

More Talent Paged by UO

Student entertainers are still being paged by the student talent committee, according to Ed Zelinsky, chairman. These students are urged to drop their names into the coupon box in the Co-op store.

Dramatists, comedians, singers, magicians, and other entertainers will be given many chances to display their talent during Homecoming, Zelinsky stated. A complete and varied list is important to the committee at this time.

So far a flood of applications has been received from the independents but it is believed by the committee that the Greek organizations contain much more talent than they have listed. Organizations will receive recognition for all the talent they produce.

Other functions besides Homecoming for which the students will be called on are rallies, assemblies, and special occasions which may arise during the year.

Campus organizations may secure entertainment by contacting the committee which includes Margery Hilp, Mariane Haubert, Betty Koster, and Zelinsky.

Military Cooks Hear Lieutenant Roy L. Bean

Advanced military students taking military cookery and mess management will hear a lecture by Lieutenant Roy L. Bean on food grading and meat inspection November 7.

Lieutenant Bean is on duty with the veterinary corps of the United States army at Vancouver barracks. The class, taught by Miss Mabel Wood and Major W. E. Read, has been studying preparation of army mess and management.

The lecture will be upstairs in Chapman hall at 8 p.m.

November 15 the class will visit the Nebergall packing plant on the Coburg road to study methods in slaughtering and preparing meat. The packing company plans some special demonstrations on methods of butchering and dressing.

Webster Visits UO

Dr. Robert L. Webster, regional councillor of Theta Chi fraternity and head of the zoology department at Washington State college at Pullman, visited the local chapter of Theta Chi last weekend.

Dr. Webster was accompanied by President Ernest O. Holland of Washington State.

Hour Is Here

(Continued from page two) night our solemn vow of freedom conceived in the declaration of independence, dedicated at Valley Forge, proclaimed in the emancipation proclamation, shall not in this grave hour be forfeited.

