Sigma Nu Outfit Collapses, 13 to 0, Under Explosive Aerial Barrage

By ART LITCHMAN

Two sensational touchdown drives by the inspired SAEs gave them a 13 to 0 victory over the highly favored Sigma Nus yesterday in the championship battle of the 1941 intramural football league.

Slingin' Ozzie Redfield and Bob Farrow paced the brilliant passing attack that whipped the hitherto unbeaten Sigma Nus. Redfield displayed uncanny accuracy as he threw pass after pass through the leaky Sigma Nu defense.

Unimpressed by the reputation the Sigma Nus had established in previous games, the SAEs drove 55 yards to their first touchdown in the first four minutes of play.

Redfield started things with a bang after the SAEs had taken the ball on downs with a 20-yard sprint around end. Stalled momentarily by two incomplete passes Redfield dropped back and cut loose with a 23-yard heave to Bernie McCudden on the two.

The next play was smothered for a five-yard loss and then Redfield threw a bullet pass to Homer Thomas for the touchdown. Farrow's leaping catch of the conversion pass was nullified by a penalty and the SAEs led, 6 to 0.

Sigma Nu Offense Stalls

The powerful Sigma Nu offense was ham-strung by the loss of Dick Whitman, the passing ace, with a bad knee injured in the game Wednesday night. The team lacked the fire and drive that has marked the smooth scoring punch all season.

The SAEs roared back to knock at the goal line again after Sigma Nu's Palmer Fallgren had been forced to punt. Redfield pitched a flat pass to Hoyt Tarola for ten yards and then Tarola made it a first down on the next play by snagging another Redfield aerial.

Bob Ballard sneaked in behind the secondary to take Ozzie's next pass for 25 yards and a first down on the 15. Ed Nulty then stepped in and intercepted the next pass on the five to end the drive.

Fallgren again was forced to kick and the SAEs promptly made 15 yards on a pass from Redfield to Beckner. Again the assault was stopped by an interception, this time by Fallgren. The half ended as Tarola intercepted a Sigma Nu pass.

SAEs Tally

The SAEs were right back as the second half started and scored their second touchdown on a brief 23-yard drive that followed another interception by Tarola.

tackle, avoid three line backers and scoot for some twenty yards before being tagged. Believe me brother, in touch-ball that is being played for keeps, that is something.

We hear that Hymie Harris is now over in the islands. Harris is just a little worried because rumor over there has it that things are going to start popping soon and he is afraid he won't be getting his mail till the censors get through with it. Hurry and write Hymie if you've got anything to say.

Donut Managers Attention!

All intramural managers are urged to pick up their volleyball equipment and turn in eligibility lists for their various houses immediately, according to Paul Washke, director of intramural athletics.

Equipment can be obtained at the PE building anytime between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Lists should be turned in to the office of intramural athletics in the PE building.

Cub Callis Churns, Paces Duck Mermen In Trials

By DON RICHARDSON

Cub Callis, veteran Webfoot backstroker, pulled a speed blitzkrieg in yesterday's time trials at the men's pool to take top honors of the afternoon. Close in his wake during the 150-yard event was Chuck Nelson, sophomore speedster.

The second of a series of short

Redfield dropped a short pass in the arms of Farrow behind the line of scrimmage and he picked up 11 yards to the 12. Ballard then drove eight yards on a flat pass to the other side. Farrow took a sharp bullet pass in the end zone for the touchdown and then converted on a looping pass deep in end zone for the final point.

The SAEs were on the way to another touchdown when the final whistle stopped them on the 15-yard line. Redfield's tremendous 55-yard kick had put the Sigma Nus in a hole and Fallgren's punt slid off the side of his foot and the SAEs had the ball on the 30-yard. Redfield pitched a pass to Farrow that was good for 15 yards. Before the next play was called the game ended.

The potent Sigma offense never could make a sustained drive and spent most of the afternoon in their own territory.

speed trials proved that Swimming Coach Mike Hoyman's driving training schedule is getting results, because to a man, the times were faster than in the previous meet of last week. Some of them were better than mid-season times of last year.

Huestis, Smith Switch

An important change in the lineup has occurred, with Jerry Huestis and Dick Smith changing places in the breast and freestyle events, respectively.

