Six Appointed To Draft Laws For Freshmen

Three Greeks and three independents were appointed last night by ASUO President Lou Torgeson as a by-law committee to draw up a set of by-laws to submit to a meeting of the entire freshman class Tuesday night.

Committee members are:

Burdine Day, Bob Erlandson, Stan Hagar, Phyllis Horstman, June Hitchcock, and Hal Locke.

Class to Hear Laws

By-laws drawn up by this group will be submitted to the class meeting Tuesday with the committee's recommendation, but they will be in no way binding on the classmen when they vote on by-laws.

Similar Committee Made Earlier

A similar committee was appointed early in the year by Torgeson, and they drew up a set of proposed by-laws which the assembled class at a meeting October 2 refused to accept. At the meeting the class members adopted a few by-laws one-by-one as they were suggested from the floor, and empowered Torgeson to appoint a second committee to draw up further suggestions.

This committee was never appointed, however, because the by-laws adopted by the class and the committee appointment were not approved by the ASUO executive committee which has the power to approve or reject by-laws made by a class group.

Story Misunderstood

Because of a misunderstanding of a story appearing in Tuesday's Emerald numerous freshmen appeared at the music auditorium last night for freshman meeting, which was scheduled for the evening of Tuesday, October 21.

Elections will follow by approximately a week, and will probably be held October 28.

Checking Suggested For Social Calendar

The personnel office invites students and faculty members in charge of dances or events of any kind, to make use of the scheduling service offered by them.

If unscheduled affairs are checked in with this office there will be better chance of avoiding the overlapping of dates and too many things happening on the same nights. For any further information call the personnel office, 245 on the University exchange.

Sorority Alumnae Observe Founding

Alumnae from all over the state will be present tonight when members of the local chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha gather at a formal banquet to celebrate the forty-third anniversary of the founding of the national organization. Mrs. O. B. Schuking will be guest speaker.

NEW HERE

Elvin E. Overton comes to the University this year as visiting professor of law. He temporarily replaces Professor Carlton E. Spencer, who is on a leave of absence while serving as major in the United States army.

Webfoot Rally Slated Friday

All legal red tape as finally untangled last night and the ASUO rally squad was able to drop the shroud of mystery concerning all-University events scheduled for the Portland weekend.

The student affairs committee, late Tuesday afternoon, put their stamp of approval on a downtown Portland parade Friday evening.

Campus Heads Comment On Homecoming Plans

Acquiescence was expressed by campus executives Tuesday when informed of the action of the heads of campus living organizations in cancelling plans for the noise parade as a feature of Homecoming. Opinions expressed by various authorities were as follows:

President Donald M. Erb: "There will be no opposition given by me to the students' actions."

Homecoming Chairman Russ Hudson: "The Homecoming committee is happy to find out how the students feel about it. We will work on plans to find something to substitute for it."

Alumni Secretary Elmer Fansett: "The decision on this is entirely up to the students. This office merely attempts to cooperate with them in any way that is acceptable to them."

Dick Williams, educational activities manager: "We will not oppose the student's wish in any way. The matter is entirely up to them."

Judiciary Committee Okays Class Officers

Officers of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes are holding their offices legally, the ASUO judiciary committee ruled Tuesday, after the ASUO executive committee had asked them for an "advisory opinion" on this point.

There had been no formal protest made to the committee questioning the right of persons now in office to stay in office, but the executive group had asked for the advisory opinion to forestall possible misunderstandings and attempts to impede class activities because of legal technicalities.

Basis of Doubt Given

Basis of doubt, as expressed in the executive committee query, was the fact that only one candidate for each office was nominated prior to elections in May, and that in some cases the formality of class elections was dispensed with.

The judiciary committee held that this was legal, since written candidates are not honored anyway by constitutions and by

Librarian Will Return To Duties Next Week

Alternate Plan Includes Rally, Sign Contest

By HERB PENNY

The annual noise parade, traditional Homecoming feature, will not be held this year, heads of all living organizations decided at a meeting Tuesday. This decision is final, it was learned, after President Donald M. Erb, Alumni Secretary Elmer Fansett, and Dick Williams, educational activities manager, gave no opposition to the decision.

The meeting recommended the substitution of some other form of celebration, such as a bonfire. Jack Lansing, president of Kappa Sigma, presented a plan for a rally and bonfire to be held instead of the noise parade.

The substitute plan, as outlined by Lansing, would include a parade and rally with a ceremony at the Dads' gates. He also presented a plan for a small bonfire. No opposition was given to the plan.

The meeting was held after a decision by the Interfraternity council to abide by the decision of the heads of houses on the noise parade question. The council had previously asked the educational activities board to pay $25 to each house for expenses incurred in the noise parade.

No objections were given at the meeting to continuing the sign contest tradition. Abolition of the noise parade would give more time to devote to making the signs, it was contended.

Lou Torgeson, ASUO president, announced at the meeting that the educational activities department has declared that materials that are provided by individual houses to be used by the group as a whole will be provided for in the Homecoming budget and will not be paid for by the individual houses. In previous years difficulty of this sort has been encountered by houses which provided torches for the noise parade.

Movies Show USC Battle

Oregon's three touchdowns against USC, the first victory over the southern school in 26 years, will be replayed on the screen Thursday evening in Chapman hall.

"Tex" Oliver, will narrate the success of his Webfoots as the plays are shown through the camera's eyes.

The movies, sponsored by the rally squad, are free to the student body on presentation of their athletic card, according to Don Walker.

Saws, Scrap-Iron, Etc.

My reason for saying no noise parade would not be the expense. But think of the use that those metals would be in national defense.