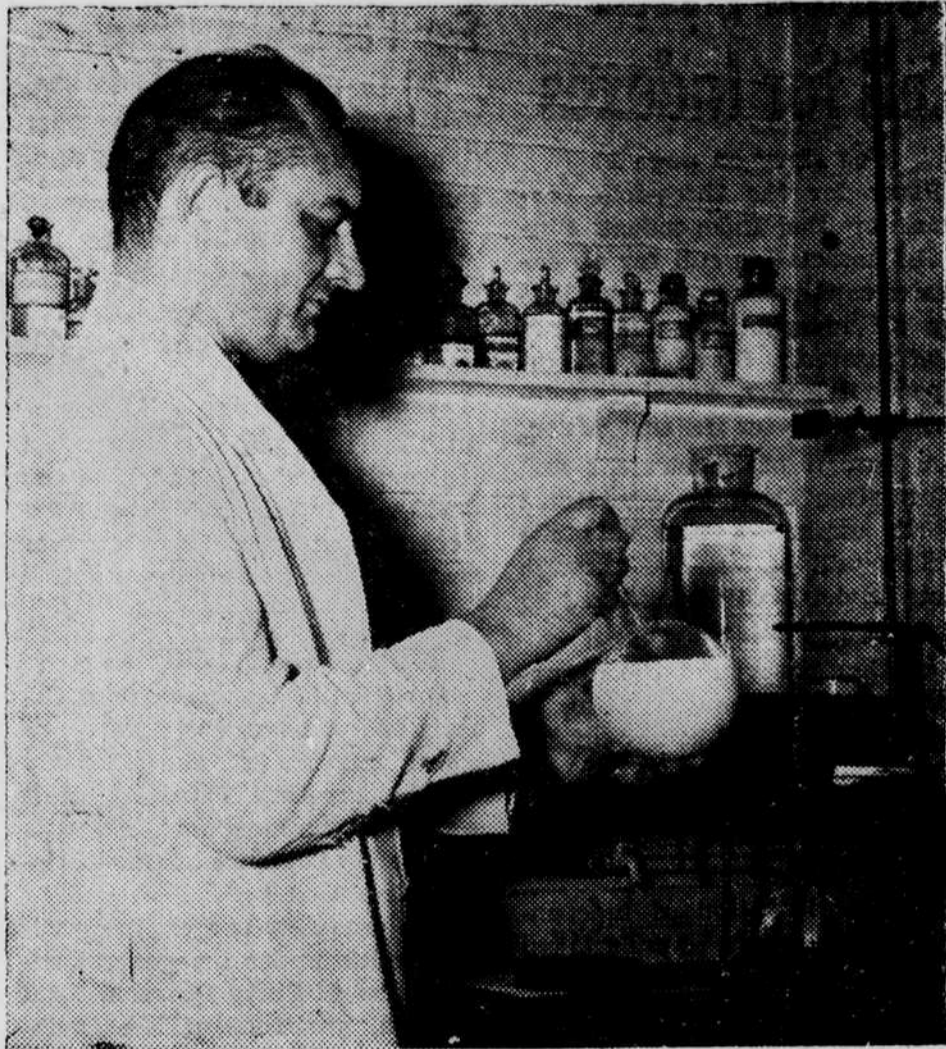

Our duty is clear.

Only One Course
Force must be met with greater force. We must valiantly assure that all the technological madness conceived by the harbingers of hatred for freedom shall assail in vain our citadels.

We must with calm courage "today in the face of this newest and greatest challenge—stand ready in the defense of our nation and the faith of our fathers to do what God has given us the power to see as our full duty."

And though the bells are tolling for unnumbered dead throughout our darkened world, this too will pass and then the bells will resound the joyous, the clarion call of freedom for all mankind.

'Six Lessons' Offered To Pseudo Spaniards

Tonight from 7 to 9, persons interested in learning Spanish folk dances will meet in the YMCA house.

Two of the dances, taught by Ladrew Moshberger of University high school, will be "El Jarabe Tapatio" or the hat dance which originated in the state of Jalisco, and is probably the most popular in Mexico. The other, "Las Chiapanecas" is done by the girls of Chiapas, a southeastern state of Mexico.

Two University high school girls helping with the program are Dorothy Zimmerman and Dona Allison. The accompanist will be Leland Huff, also of the high school.

Circulation Presents 'Eye Witness' Accounts

"Eye Witness" is one of the most recently received books at the circulation department of the University library. This book was edited by Robert Spiers Benjamin and written by 23 prominent American foreign correspondents.

The book was written as a result of a discussion held for the members of the Overseas Press Club of America. "Each of the 23 contributors volunteered to write one of his most interesting and revealing journalistic adventures, thus giving the reader a glimpse into the workings of covering a story."

Some of the journalists who have written in this interesting book are: Peggy Hull, Linton Wells, Brian O'Brien, Amy Vanderbilt, and Burnet Hershey.

Y Frosh Commission Arranges Fellowship

Plans for the "YW" freshman fellowship November 13 were made at the Tuesday meeting of the YWCA freshman commission.

This fellowship will be open to everyone and will replace the regular Thursday tea of the YWCA. The commission members will be introduced at the assembly and they will give a short survey of the work the various "YW" departments are doing.

A short play has been planned and will be directed by Florence Hamilton. Characters will be: Pat Smith, Pat Stuart, Ardis Jensen, Leslie Brockelbank, Barbara Parker, Sally Childes, Nadine Bellinger, Virginia Wells, Sue Stater, Rosemary Fishback, and Shirley McLeod.

Cabinet Appoints New Y Chairman

Appointments of Patty Pearson and Shirley Holcomb to fill the positions of assembly chairman and tea chairman respectively were announced at the Tuesday meeting of the YWCA cabinet.

Miss Pearson is taking the place of Pauline Pengra, who is to be married during Thanksgiving vacation, and Miss Holcomb is filling the place left vacant by the resignation of Jean Doris Griffith.

Elaine MacFarlane, chairman of the doughnut sale, reported that the sale netted a profit of $22.15 and that three times as many doughnuts were sold this year as were sold last year. Frances McCarty reported that the sale of cider sponsored by the "YW" this last weekend should yield a profit of $8.25.

Marie Morgan, leader of the newly organized Eugene high school Girl Reserve unit asked all girls who have been members of this organization in the past to meet Thursday at 3:30 to discuss plans for the Saturday conference.

Lutheran Convention Elects Local Student

Clarence Lindquist, junior in architecture and allied arts, was elected vice-president of the Pacific Northwest Regional Lutheran Student association at a convention in Moscow, Idaho, last weekend.

The next regional convention will be held on the University of Oregon campus in the fall of 1942. Delegates from the University to this 14th annual meeting were Mae Doris Lindstrom, LeRoy Norquist, and Lindquist.
