

ASUO Judges Declare Class Cards Legal

Installation of Officers To Follow Class Election

By PHIL HUNT

Freshmen must have class cards to vote in today's election according to a decision rendered by the ASUO judiciary committee yesterday. The decision was made on a petition submitted by Win Kelker, candidate for vice-president, asking for clarification of Article IV, section 1 of the freshman class constitution.

Class officers will be installed following elections according to a second decision, notwithstanding Article III, Section 2 which reads "Officers of the class of 1945 of the University of Oregon shall assume their duties at the beginning of the school year following elections."

Made Monday

Orlando J. Hollis, chairman of the judiciary committee in the absence of Dean Wayne L. Morse, announced these decisions following the committee meeting Monday afternoon.

The Kelker petition contended that "under Article IV, Section 1 of this constitution membership in the class of 1945 as provided in Article II, is not a prerequisite to voting and other privileges of the class except office-holding which is dealt with in Article IV, Section 2."

Requirements

Article IV, Section 1 reads, "All regularly enrolled students in the Class of 1945 of the University of Oregon shall be entitled to any and all privileges of the class, providing they meet the requirements of the University."

While there was a certain inconsistency in the constitution under this article, it was evident that membership and voting were restricted to those holding class cards, which was dealt with in two other sections of the constitution, the committee ruled.

Installation

Concerning the installation of officers, Mr. Hollis announced that it was the decision of the committee to construe Article III, section 2 (quoted above) to mean that officers should assume their duties following election.

The misunderstanding was probably due to the fact that this article was copied from other class constitutions and allowances were not made for the fact that freshman officers are not elected spring term as is the case with other classes.

Art Club Meets

New officers will be elected by the Drafting Room club at their meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the exhibition room of the art building. All architectural design, landscape architecture, and interior design majors are automatically members of the club and are invited to attend the meeting.

A safety conference for farmers was recently conducted at the University of Minnesota.

Still Missing—

"Principles of Accounting" by Finney, Vol. I, red book with name Dick Johnson-KS inside flap.

Also green "Spanish Review Grammar" and "Popular Spanish Readings" with same name.

These books have been reported at Lost and Found, in all bookstores, and with the instructors. They are needed badly by the owner; and, if located, phone 2820.

Players Air Two Dramas

Two plays, "Imprimus" and "Alkahest" will be presented on the radio workshop hours Thursday evening, October 30, from 7:30 to 8:30 over KORE.

The first play, "Imprimus," was written by Mary Staton Krenk, and adapted for radio by Ted Harmon. It is a surrealist drama, dealing with the conflict of reason and emotion in a woman's mind.

In Verse Form

Mrs. Krenk will play Emoto, the leading character in the play. She has played in several University theater productions.

The play is in verse form, and is being presented over the air for the first time.

"Alkahest," written by Marvin Krenk, instructor in speech, is an imaginative drama, based on certain historical facts, dealing with the end of the world.

Lakefish

Jerry Lakefish of the University theater will play the lead, a German doctor, Dr. Hohenheim. Lakefish has played in "Idiot's Delight," "Tovarich," and "Berkeley Square."

Sigelius' Fourth Symphony will be used as background music for "Imprimus."

Honolulu Alumni Returns for Visit

Sanford Platt, president of Oregon alumni in Honolulu until a year ago, visited the alumni office recently. A member of the class of '33, Mr. Platt has been active in organizing football trips to Honolulu, and his tentative plans include the possibility of getting a baseball group to go over next summer.

Platt is personal director of all federal agencies for the territory and head of a territory employment office affiliated with the United States employment service.

He reports that there are many enthusiastic Oregon alums in Honolulu including those in branches of the service.

Marine Lieutenant Visits Alma Mater

Lieutenant R. Seibers, U. S. marine corps, visited the ROTC department last week while home on leave from San Diego.

Lieutenant Seibers was graduated from Oregon in 1939 and attended the marine training school at the Philadelphia navy yard until 1940. He is now preparing for pilot training at Pensacola.

While a senior at Oregon he was cadet colonel of the ROTC regiment and was commander of the only Oregon drill team to beat Oregon State. In 1939 the University drill company out-pointed that of Oregon State. This annual competition has since been discontinued.

National YW Secretary Addresses UO Group

Eleanor French, national YWCA secretary, visited the campus bungalow Monday night as part of her tour over the United States addressing college groups. "Relating National YWCA on the Local Campus" was the theme of the talk delivered to the girls.

