

Marlio Talks On Nazi Way Of Education

Dr. Louis Marlio, French industrialist and economist, will speak to University students in 12 Friendly hall tonight at 7:30 in the second of the 1941-42 lecture series.

Speaking on Nazi education, Dr. Marlio will attempt to explain what will result from the present situation in France since the Nazi invasion.

During his career Dr. Marlio has been a professor at several French universities, formerly was general manager of the French Aluminum company, and for 10 years was in charge of the International cartel.

Since his arrival in the United States in the summer of 1940, he has investigated American industrial methods and issued a pamphlet through the Brookings institute titled "A Short War Through American Industrial Supremacy."

Sale on 'Guide' Begins Friday

Oregon's classified student directory, the Piggers' Guide, will be on sale at the Co-op Friday and Saturday for 25 cents.

In addition to the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all registered students, the 1941-42 campus directory will feature a social calendar of all big campus events and a list of all officers of major organizations and living organizations.

A complete faculty directory is also included in the green-covered book. Sales will end Saturday afternoon at 5:30.

False Alarm

After the fire all the houses have started

To take out insurance in manner whole-hearted.

It will seem sort of silly, the work they go to,

If the old law of averages only comes through.

Employment Secretary Plays 'Best Friend' Role

Jobs for 852 students were obtained this term by an efficient staff in the employment secretary's office. Secretary Janet Smith plays the role of "best friend" to all students who come to her in search of jobs.

The graduate placement office of the University, although only five years old, has rendered distinctive service to Oregon students and alumni. Figures computed during a typical school year, 1939-40, reveal a total of 3,802 jobs filled, a total income of $63,897 returned to the workers.

Many of these were odd jobs; all provided greater possibilities for continuing educational pursuits. During the same year Miss Smith's phone rang 5,962 times, and 8,391 callers presented themselves at her desk.

Although a conference room was added last year where employers may interview prospective employees, the office is still housed in the campus YMCA house where it had its foundation. According to an article which Miss Smith wrote in January, 1941, the present facilities of the office are "inadequate."

"Another drawback of the office," she wrote, "is that we have to refuse many jobs because the students who are graduating lack experience." All seniors are urged by Miss Smith to file their applications and letters of recommendation now for positions upon graduation.

No jobs are handled through the office that pay less than 35 cents an hour. The number of students who earn part or all of their way through the services of Miss Smith's office constitute about 60 per cent of the total enrollment.

Library Staff Meets

November staff meeting of the University library will take place Thursday, November 6, at 11 a.m. Mrs. Paul B. Means will speak about her experiences in the Orient.

Independents Discuss Future

Several matters pertaining to the organization of all independent students on the campus in the near future were discussed by non-Greek presidents at a meeting last night at the College Side.

However, until official recognition of the movement has been received from the office of President Erb no information can be divulged, according to Wini Green, chairman of last night's gathering.

Sanction of plans for the association is expected within the next few days, and at that time full details of organization and election plans can be revealed, it was announced.

News! Docs Bedded At UO Pill Palace

Others occupying Health Service beds Wednesday were: Evelyn Lamb, Jean Spearow, Dorothy Walthers, Patricia Mead, Shirley Burberick, Eathel Sutton, Bernice Granquist, Betty Lou Jardine, Maurice O'Connell, Urgel "Slim" Wintermute, Fred Karlson, Dan Plaza, Robert Ervin, Walt Hennessey, Fred Foster, Robert Curtis, Leslie Randall, and Henry Voderberg.

Is it news when a doctor takes his own advice? Dr. Lisle Wyatt of the Campus Capsule Camp has done it; he's been gracing an infirmary bed for five days. One such case might be thought an exception, but Dr. Marian G. Hayes, assistant University physician, confined herself for a couple days this week, so maybe it isn't news.

STUDENT GUIDE

Miss Janet Smith, employment secretary, and Edith Pierson, assistant, are shown at their desks at the student employment service. Miss Smith is adviser to the cooperative houses and friend and helper of working students. She also assists graduating students to get suitable positions.

Jumbo Rally Set for 28th

As an innovation during the 1942 Homecoming festivities a rally and mix will be presented Friday night, November 28, culminating with a variety show and informal dance. The variety show will feature the best of campus talent.

The snowball rally will make a tour of the campus, picking up various house members on the way, and then proceed to McArthur court.

All persons interested in entertaining during the Homecoming variety show should appear for auditions today at 4 p.m. in the alumni room of Gerlinger hall. Those unable to appear should get in touch with the committee chairmen.

Spotlights will be thrown on the Igloo during the performance. After the show students will go to Gerlinger hall for an informal dance.

UO Assembly Will Feature Student Music

Today's general ASUO assembly at 11 a.m. will present the first entirely musical program in assembly history. Featured is a string ensemble of 11 student members who will play for the meeting in Gerlinger hall.

John Stehn, director of the University band, who is substituting for Rex Underwood, regular conductor of the ensemble in the latter's illness, will comment between numbers on the various instruments in the group and the selections played.

Elizabeth Walker, violinist, will be soloist in Debussy's "Maid With the Flaxen Hair" and Saint-Saen's Prelude to "The Deluge."

Members of the orchestra include: Elizabeth Walker, James Gibson, Larry Baird, John Baird, Jane Young, and Helen Baird, violins; Verne Sellin and Barbara Crisp, violas; Marilyn Beltz and Irene Clark, cellos; Majolaine Le Beck, bass.

The program will consist of the "Trauer Symphony" by Locatelli, "Air" and "Bouree" from the "Water Music" by Handel, "Air for the G String" and "Gavotte" from the Fifth French suite by Bach, Prelude to "The Deluge" by Saint-Saens, "The Maid With the Flaxen Hair" by Debussy, and the waltz from the "Serenade for Strings" by Tschaiakowsky.

SDX Delegates Leave For Louisiana Meet

President Buck Buchwach and Ep Hoyt left Wednesday night for the Sigma Delta Chi national convention in New Orleans November 12-16.

A scrapbook containing photographs and clippings about activities of Oregon members of the national professional journalistic society accompanied the delegates. Ted Harmon designed the book, rated by journalism school critics as the best chapter record they have seen.

Buchwach will return November 27. Hoyt plans to be back on the campus a few days earlier.

Football Players Will Pick Hello Girl To Welcome Alumni

Oregon's official Homecoming hostess will be selected today by the football team, Janet Farnham, hospitality committee chairman, announced last night. Finalists in the contest are Hope Hughes, Bette Morfitt, Eleanor Sederstrom, and Elizabeth Steed.

Hostess for the Oregon campus, the Homecoming "hello girl" will meet and welcome visiting alumni. She will work with the hospitality committee to entertain the old grads.

Appointment of the hostess, previously scheduled for Wednesday, was deferred until today because of difficulties in meeting the football squad's convenience.
