

World Peace Frenchman's Talk Subject

Imperialism, nationalism, and isolationism must be destroyed in order to establish a lasting world peace, Dr. Louis Marlio, French economist and industrialist, declared last night in the second of the University lecture series.

Dr. Marlio, who is doing research work in this country for his book, "The Future of Capitalism," maintained that the world must undergo disarmament on a triple basis: military, economic, and moral.

Two causes of modern war, nationalism and the development of the machine, were elaborated upon by the French economist.

"Nationalism sows seeds of war in the hearts of men," by creating unsound competition in common ideas and interests—things that actually constitute the best basis for peace.

"Mechanization makes war contagious and devastating," because warfare today requires the full strength of a nation to keep the huge effort of the army going. Machines, and the nation of workers that create more machines, as well as the armies must be destroyed.

The United States, because of its powerful position, is the logical arbiter of peace, and "it will behoove her not to lose the fruits of peace as she did last time," said Dr. Marlio.

An international effort in all matters of common effort was further emphasized in questions answered by Dr. Marlio following his lecture.

Graduate Assistants To Have Desert Social

Graduate assistants of the University will hold a dessert social tonight at 7:30 in the AWS and recreation rooms on the third floor of Gerlinger hall to lay plans for a graduate assistants club.

Most of the graduate assistants, of whom I understand there are 50 on the campus, are a little older than the students, yet they can hardly be classed as faculty," commented Miss Florence D. Alden, professor of physical education, who has taken an active interest in the cause, "therefore they need a social life of their own. It seems that such an organization will fill the need."

Writer to Dwell

Year Plan experiment, Mr. Chamberlin was an exponent of the Russian policy, but in later years he had decided against the idea, mainly because of its practice, not its theory. He has written two books, "Soviet Russia" and "Russia and the Iron Age." The former is used as a source book by many students of the socialist republic. It is brought to date yearly by the publishers, revisions in the material being written by Mr. Chamberlin.

The famed lecturer spoke once before in Gerlinger hall in 1935, at the height of the Five-Year Plan. At that time he was touring the country giving a series of lectures on how communism was working in Russia.

In recent years he has spent much time in Japan and is familiar with Russo-Japanese relations. The present Russo-German war has thrown a new light on the Russian problem, which will be taken up next Thursday.

New manager of the men's department at Miller's in Eugene is Leland A. Robe, 26.

Barristers Desert Tomes for Pigskin

Writ of habeas corpus! Subpoena duces tecum! What are they? Don't ask a law student to tell you Friday afternoon because his mind won't be focused on stray legal terms. In other words, the young barristers are taking the afternoon off to play football.

According to Marcus "Rip" Winkler, law school athletic manager, the junior class will play an intramural game with other members of the junior class. The game will be played at 2 p.m. November 7 on intramural field number one.

Featured in the play will be Linemen Bob "Bruiser" Carmichael, Frank "Hold Tight" Milderum, "Plunger" Dale-Helgerson, and Roland "Rookie" Rodman. In the backfield lineup are Phil "Hizzoner" Lowry, Don "Committee-man" Walker, and Norm "Flash" Weiner. Yell queens are Janet Thatcher and Mary Jane Wormser.

Lieut. Bean to Speak For Military Students

Advanced military students in cookery and mess management class, taught by Miss Mabel Wood and Major W. E. Read, will hear a lecture this morning in upstairs Chapman hall at 8 o'clock.

Lieut. Roy L. Bean, on duty with the veterinary corps at Vancouver barracks, will speak to the class on food grading and meat inspection.

In connection with their training in army mess management, the class will visit the Nebergall packing plant November 15 to study methods in slaughtering and preparing meat, Major Read said.

Free Refreshments Given Artists at Dance

With a free dance and free cokes being advertised all over the art school, a large crowd is expected at this afternoon's dance, according to Cyrus Nims, president of the Architecture and Allied Arts league.

All art school students are invited to the dance which starts at 3 o'clock in the little art gallery. Woody Ichihashi, chairman of the committee, says that if this dance proves popular with the students such affairs will be held every two weeks the rest of the year.

Bulletin Printed

"The Case for Parking Meters," a bulletin by the bureau of municipal research, has received wide publication and circulation, according to Herman Kehrl, head of the bureau. Copies have been sent to Brazil, Cuba, Hawaii, and throughout the United States.

The article has appeared in the October issue of The American City and also in the Western City. It is based on surveys made by three Oregon cities, Eugene, Portland, and Astoria.

Dean Morris Talks

Dean Victor P. Morris, of the school of business administration, will speak before the annual meeting of the Merchant's Credit bureau of Klamath Falls Monday, November 10.

