gurley was active in campus affairs. Last year he was chairman of Homecoming.

'Union Now' Head To Answer Hitler

Clarence K. Streit, author of "Union Now" and "Union Now with Britain," will speak at an asseby in Gerlinger at 11 a.m. Monday, October 13. His subject will be "The Democracies' Answer to Hitler."

Mr. Streit, leader of the "Union Now" movement, was, until a few years ago, one of the half-dozen most experienced American newspaper correspondents in Europe, though he is now only 45 years old. Born in Missouri, he moved to Montana and worked his way through the University there by surveying the Rocky mountains, the Bad Lands, and Alaska.

Becomes Editor

He became editor of the student newspaper and gained considerable recognition for his editorial writing. The Rhodes scholarship committee sent him to Oxford in 1919 where he stayed until 1923, serving most of his time as European correspondent for the Philadelphia Ledger besides completing his education.

He was for a time connected with the intelligence department of the U. S. army and while in Europe covered the Turko-Greek war, the advent of fascism and other political developments for the Ledger. Later for the New York Times, he reporter the Riff war and was correspondent in Vienna, in New York, in the Carribean and, from 1929 until the launching of his new movement, in Geneva.

Oxford Man

Dr. Paul Means, new head of the University department of religion, was at Oxford university at approximately the same time as Mr. Streit and was acquainted with him there. According to this recently added member of the faculty Mr. Streit was very popular with the other American students during his American Oxford and made a brilliant scholastic record.

"He was always on the go," said Dr. Means, "and used to spend all of his vacations on the continent covering fast-breaking news stories for the Philadelphia Ledger."

Students who sit in the rooters' section must wear rooters' lids.

Students to Begin Music Program On KOAC Monday

The following programs on KOAC by student musicians have been announced for next week by George Hopkins, professor of piano.

On Monday evening at 8 p.m. Carol Reed, soprano, will give an all-American program consisting of: "My Lover Is a Fisherman," Strickland; "From the Land of the Sky Blue Waters," Cadman; "The Robin's Song," Howard White; "Ah, Love But a Day," Pretheroe; "A Birthday," Huntington.

A Chopin program will be given by Phyllis Gray, pianist, the same evening at 8:40. It will include the Etude in E major, Waltz in A flat, and Prelude in B-flat minor.

Tuesday evening at 8:15 Barbara Tripp, soprano, will sing: "Love You Are Mine," Klemm; "Beau Soir," Debussy; "None But the Lonely Heart," Tschai-kowsky; "Drink To Me Only Whit Thine Eyes," folk song; "Vissi D'Arte, Visse D'Amore," Puccini.

The last program of the week will offer Helen Horner, violinist, playing: "Czardas," Monte; "Moonlight Madonna," Fibisch; "Perfect Day," Bond.

Both Miss Read and Miss Horner will be accompanied by Ruth Baker.

Legal Query Slows Freshman By-Laws

The second by-law committee of the Class of 1945, which ASUO President Lou Torgeson was authorized Thursday night to appoint, will not be appointed until the ASUO judiciary committee gives the class "advice" on legality of nomination proceedings as carried out Thursday.

The committees have not been appointed, Torgeson explained Friday, because of the uncertainty of the legality of action taken. He said he felt it would be useless to appoint a committee and let it start work, only to find that all their work would have to be redone.

Two Request Chairmanship

Only two persons had submitted petitions to the ASUO executive committee for the Homecoming chairmanship at 5 p.m. yesterday. Ken Christianson and Harry Prongas were the only petitioners.

The executive committee will probably interview these candidates early next week. It will also be necessary for the committee to interview candidates for vacancies on the committee and for one open spot on the rally committee. The Homecoming chairman will probably be selected first, however, Torgeson said, because of the necessity that the Homecoming chairman begin work immediately.

The alumni fete is scheduled this year for November 28, 29, and 30.

Candidate Christianson has been active in student affairs, principally on the Emerald and Oregana. On each publication he served as sports editor.

Prongas was chairman of the athletic card drive this year, and has taken part in other student activities.