In the freestyle race it was again sophomore Jack Robinson who led the way. Dick Allen, veteran churner, showed marked improvement in the 220-yard event, and seems to be definitely on the way after a slow early-season start.

The responsibility of holding down the breast stroke swim seems to have fallen on the broad shoulders of Ralph Huestis. His powerful strokes carried him down the lanes in beautiful style far ahead of his teammates.

Willard Wilson, sophomore high board artist, did some fancy flips between races in his first afternoon appearance of the season. With Al Sandner and Jack Dallas lost, it will be up to him to gain the diving points for the lemon and green this year.

Real Test Pending

Although everything was rosy yesterday, the real test will come tomorrow when Hoyman sends his charges through a grueling 1500 meter grind.

Dissatisfied with the showings made last week in the distance trials, the varsity swimming mentor has given some pretty definite instructions on how he wants the races run.

In recognition of his contribution to Cleveland education and health, Western Reserve university's president, Winfred G. Leutner, has been awarded the B. F. Goodrich silver plaque.

HANDKERCHIEF TEST PROVES VITAL ZONE ALWAYS SPOTLESS

Babe Hollingbery and his band of cats from Washington State will check into Eugene this noon in quest of a few pinfeathers from the suspecting Ducks. With him Hollingbery brings one of the best shows in sports the northwest has to offer. That show being in the person of the unpredictable Buck "Bucket Booter" Bailey.

Anyone who has seen Washington State play baseball will never forget Buck. His moaning on the bench and his mad gestures might be enough to cause a mild riot, but his bucket booting tops everything.

But here's what a few do know. Buck is the line coach for the Pullman football team, and he ain't a bad one either. From the reports that drifted southward after Washington State got through mauling the Beavers, one could easily imagine the performance given by the Cougar front wall.

Show Called Off

But here's the gripe. Buck won't be on the Washington State bench Saturday afternoon. Hollingbery fears for the safety of his men and won't let Buck sit on the bench. If Buck kicks water buckets high into the bleachers when one of his pitchers throws the wrong pitch in a baseball game, heaven knows what he'd do if he saw Meeham break away on the "boot leg" or any other play. Neither bench, equipment, nor water wagon would be safe from his physical show of emotion.

Our man Wally Hunter was up in the Palouse hills over the weekend and dropped over to the stadium to watch the Cougars. Wally says he didn't know if it was the freshmen or varsity practicing till suddenly the hill vibrated with a tremendous yell. 'Twas Buck so Wally knew it was the varsity.

Mecham vs. Sewell

I wonder if someone could, in somewhat less than three thousand words, give me a hint as to just how Mr. Williamson figures out his football ratings. After last Saturday's game they were on the coast, Santa Clara, Washington State, Oregon State, Stanford, California, Washington, UCLA, Oregon, and Southern California. How does a team with two wins and three losses like WSC rate the top in the conference over Stanford, the team that's going to the New Year's game? And how does a team like California draw a higher notch than Washington. And Santa Clara: Mr. Williamson, a week from this Saturday Oregon will show you just how far you missed that one.

Mr. Williamson, Please

The duel between Bill Sewell and Curt Meham tomorrow will be a la natural. Ever since his sophomore days Sewell has been knocking on the door of All-Americanism. This year Meham has shot to some national prominence and many are starting to boom him for the mythical squad. Both players are triple-threat men. At the last count Meham was the top kicker on the coast, ranked high in rushing totals and had connected for a 500 per cent average on his passing.

Sewell is one of the best passers on the coast and since the Oregon State game has received many laurels for his driving running. Many forget that he was one of the top punters on the coast year before last. Keep your eyes on the boys Saturday.

Touchball Did OK

Intramural football finished yesterday. This column thinks the football season was a good success. Some 200 people were interested enough to turn out to see the final game which was a lulu. Too bad Dick Whitman couldn't play for the Sigma Nus because it would have been a really interesting game with "Bird Dog" pacing the Sigma Nus. They missed him.

The column still thinks "Ossie" Redfield has got the stuff for varsity competition. In yesterday's game he was tossing passes right into the belly of fast moving receivers time after time. Late in the afternoon he got a towering punt off that went some fifty yards. Early in the first quarter he swerved in from a wide end sweep to cut off