Miss French told of the national student assembly to be held Christmas week at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, which is attended by delegates from all over the country. The assembly is held only once in every four years and attracts YW leader delegates as one of the outstanding honors during a college career. The topic to be discussed by the students is "Christian Faith and Social reconstruction."

Miss French will go on to California after the Seabeck regional council meeting at Rock Creek, Oregon.

An open cabinet meeting followed by tea and cookies during a social period was conducted by Lois Nordling, president.

Geology Club Gives Picture to Smith

A large colored picture of Abert rim and Abert lake in Lake county, was presented to Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geography and geology departments, at a banquet of the Lakeview Geology club Saturday evening. Dr. Smith was guest speaker for the affair. Presentation of the picture, which Dr. Smith will donate to the geology department, was made by Carl Fetch, mayor of Lakeview.

A group of Lakeview people, with Dr. Smith and Carl Williams, 1934 University graduate and president of the Lakeview Geology club, made a field trip Sunday to Fort Rock, southeast of Bend, to study its geological features.

Accompany Dr. Smith on the field trip were Robert Stevenson, graduate assistant in anthropology, and Ronald Alpaugh, 1941 graduate.

Division Receives Distant Inquiries

More than 250 letters inquiring for information on correspondence courses and other facts about the University have been received from all parts of the globe by the general extension division. Inquiries have come from Alaska, Canada, Panama Canal Zone, Manila, Hawaii, Philippine islands, and Puerto Rico. Nineteen states throughout the country were also represented by letters.

Library courses seem to be attracting a great deal of interest, as requests for these were received from Kansas, Illinois, Canada, Washington, Arkansas, and Iowa.

The University offers several extension courses unique to this school that have brought in a number of requests. One of these is an extension course in meteorology. An impressive list of mathematical courses and engineering subjects offered by extension have also received a great deal of notice.

Dr. O. H. Pepper of the University of Pennsylvania for several years has devoted a clinic to geriatrics—the specialty of the diseases of the aged.

Homecoming to Follow National Hostess Trends

Airplanes have hostesses, army camps have hostesses, and Oregon's annual Homecoming celebration will follow the hospitable trend by having a hostess, too.

The Homecoming hostess will welcome alumni who return to their alma mater for their annual fete. She will be a senior woman chosen this week by Oregon's football team, and will cooperate with the hospitality committee, headed by Janet Farnham, after the selection has been made.

This is the first time the Homecoming celebration has had a hostess. She is the official "alumni-greeter" and "mother-and-dad-welcomer" and will assist in meeting the special trains and in registration of the alums in Johnson hall.

The "hostess of the University of Oregon" will act, in a larger capacity, as does a hostess in any private home—greeting and welcoming guests, entertaining them, making them feel at home, reluctantly bidding them farewell. Always gracious and poised, she will typify the friendly, hospitable spirit characteristic of the University and University students.

With a cordial greeting and a bright smile she will make Oregon alumni feel that they have truly "come home again," that the "sweet dream" of the "dear old days" are not dreams but reality.

Cups are being offered to the men's and women's houses registering the largest number of old grads, and it is essential that all houses urge their alumni to register.

Airmen to Hear Bywater Today

Civilian pilot training classes will hear Lieutenant Murray A. Bywater, on duty as personal officer with the traveling aviation cadet examining board, speak today on the air corps and its functions. Lieutenant Bywater will speak to the advanced class this morning in Deady hall and to the primary class this evening.

The board is stationed in McArthur court today and tomorrow to interview young men interested in becoming air corps cadets—either as pilots or navigators. Lieutenant Bywater, who is pilot of a Boeing B-7 bomber, will tell CPT trainees about requirements, duties and rewards of life in the air corps.

The board will be in session from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. today and tomorrow. Men who will have at least half of the credits necessary for graduation by January, 1942, are eligible for the examination.

Donut Distribution Starts This Week

YWCA's annual doughnut sale will take place Wednesday and Thursday, October 29 and 30, with freshman women acting as salesgirls, Elaine McFarlane, general chairman, announced yesterday. Most of the receipts from the sale will be used as expense money for convention delegates.

Booths will be placed at prominent campus spots under the supervision of Mary Jane Terry, booth chairman. Other committee chairmen are Mickey Campbell, posters; Rylla Hattan, publicity; Lorraine Peterson, faculty; Maralee Marguson, house contacts; Frances McCarty, cider sale, and Peggy Kemp, treasurer.

One boy and one girl will be sent to the convention, to take place this year in Oxford, Ohio, during Christmas vacation. The convention which occurs every four years, has as its theme this year "Faith in Social Construction."
