

Leathernecks Kelly, Smith Receive Bars

Two June '41 Oregon graduates have been commissioned as second lieutenants in the U. S. marine corps and are now taking advanced training in the reserve officer class of the marine school in Quantico, Virginia.

They are Maurice John Kelly and Warren Ellison Smith.

Commissioned when they completed preliminary training November 1, Lieutenants Kelly and Smith were both awarded medals for their outstanding ability with the rifle and pistol. Upon completion of current training in the reserve officers class, they will be assigned to duty with active marine units.

Kelly, a major in business administration, was graduated with a B.A. degree. Smith, a major in physical education, was graduated with a B.S. degree. Smith is the son of Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the University geography and geology departments.

LEATHERNECK WEBFOOTS

Naturalists Go Afield In Mushroom Quest

The natural history club will take a field trip Sunday to the Elmira district to search for mushrooms. They will leave at 2 p.m. from Condon hall. The group will collect the natural specimens for identification and study.

Members of the club are invited to a study meeting in the laboratory of Frank Sipe, head of the botany department, on the third floor of Deady hall, Monday evening at 7. The mushrooms collected on Sunday's field trip will be identified and discussed.

Webfoot Studies South of Border

Betty Jane Poindexter, senior in journalism, is spending fall term studying at the University of Guadalajara, in Mexico.

Spanish is the main course being taken by Miss Poindexter, with the exception of business law which she is getting from the University of Oregon extension service.

Miss Poindexter will return to the Oregon campus for winter and spring terms, after spending a week or ten days traveling about Mexico.

Soldier Hits Books; Then Goes Broke

"I'd rather be broke and be busy than have money and sit around feeling sorry for myself," wrote a young man to the extension department requesting a correspondence course to be sent to him on the payment plan to the Presidio of San Francisco. The extension service complied and sent him an extension course in American history.

Last week the final payment came for the course. The young man is now busy—and broke!

Music School To Air Program

A singer and two pianists will be featured on the music school radio programs over KOAC next week. There will be no program Armistice day.

Margaret Zimmerman, soprano, will sing Monday, November 10, at 8 p.m. Her program will include "Hear Ye, Israel," from the oratorio "Elijah" by Mendelssohn; "Sheep and Lambs" by Homer; and "Suicidio" from the opera "La Gioconda" by Poncielli.

The same evening at 8:40, Phyllis Gray, pianist, will play Schuman's "Papillons" and Giuon's "Harmonica Player."

George Hopkins, professor of piano, will give a Spanish program on Wednesday evening, November 12, at 8:40 p.m. Numbers to be played are "Cradle Song" and "Dance of Spain" by Jose Iturbi, "Tango" by Albeniz-Hopkins, and a rhumba, "La Comparsa," by Leucuona.

Dr. and Mrs. Russel L. Johnsrud, '30, M.D. '33, are the parents of a daughter, Nancy C., born July 28.
