

PE Teacher Will Discuss Defense Play

What is being done in the way of play for men in the army, navy, and air corps will be described in a recreation seminar, led by Florence D. Alden, professor of physical education, Tuesday, November 4, from 9 to 11 a.m.

First hand information will be furnished by two famous students. Kester "Mike" Hale, who received his master's degree from the school of physical education at the University, and is now recreation coordinator in Astoria, will tell what is being done in his district. Don Orput, recreation representative of the federal security agency in Oregon, will describe the work being done by that national agency.

"Anyone who is interested in hearing about these activities and meeting the speakers is invited to come," said Miss Alden.

The class, which is studying the way recreation leadership has tried to meet the problems arising from changing times, visited the migrant farm labor camp at Dayton, near McMinnville. There they saw the homes, clinic, laundry, and the nursery school.

Frosh Daub At Alum Fete

As an innovation during Homecoming weekend, freshmen will skid down the yellow "O" atop Skinner's butte on their paint-splashed tin pants to precede the annual frosh guarding of the school landmark, Russ Hudson, Homecoming general chairman, announced Monday. Ordinarily this is done only during Junior Weekend, but it will be done this year, Hudson declared, to give visiting alums a more striking picture of the "O."

In charge of freshmen guarding the "O" will be Vic Atiyeh, guard on the frosh football team, Hudson said. He will work with the Homecoming committee and the freshman class, led by Ted Yaw. The "O" will be painted a bright yellow Friday, November 28, and will be guarded continuously until the alumni fete is over.

Guarding will be done in shifts, with at least 15 freshmen present at one time to prevent mutilation by other parties. Last year the guard was circumvented and the "O" streaked over.

The contest has covered a period of three weeks during which two representatives from each women's living organization on the campus have been invited to a series of desserts. Finalists were chosen October 27.

Art Wiggin, social chairman, was in charge of the contest.

AAA Afternoon Dance Scheduled for Friday

The Architecture and Allied Arts league will give their second dance of the term next Friday for all art majors from 3 to 5 Friday afternoon in the little art gallery.

"This dance will have the most gorgeous gals and the best music on the campus" according to Glen Westfall, member of the dance committee. Other members of the committee are Woody Ichihashi, chairman, and Marian Lockman.

Music will be from records furnished by members of the art school.

Queens college, New York, is said to have the broadest music education program of any liberal arts college in the United States.

'SKY' MAN

"Skylark," a very little theater production, will open Wednesday with Jerry Lakefish in a leading role. The play was written by Samson Raphaelson and will be shown for a three-day run.

"Skylark", By VLT Opens Wednesday

The Very Little theater production of "Skylark" by Samson Raphaelson will open Wednesday, November 5, for a three-day run.

Gertrude Lawrence first made this play popular and it is currently being produced as a motion picture. The equally successful "Jazz Singer" and "Accent on Youth" are by the same author.

Among the cast are Jerry Lakefish and Bill Wood, University students, Mrs. W. A. Roecker and Austin Ranney of the faculty. Included are Mary Graham and Adele Griffith also connected with the University.

The play is under the direction of Ethan Newman, a former student. Tickets may be secured by calling Mrs. Eyler Brown, phone 2808-R.

Teachers Hear Dean

Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration, spoke Monday afternoon in Roseburg at a conference of the Douglas county teachers' institute.

His subject was, "The Education in American Democracy."

Guests Come From Alaska

Visitors on the campus Monday were Mr. and Mrs. David Lesk of Alaska. Mr. W. G. Beattie, general extension division, who had instructed them in school in Alaska some years ago, took them on a tour of the University buildings and grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesk have their home in the Indian village of Metlakatla, Alaska, and are on their way to San Francisco on an extended trip.

Girl Reserve Meets at YW

University students who have been Girl Reserves are asked to attend a meeting Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in the YW bungalow to discuss the Saturday Girl Reserve conference schedule.

The new Girl Reserve unit which has been formed in the Eugene high school under the leadership of Marie Morgan needs the help of these students to form a conception of the purpose, functions, and duties of such a group.

Miss Mary Jane Wolfe and Miss Lazelle Alway, state Girl Reserve executives from Portland, will be present at the Saturday meeting. This meeting which is to last from 9 to 4 will feature a tour of the campus, a potluck luncheon, and colored movies of the Girl Reserve "Camp Westwind" on the northern Oregon coast.

Seventeen CPT Fliers Test Their Own Wings

Solos are well under way in the primary civilian pilot training class, according to James C. Stovall, coordinator, with six students having taken their initial lone flight in the last few days. Seventeen members of the class have soloed since October 16.

Soloists were: Emmett Evans and Ernest Short, students of Steve Hathaway; Verne Adams, and Bob Small, instructed by Harold Sander; and Lloyd Hecathorn and Bill Hamel, both taught by Kneeland Stone.

Play Ticket Sale Started

The University theater box office opens Wednesday at 10 for the sale of general admission tickets for the next theater play. Late season tickets will also be sold.

The cast of the forthcoming production, "Three Corners Moon," includes: Dorothy Durkee as Mrs. Rimplegar, David Zilka as Douglas Rimplegar, and Adrian E. Martin as Kenneth Rimplegar.

Jenny, the maid is played by Jean Person, Ed Rimplegar by Bob Weston, and Donald by Charles Boice.

Completing the cast are Marjorie Quigley and Dick Turner who play Kitty and Dr. Alan Stevens.

The play portrays the goings-on of a slightly mad but entirely charming family. Mrs. Ottilie Seybolt is directing.

Some 15,000 Wisconsin high school students will be guests of the University of Wisconsin at the Badger-Syracuse football game November 1.

YWCA cabinet will meet in the bungalow at 4:30 this afternoon.

MR. AND MRS. NEWT SMITH
SIDE PATTERN
Pat Taylor

Well, well, well. If it isn't November . . . and the general feeling right about now seems to be something to the effect that "I don't want to set the world on fire, I just want to start a flame in Dr. Noble's grader-for-History-of-Modern-Europe's heart." . . .

Especially after seeing "Citizen Kane" . . . it was an excellent mo'om pitch, but it kind of gave us the ooks . . . and we certainly don't want to set T.W.O.F. and have 60 million like Mr. Kane. . . Gee, 50 million would be plenty. . . We also checked "Honky Tonk" . . . gwacious, such goobers!

In the midst of all this drivel we'd like to wax serious for a spell and extend condolences to the Sigma Alpha Mus for the unfortunate thing that happened last week . . . from Mr. and Mrs. Newt and Patter and all the Side.

Seen back at the U (among our souvenirs, as usual) were Chi Psi Bob Haines, Pi Phi Winifred Wilhelm, Kit Ritter, and Marget Parker, Kappa Jayne Doyle, et al. . . Haines dropped in at the law school jig, and not hearing any moosic, asked the closest available male when he was going to start playing his trombone. . . The man turned out to be a law school prof. . . Not very neatly done.

Come vittle time some Sunday, why not a Collich Side dinner. . . That's putting it a bit blunt but they're really good. . .

See you on the late shift. . .
