

Dancers Vote On Betty, Joe At Whiskerino

Five girls and five boys have been selected for the Betty Coed-Joe College finals, but their names will not be revealed by Sophomore Whiskerino heads until the dance tomorrow evening in McArthur court, Jim Thayer, Whiskerino chairman, announced Thursday.

Ballots will be passed out at the door and dancers will vote. Judges will be Dr. H. W. Bernard, assistant professor of education; Dick Williams, educational activities manager; and Pirkko Roecker, instructor in physical education. Winners will be announced at 11 p.m. with the beard contest following. A prize will be awarded to the sophomore having the best beard.

Ken Baker's 16-piece orchestra will play. One o'clock permission has been granted, and dancing will begin at 9 and end at 12.

Sheriff Jim Burness has announced a dunking for sophomores who have shaved. They will report to the water tub in front of the College Side at 12:30 today.

Offenders are: Oge Young, Will Reynolds, John Kelty, Paul Moore, Phil Reiter, Ray Gaulke, Jim Lyle, Dave Stone, Randall Canwell, Bill Hilton, Gordon Reise, Fletcher Skilleron, Gaycie Hyde, Wilbur Linde, and Bob Koch.

Sign Patterns Due Monday

Ideas for Homecoming signs must be turned in by 6 p.m. Monday, November 3, Bob Whitely, sign committee chairman announced at a meeting of house representatives Thursday. The signs will be picked up at all living organizations by Len Barde, Frances Cox, Beverly Padgham, Bruce Crighton, and Whitely. The sign committee will work with the house in organizing sign presentation and preventing repetition. Ideas submitted to the committee will be kept confidential.

A $15 limit has been put on the amount which can be spent on any sign. "We will stress the adaptability of using movable parts in the signs," Whitely declared. Cups will be presented to winning houses. Five faculty judges will select the winners.

Three Students Leave For Lutheran Meet

Three University of Oregon students will leave today for Moscow, Idaho, where they will attend the fourteenth annual convention of the Pacific Northwest Regional Lutheran student association Friday and Saturday.

An extensive program with the theme "Christ-men! Cross-men! Free-men!" has been planned for delegates who are coming from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and British Columbia.

Girls Organize Junior Group

A junior panhellenic, made up of the sorority pledge class presidents and dormitory and cooperative house freshman advisers, has been organized, according to Barbara Hannam, president.

Officers have been selected in the order of founding of the sororities on this campus. Doone Eccles is vice-president and secretary, and Dottie Case is treasurer.

The group plans to aid freshman orientation and to deal with the problems of pledges in their relationship and responsibilities in their living groups. Immediate action will be taken to discuss panhellenic rushing rules and to offer constructive ideas and criticism. Members will exchange information about the activities and organization of their houses.

Plans are being made to have a panhellenic speaker explain the function, organization, and duties of the group. The group hopes to sponsor freshman exchange dinners.

Three at Los Angeles For IFC Conference

Fraternities on the Oregon campus will be represented in Los Angeles at the Interfraternity conference today by George Andrews, IFC president, Allen Hunt, secretary, and W. A. Dahlberg, assistant speech professor, an IFC faculty adviser.

Interfraternity council heads from every campus on the west coast will be present at this yearly meeting.

IFC policy and plans for increased unity will be discussed.

The human eye responds to flashes of light lasting only from 1-100,000th to 1-10,000th of a second, according to experiments at the University of Virginia.

Juniors Dress Hayward Field

Junior class members voted unanimously Thursday to decorate Hayward field for the Homecoming celebration, November 28, 29, and 30. Goal posts, bleachers, and other parts of the stadium will be decorated by the class.

Gertrude Puziss, junior in physical education, was appointed by Pat Cloud, junior class president, as chairman of the committee to handle the stadium decorations. Assisting her on the committee are Shirley Ralph, Jack Turpin, and Alice Blotchley. The committee will work with Reid Ferrall, Homecoming game events chairman.

Russ Hudson, Homecoming general chairman, spoke to the meeting and told them what would have to be done to make the decorations a success.

By a unanimous vote the meeting also decided to reopen sale of junior class cards for a five-day period. The sale will begin Monday, November 3.

Applications were received for committee positions for Junior Weekend festivities. "Juniors interested in working on Junior Weekend committees should get applications from me and fill them out," Miss Cloud declared.

Independent Men Get Chance to Be Romeos

"Here's your chance to become campus romeos," Dave Knox, Yeomen president, said Thursday. He was referring to the meeting to be held by the independent men's club Monday, November 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the men's lounge of Gerlinger hall.

Dean Hazel P. Schwering is booked as the guest speaker. Her subject will be campus etiquette. All independent men are invited.

Buck Voted Expense Of SDX Convention

President Buck Buchwach was voted $136 for expenses on his trip to the national Sigma Delta Chi convention in a chapter meeting of the men's professional journalistic society Wednesday.

Hal Olney, associate editor of the Emerald, was chosen as chapter secretary to replace Russ Hudson, who is now serving as Homecoming chairman.

Members are preparing a scrapbook of their activities during the past year for judgment at the convention. Reports on each member's activities and grades will be prepared by Olney and Francis Tuckwiler.

University Alumnus Author of Recent Book

Dr. Francis P. Robinson, former Oregon student, is the author of a recently-published book, "Diagnostic and Remedial Techniques." Dr. Robinson received a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University in 1929, and took his master's and doctor's degrees in the field of remedial reading at the University of Iowa. While here he was a student of Dr. Crosland, associate professor of psychology.

Several years ago Dr. Robinson taught here in summer school. He is now assistant professor of psychology at Iowa state college.

Dr. Robinson, in the preface to his book, acknowledges the assistance of Dr. J. W. Scherborn of Oregon State college, and Dr. E. H. Porter, Oregon graduate in 1935, who is now Oregon state merit system supervisor with headquarters in Portland.

Dr. Zeeb Gilman, oldest living graduate of Dartmouth college, celebrated his 100th birthday May 13.

Piggers Guide Release Due November 10

Oregon's classified directory of who lives where, The Piggers' Guide, will be ready for distribution November 10, according to Betty Jane Biggs, editor. As in previous years, Kwama and Skull and Dagger, sophomore service honoraries, will distribute the directory.

Barbara Lamb, sophomore in journalism, has been named associate editor of the guide by Miss Biggs. Doug David, business manager, has appointed Jim Thayer, sophomore in journalism, assistant business manager.

Besides the names of students, their addresses and telephone numbers, the guide will include a social calendar of all big campus events, the officers of all major organizations on the campus, and all living organizations with their president and treasurer.

Advice is also given on how to break through the "red tape" for all social functions outside main campus events, and data on closed campus week-ends.
