FDR Honors Oregon Printer

By MARGARET BROOKE

"With gratitude to John Henry Nash," was the inscription signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on the book "The Times Supports Mr. Roosevelt" written by Sheldon F. Sackett, publisher of the Coos Bay Times, and presented to John Henry Nash, printer.

The paper used in the book is hand made and has the watermark of Mr. Nash.

Has President's Letters

"I never met Mr. Roosevelt." said Mr. Nash, "But I have had several letters from him during the past years. I am looking forward to meeting him some day."

Mr. Nash was in Portland when Mr. Sackett asked him to read the book over. "I liked the book immediately," said Mr. Nash, "I told him I would like to print his book, and he told me to go ahead."

Rare Book

"It is a very rare book," he went on to say. "I printed only 15 copies. Mr. Sackett has four and the rest are scattered around among friends. Dr. Aurela H. Reinhardt, president of Mills college in Oakland, California, sent my copy to Mr. Roosevelt. I was very honored to have him sign it and return it to me."

This book will remain in the Nash collection in the library with the rest of Mr. Nash's collection of rare books.

White Lies

Last minute reports . . . Daisy Mae had Li'l Abner cornered in the BA school. Also: in connection with Sadie Hawkins day, a breach of rules is involved . . . Jack Lansing is chasing me, I'm going to have to protest . . . if it will do any good. . . .

Kappa's cute Shirley Beller pulled a hot one this week. It seems that she comes from "down under," and has been confused with all these new American gadgets. When asked to vacuum the downstairs floor, she didn't even know how to turn the darn thing on! What'll happen when she tries to turn on the washing machine?

The annual law school football game is to be played today at the intramural field at 2 p.m. The starting lineup for the third year men will be: Whitey Wright, Leon Humpstead, M. J. Wormser, Mr. and Mrs. Phipps, Steve Foulcheck, and K. J. O'Connell, head coach. The second year men are paced by a line that averages 218 pounds. Carmackal's weight has never been accurately plumbed, and "Uncle Bulgy" Meldrum is a stalwart on defense. Marcus Winkler, "Ulcers" Lowry, "Kremel" Walker and Rookie Rodman compose the team. Hea coach is "Gunga Din" Morris, who will direct the plays by wire from Chicago. The game is due to take at least three hours due to unlimited substitutions . . . that will be needed.

The SAEs had a swell dance last weekend . . . just exactly like the Delts had two years ago . . . even to the programs and "gas masks."

Minerals, Vitamins Board Meet Topic

National defense is widening its fields and one of its latest ventures is to see that everyone gets his share of minerals and vitamins.

The topic, "Nutrition in Relation to National Defense" was selected as the theme for the annual conference of the state board of nutrition, which is to be held Friday afternoon and Saturday of this week at the Multnomah hotel in Portland. Dean Ava B. Milam, dean of the home economics school of Oregon State college, is in charge of the state committee and Dr. Helen Mitchell, chief nutritionist from Washington, D. C., will be principal speaker.

Miss Mabel Wood, home economics department head, and chairman of the campus sub-committee on nutrition, will represent the University at the conference.

Old Oregon Issue Has Reports of Erb, Hunter

Among the contents of the alumni magazine, Old Oregon, is a report of Dr. Donald M. Erb and Chancellor Hunter's official statements to the state board on the return of science credits to the University.

Ep Hoyt, class of '44, as publicity chairman for Homecoming, has a story on that weekend. The magazine also carries an official welcome by Russ Hudson, chairman of Homecoming.

Cadets to Stunt At Bronc Fray

Taking part in the migration of Oregon students to Portland for the Armistice day game Tuesday will be nearly 100 ROTC students who will participate in the parade and do a half-time stunt at the Santa Clara game.

Company A of the University regiment has been drilling since the beginning of school in preparation for public demonstrations in close order drill and the manual of arms. At the game they will execute a series of maneuvers without orders and form an "O" around the University band while "Mighty Oregon" is played. The company will march off the field in a "V" formation in keeping with the military features of the Captain Harvey Blythe, adviser for the drill company, announced that members participating in the parade must appear in uniform at the corner of Madison and S.W. Park avenue at 10 a.m.

Students must provide their own transportation to Portland, it was announced, but the military department will see that enough rifles are on hand for all.

New Volumes in Libe On Humanity, Sports

"Mr. George's Joint" by Elizabeth Lee Wheaton is among this week's new books at the circulation department of the University library. This book won the Thomas Jefferson Southern award and Gold Medal for 1941. It was selected for the award by the sponsors of this prize because of its "artistic truth and rich human appeal."

Also received this week by the circulation department is the book "British Sport" by Eric Parker. This book is an attempt to describe separately, more or less in detail, some of the chief English sports.

This book, "British Sport," was printed in London and contains 12 plates in color and 17 illustrations in black and white. The illustrations were chosen to express feeling in the various sports.

OREGON EMERALD Chief to Check Fire Hazards

Intensive fire inspection of all campus living organizations and boarding houses will begin about the week of November 17, Eugene Fire Chief W. A. Nusbaum promised Thursday.

Jack A. Hayes, state deputy fire marshal, will be in Eugene to supervise the inspection, Chief Nusbaum said. Mr. Hayes was here last week, following the fire in the Sigma Alpha Mu

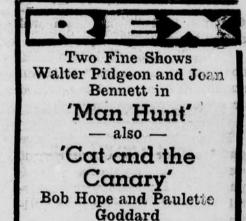

Houses will be checked for fire hazards, such as dirty basements, faulty flues, improper wiring, and lax smoking regulations. Inspection will also be made of fire escapes, exits, stairways, and placing of beds on sleeping porches.

Date Book Editor Does Slow Burn

Betty Jane Biggs, editor of the "Piggers' Guide," which is on sale in living organizations and the Co-op store, is embarrassed.

The phone number of the Alpha Omicron Pi house, of which she is a member, is not listed in the section on officers of living organizations.

Ray Schrick, whose pin "BJ" wears, may be found by phoning 2340, the directory says. A glance at the front section of the book shows 2340 as the phone number of Kappa Alpha Theta.
