Morningside college seniors Fred Davenport and Garry Wallman, who were tied in the all-campus election, are serving in a dual role as class president.

Dance to Have Holiday Theme

Plans are now being developed for Scabbard and Blade's military ball, which will take place February 21, Ed Wheeler, chairman of the dance, announced last night. Earl consideration of ideas for the ball is being made so that plans can be completed and organization outlined in order to make the dance run smoothly.

The military ball, which has just been made a major campus dance, will have a George Washington theme this year and hereafter, Wheeler said. The dance will always occur on or near Washington's birthday, he declared.

Mu Phi Epsilon Elects Officers

Mrs. Gladys Ingham has been elected president of Mu Phi Epsilon, upper division women's music honorary. She was elected to fill the post left vacant when Eleanor Collier, elected to the presidency last year, did not return to school this fall.

Mrs. Lavina Honey was elected vice-president to fill the position left vacant by Joanne Riesch, who will be inactive this year.

Other officers were: Jane Young, recording secretary; Rebecca Anderson, corresponding secretary and publicity chairman; Mrs. Donald Young, warden and historian; Mary Kay Crumbaker, treasurer; Pauline Pengra, chaplain; and Lolita Pierson, chorister and program chairman.