The credit men will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Willard hotel, Klamath Falls.

"The Ox-Bow Incident," a western novel by Walter Van Tilburg Clark, former instructor in English at the University of Vermont, has just been published by Random House.

The late Don L. Love, former mayor of Lincoln, Neb., bequeathed $25,000 each to the Universities of Nebraska and Iowa for student loan funds.

Sipe to Give Botany Talk

Prof. Frank Sipe, head of the botany department, will be the speaker Friday evening at a meeting of the Natural History society of Eugene at 7 o'clock, room 101, Condon hall.

Subject of Mr. Sipe's talk will be, "Let's Get Acquainted With Mushrooms." Mrs. Harry Yocum will present a water color display and a number of interesting books on the subject.

There will be a short discussion of future trips to be taken by the group besides the business meeting.

Members are requested to bring books and fresh mushrooms for display.

Added Science Work Will Begin Next Year

As a result of the recent addition of major science work to the University curriculum, it is expected that each department of science will have 33 to 36 hours in upper division and graduate work, according to Dr. A. E. Caswell, chairman of the lower division and service department administrative committee.

About one-half of this work will begin during the next school year, and will increase as the year progresses, he said.

Western Books Due at UO Library

November 5 to 20 the University of Oregon library will have on exhibition the third annual showing, assembled by the Rounce and Coffin club, of outstanding books produced by western printers. Thirty-nine books were chosen from a typographic standpoint that were printed west of the Rocky mountains.

A jury of three chose these books. Lawrence Clark Powell, member of Rounce and Coffin club; Morgan A. Gunst, of the Roxborghe club, and Phil Townsend of the Zamorans club.

Several of the books chosen are: "With a Sketch Book Along the Old Mission Trail" by Maude Robson Gunthrop; "Around the World in San Francisco" by Leonard Hustin; "Ronald MacDonald Adventurer" by Marie Leona Nichols; "The Gold Rush Song Book"; and "The Ghost in the Underblows" by Alfred Yong Fisher.

Nazis Discussed

Dr. Louis Marlio, French industrialist and economist and Mrs. Marlio were honored dinner guests at the Chi Omega house before Dr. Marlio's speech on the "Nazi Way of Education" in Friendly hall last night.

Lutheran students will hear convention reports at a meeting in the YWCA house at 6:30 Sunday evening.

Rites for Cook Still Indefinite

Plans for funeral services of Mrs. Cora L. Bissett, who died in the fire at the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity house early Saturday morning, are being delayed, pending the location of a sister in California, the Poole mortuary reported Thursday.

Mrs. Bissett's body, badly charred, was found in the basement of the house, after firemen had extinguished the blaze. She had been cook at the house since the inception of the chapter on the Oregon campus in 1928.

Frosh Marksmen Vie For Rifle Team Posts

Starting Thursday, freshman ROTC students will try out for the frosh rifle team to consist of about 25 marksmen, Colonel R. M. Lyon, head of the military department, announced.

The freshmen fired on the rifle range in groups of platoons, two platoons to fire each Thursday. The 50 best targets will be saved and a team chosen from them. Outstanding marksmen in Thursday's firing were: Harvey Fielder, Tom Frazier, Tom Galt, Russel Fryburg, John Garrity, and Gale Felthouse.

The frosh team will be organized and enter matches with other schools next term, it was announced.

We're OVERSOLD!

Why Keep On Advertising?

An OPEN LETTER to Local Merchants and to Our Readers . . .

TO YOU WHO ADVERTISE:
For many years you have used the columns of the Oregon Daily Emerald to talk to the Oregon Webfoots who read this newspaper.

Each day, side by side with the news stories, your messages in the form of advertisements, have been accepted and expected by our readers as the news of what, where, and how they can buy the things they want and need.

Not always have our readers wanted or needed the things you have offered, WHEN you offered them, but as you have continued to ASK them, to URGE them, to APPEAL to them to buy from you, our readers have learned to depend upon you for their daily requirements.

Now, you say: "We're oversold! Why keep on advertising?"

In answering your question, let me speak—not for the Emerald, but FOR the readers of this newspaper.

Now, we realize that now and then you will be oversold. We know that there will be times when you cannot supply some things we want. We expect some prices will go up, and that it may be necessary for us to go without some things in these days of national emergency.

But, we want to know: (1) Why, and When, and How long we cannot get the things we want; (2) What we can get to take the place of things to which we are accustomed; (3) Where, and When we can expect to find our requirements at prices we can pay.

Are you going to keep us informed with your advertising, or are you—because you are sold out for the time being—going to forget us and our problems?

Now, more than ever before, we need your merchandise news. We now ASK you to let us know what is happening with even more frequent and informative advertising.
