Senior President Held Ineligible

Spring Grades Place Officers On Probation

Senior Class President Bob Cherney and Treasurer Mack Hand have been declared ineligible to hold office because of spring term grades, Virgil D. Earl, dean of men, revealed Monday night.

According to Rule 3 under scholarship regulations, the constitution reads: "Scholarship probation automatically removes a student from any such office (ASUO), and prevents him from participating in any such activities while he is on probation."

Cherney applied to the committee of scholastic standing, but was not removed from probation. Hand did not take any action in connection with his case.

Their probation and ineligibility simultaneously began at the end of the spring term and the offices have been technically vacant since that time.

According to Cherney his position will be filled automatically by the class vice-president, Pat Lawson. The executive committee of the class, composed of the new president and remaining class officers, will meet to appoint a new treasurer, according to authorization given them by their constitution.

Dr. Erb Gets Defense Job

Fiorello LaGuardia, United States director of civilian defense, has announced the appointment of Dr. Donald M. Erb to the commission on colleges and civilian defense. Dr. Erb plans to go east in November and will attend a conference of committee members in Washington, D. C., at which recommendations for the civilian protection of universities will be submitted to the director's office.

Track Removal Begins Oregon Beautification

By FRITZ TIMMEN

Because of the signing Friday of a contract approving the moving of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks across the millrace and authorizing engineers to prepare specifications for early start of actual work, students may soon see the face of the campus front yard in a state of change.

Final plans will probably be placed in the hands of the Oregon state highway commission at their November meeting, with work to start soon afterward.

The moving of the tracks will place the railroad right-of-way between the present millrace and the Willamette river, the change to reach from Eighth avenue to Judkin's point.

South and east bound willamette and Pacific highway traffic will be routed over a new viaduct to be constructed in conjunction with the Judkin's Point change.

Condemnation proceedings have been ordered on all property involved in the right-of-way change.

Millrace Moved

All areas not used for highway and railroad rights-of-way to be landscaped and parked and given over to use by University students.

The millrace channel is to be moved about 50 yards further north, widened, and straightened to provide better facilities for future canoe fetes. At a point east of the Anchorage, bleachers to accommodate about 5000 and auxiliary wings for an additional 1000 are planned. Sufficient space is to be allocated for construction and dismantling of floats.

Committees Meet

There will be a meeting of all Homecoming committee heads today at 4 p.m. at the University news bureau.

Annual Press Meeting Slated

The first session of the 17th annual high school press conference will be held Friday morning, October 24, at 9:30 in room 12 of Friendly hall. The presiding officer of the conference, Thorn Kinersly, will introduce Dr. Donald M. Erb, president of the University, at that time for a welcoming address.

The entire program of the conference will be divided up into separate sections, each one taking up one phase of the newspaper business. Friday afternoon a business manager's round table, a section for editors and managers of annuals, and the mimeographed paper section are scheduled. Saturday morning the news and editorial session will be held.

Officers Named

Election results of the new officers for the following year will be announced and officers introduced at the annual press conference banquet at the Osburn hotel Friday evening. At the conclusion of the dinner the conference will adjourn to Hayward field to witness the football clash between the Washington Babes and the Oregon Frosh.

Awards for the winning high school papers will be announced at the final general session Saturday morning by Robert C. Hall.

Slogan Contest Begins Today

Emblazoned before the eyes of alums the weeks before Homecoming will be the prizewinning slogan depicting the spirit of the annual alumni fete. The contest will get under way today with the installation of boxes in the Side and Co-op for depositing slogan entries, Ray Packouz, slogan chairman, announced Monday.

There will be a $5 prize for the writer of the winning entry. Deadline for entering slogans is noon Thursday, October 23. The entries will be picked up each day, said Packouz, and, in case of duplicate entries, the one first submitted will get the award.

Frosh By-Laws To Draw Vote Of Class of '45

The 50-cent class card, that much-mauled and loudly debated issue, is due to be re-shredded tonight when the freshman class meets in the music auditorium at 7:30 to adopt by-laws to their constitution and to nominate officers for class positions.

Elections will follow one week from today, October 28. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the YMCA hut.

Scholastic eligibility and declaration of intention to run must be filed by any person wishing to run for a class office, before he may be nominated, according to Jim Frost, ASUO first vice-president.

Scholastic Rating

A written statement of the candidate's scholastic eligibility must be obtained from the dean of men or the dean of women. The declaration of intention to run is merely a personal statement from the candidate saying that he plans to run for a certain office at tonight's meeting.

These two documents should be submitted together to Mary Graham, educational activities secretary, in her office in McArthur court before 5 p.m. today. Persons failing to turn them in to Miss Graham should submit them to presiding officers at the assembly tonight before 7:30 p.m., Frost said.

By-Laws Printed

Members of the freshman by-laws committee met last night and recommended a series of by-laws to be attached to the class constitution, which the classmen adopted September 25. The by-laws, as approved by the committee, appear on page 8 of today's Emerald.
