Spanish Dance Group Begins

A Spanish folk dance group for everyone interested will meet Wednesday night from 7 to 9 in the YMCA according to Dr. Leavitt Olds Wright, head of the Spanish department.

Betsey Steffen and Alice Stevens have been making the arrangements for the dancing which will be conducted by Ladrew Moshberger who learned many of the dances this summer while he was in Mexico.

Mr. Moshberger did special work at the University of Mexico and will teach the group the famous hat dance, the waltz, tango, and other Mexican dances.

Whose Stuff? Asks Infirm

After all last weekend's weak ankles were bound and taped the Health Service found itself with one shoe and sock left over. Nurses report that they are about a size eleven and indicate possible utility if mated.

Beside stray shoes Monday the Pill Palace housed: Anita Galton, Shiriey Burberick, Jim Ricksecker, Robert Curtis, Bill Borcher, Fred Karlson, Dan Plaza, Ernest Whipple, Robert Irvin, Robert Donnelly, Dean Dwyer, Maurice O'Connell, Leslie Randall, Roy Metzler, Henry Voderberg. Dr. Lyle Wyatt is also infirmed.

DGs Fete Mrs. Minor

To honor Mrs. Arthur Minor, who will succeed Mrs. Hunt Quinn as house mother, members of Delta Gamma sorority served tea from 3 to 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, November 3. Guests included the deans of women and house mothers from Oregon State college as well as those from the University.

Receiving were Maxine Hansen, president of Delta Gamma, Mrs. Hunt Quinn, and Mrs. Arthur Minor.

Those who assisted were Marge a 19

Smart Pooch Dies in Fire

"He was just about the smartest dog I ever saw," recalled Morrie Stein Monday afternoon when asked about the death of "Amos," SAM mascot in Saturday morning's fire.

"I got Amos two years ago, when he was about six weeks old. A fellow gave him to me because he was dying. We nursed him along and in two months he was entirely well.

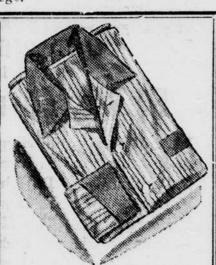

"Amos knew the campus better than the kids did—he often went to their classes for them."

Stein found the little brown shepherd dog behind the closed front door Sunday morning.

"One of his tricks was to open the front door from the outside. He hadn't learned yet how to open it from the inside."

Hanover, seat of Dartmouth college, once rose temporarily to the position of capital of New Hampshire. In 1795 the legislature met there and Gov. John T. Gilman was inaugurated in the Dartmouth chapel.

Senior scientist with the Byrd expedition is Dr. F. Alton Wade, a 1926 graduate of Kenyon college.

Co-op Gains Majority; Student Store Debt Free

By ELAINE DAHL

Before long 21 candles will be lit in honor of the University Co-op's twenty-first anniversary, for the co-op has attained its majority.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees plans were made for the annual celebration of the co-op's birthday and for the publication of a booklet which would present the policies, views, and history of the co-op, according to Bob Lovell, president of the board.

The co-op has come a long way since the spring of 1916 when the ASUO voted almost unanimously to start a cooperative store to be financed by the general fund of ASUO. World War I, with many of the boys entering the fight, and a bad football year left the treasury badly depleted with a $3500 debt to the coach.

Reopens 1920

The co-op was closed, the store sold to meet the debts incurred by athletics, and the little residence which held the co-op, on Thirteenth between Kincaid and Alder padlocked its doors until the summer of 1920, when it was again voted to have an incorporated University cooperative store—this time separate from the athletics and general student body organization.

The co-op is governed by a board of directors consisting of 5 students and two faculty members.

McClain Manages

The store at the present time is being managed by Marion F. Mc-Clain who was manager of the first store in 1916. President of the board is Bob Lovell, and other student members of the board are Emerson Page, Les Anderson, Bud Vandenynde, and Bill Bergtholdt.

One of the several advantages that the co-op has offered students along with the easy acquisition of textbooks is cashing of student checks with no charge. In one day as much as $5000 in checks have been cashed for students and on an average usually $1000 passes through the cash window.

Student Musical Presents Pianist

The remainder of this week's student musical programs on KOAC will consist of a string ensemble of eleven members, playing tonight at 7:30, and Phyllis Gray, pianist.

On Tuesday evening at 8:15, Miss Gray will play Bach's Tocatta in G and Chopin's Waltz in A Flat. Continuing Wednesday evening at 8:40, she will play Chopin's Prelude in B Flat Minor and Debussy's "Evening in Granada."

Advertisers Perform

"Bunko Promoters in Fiction," a radio skit by Tau Delta Chi, business advertising honorary, will be given over KOAC at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The skit was adapted by Dr. Daniel D. Gage, associate professor of business administration. Students taking part are Leonard Farr, Elmer Olson, Fred Stickles, Lee Schwidt, and Hugh Muir.

Dean Morris Leads Teachers' Discussion

Dean Victor P. Morris of the school of business administration will travel north today to lead a discussion for commercial teachers at the teachers' institute at Corvallis.

Teaching problems will be discussed this morning, and the effect of the war effort upon the field of economics and business the afternoon topic.

Work of Alumnus, Praised in Speech

The work of Lloyd Ruff, 1932 graduate in geology, now with the U.S. engineers in Portland, was praised by Col. Cecil R. Moore, head of the Portland office of the engineers, in his speech at the dedication of the Fern Ridge dam Friday afternoon. Ruff recently completed a trip through the Snake River canyon with a party of U.S. engineers.

Ruff was graduate assistant in geology at the University two years ago, and while here as a student was a member of Condon club and Sigma Xi.

Art Students Combine Moods With Music

Translating rhythm into art from music and personal feelings is the object of the design class according to Maude Kerns, associate professor of art education. Students in this class have made designs while listening to music, and by Christmas these designs will be put on textiles either by stencils or wood blocks.

At present the class is working on designs translated into dark and light patterns.
