

Homecoming Promises Rally, Dance for Grads

Full of new ideas to make this Homecoming "the biggest yet" is Russ Hudson, Homecoming chairman.

Biggest and newest of plans is the idea calling for a rally program and informal dance, tentatively scheduled for McArthur court Friday, November 28.

"The rally program won't be like an amateur program,"

Hudson emphasized. "George Arbuckle and Earl Russell are in charge, and are working up a rally program with novel and entertaining numbers worked in."

Dance After Rally

The dance, Hudson said, will follow the rally program and last about an hour. Good music is promised for the strictly informal, no date mixer.

Another new feature of the Homecoming weekend will be the election of an official Oregon hostess. Tentative plans call for the selection of the hostess by the football team. The coed will be a senior. Janet Farnham is handling the selection of the hostess.

Very extensive decoration of Hayward field is being planned, Hudson revealed. Reid Ferrel, in charge of game events, is making arrangements for this.

Signs Better

"Homecoming signs this year will be the best yet," Hudson said. "Living organizations will have more time and money to put on the signs, because there is no noise parade this year."

A cup will go to the living organization boasting the largest number of registered alums. Hudson believes that because of the successful season the football team is enjoying more alums will come back this year than any year before.

"Alumni organizations in Oregon cities are cooperating wholeheartedly, and the Eugene Alumni association and the Eugene chamber of commerce will help find accommodations to take care of the overflow of alums," he said.

Helen Flynn Chosen

Helen Flynn has been appointed office manager to the business staff of the Emerald, it was announced yesterday by Fred O. May, business manager.

Miss Flynn will take the place of John Gallo who resigned to accept a position with a downtown firm.

High Schools Get Oregana

Oregon Dads' club at their Portland meeting Saturday, October 18, officially notified Emerson Page, Oregana business manager, that they will purchase 100 copies of the 1942 Oregana to be distributed in high schools throughout the state.

Last year, through the efforts of the University Alumni association, Oregon Dads' and Mothers' clubs, and the senior class, every high school in the state of Oregon received a copy of the All-American Oregana. This nationally famous yearbook was made available to approximately 65,000 high school students and readers in public libraries in towns with a combined population of 395,307.

"We have many letters from the librarians in these high schools and libraries telling us how popular the Oregana is," Page stated. "One high school in particular told us that they had to take the book out of circulation and put it on reserve because of the great demand."

Party Planned For Students

All students attending the Oregon-UCLA game in Los Angeles October 25 are invited to a cocktail party and buffet supper Friday evening, October 24, honoring Coach Tex Oliver and staff. The party will be in the Terrace room of the Hollywood-Roosevelt hotel, and will start at 6:30 p.m.

The admission price of 75 cents covers the cost of supper, and students and alums may make reservations by calling Ed Crowleys, secretary at the Hollywood-Roosevelt hotel, at HO 2442.

Allan Hancock foundation at University of California, housing work in zoology and botany, continues.

Janet Smith Back at Desk

Back at her desk after a delayed ten-day vacation is Miss Janet Smith, employment secretary. Miss Smith found time too cramped during the summer, so she put off her vacation until last week.

There are still a good many part time jobs waiting to be claimed, and a number of full time jobs open for graduates.

The decrease in enrollment and the fact that students made good money during the summer did not seem to curb the demand for work this fall, however, Miss Smith pointed out.

"Is this dance formal, or may I wear my own clothes?"

The OREGON Student's Soliloquy

In "How to Buy Furs Wisely"

- * I owe my liberal education to:
- 1. My old fur coat that has worn spectacularly well; that looks almost new, even now;
- 2. My furrier who showed me the reason why it keeps its color and lustre.

At the big game or the big dance later, wear Hollander Featherlite Persian Lamb.

"My furrier was replacing the old lining when he showed me the famous Hollander stamp on the back of each pelt. I learned then and there that this small, but important sign means furs keep their beauty longer. I know now why Hollander-marked furs are bought and worn magna cum laude!"

And when you buy new furs, your retailer will be glad to show you, on pelt or tag, this famous Hollander mark . . . for over 50 years this mark has meant long-lasting color and lustre. The price of furs depends on quality of skins and workmanship, but whether you pay much or little, the Hollander stamp tells you your furs will keep their beauty longer.
