

Willamette Park Razed

OREGON Daily EMERALD

VOLUME XLIII UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1941 NUMBER 34

Evening Blaze Takes Entertainment Site

By BOB FRAZIER

Fire early last night razed the Willamette Park dance pavilion southeast of town, long a favorite dance spot of University students. The building, valued at $18,000, will probably not be rebuilt.

Cause of the fire was not determined. A. B. Loud, proprietor, said wiring in the building was new.

No fire equipment came to fight the fire. The Springfield department was called, Loud said, but refused to come because the property was not within the city limits.

No Equipment

Loud said he did not call the Eugene department, because they had refused to fight the last fire in the park a little more than a year ago.

The building, with a dance floor 100 feet by 80, was "about a third" covered by insurance, according to Loud. He said he would probably not rebuild, partially because of the rising cost of building materials.

A bass viol, belonging to Art Holman's orchestra, was lost in the fire, and Holman's entire music library was destroyed, Loud said. A piano, belonging to Mrs. Loud, was also lost.

Nobody Hurt

Nobody was in the building when the fire started about 7:15, Loud said. When the caretaker, a Mr. Garretson, arrived at the scene he asked bystanders to soak the covered walk leading to the north entrance of the pavilion with water. They refused to do this, according to Mrs. Loud.

Armistice Campus Fun Not Evident

Aside from the fact that there will be no classes tomorrow, the spirit of Armistice day will be gone from the University campus this year. No formal campus celebrations are planned.

Services in downtown churches and a parade, however, will feature Eugene's Armistice day celebration.

Portland Game

Many University students plan to attend the Oregon-Santa Clara game in Portland tomorrow. ROTC's crack Company "A" will march in the Portland parade and will give a half-time exhibition at the game.

The campus, however, will be relatively quiet. The men's gym and pool will be closed all day Tuesday, as will the Co-op store. Circulation, reference, and periodical departments of the library will be open tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The reserve department will be open from 9 until 5. It closes at 5 this afternoon, also. Books may be checked out overnight after 4:30 today and tomorrow.

Rally Dance

Woody Hite's orchestra will play for a rally dance at the Masonic temple in Portland at 9 p.m. today.

University women remaining in Eugene have been granted 12:15 permission tonight by Dean of Women Hazel P. Schwering.

This morning's Emerald will supplant issues ordinarily published Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, Fred O. May, business manager, announced. The next Emerald will appear Thursday morning.

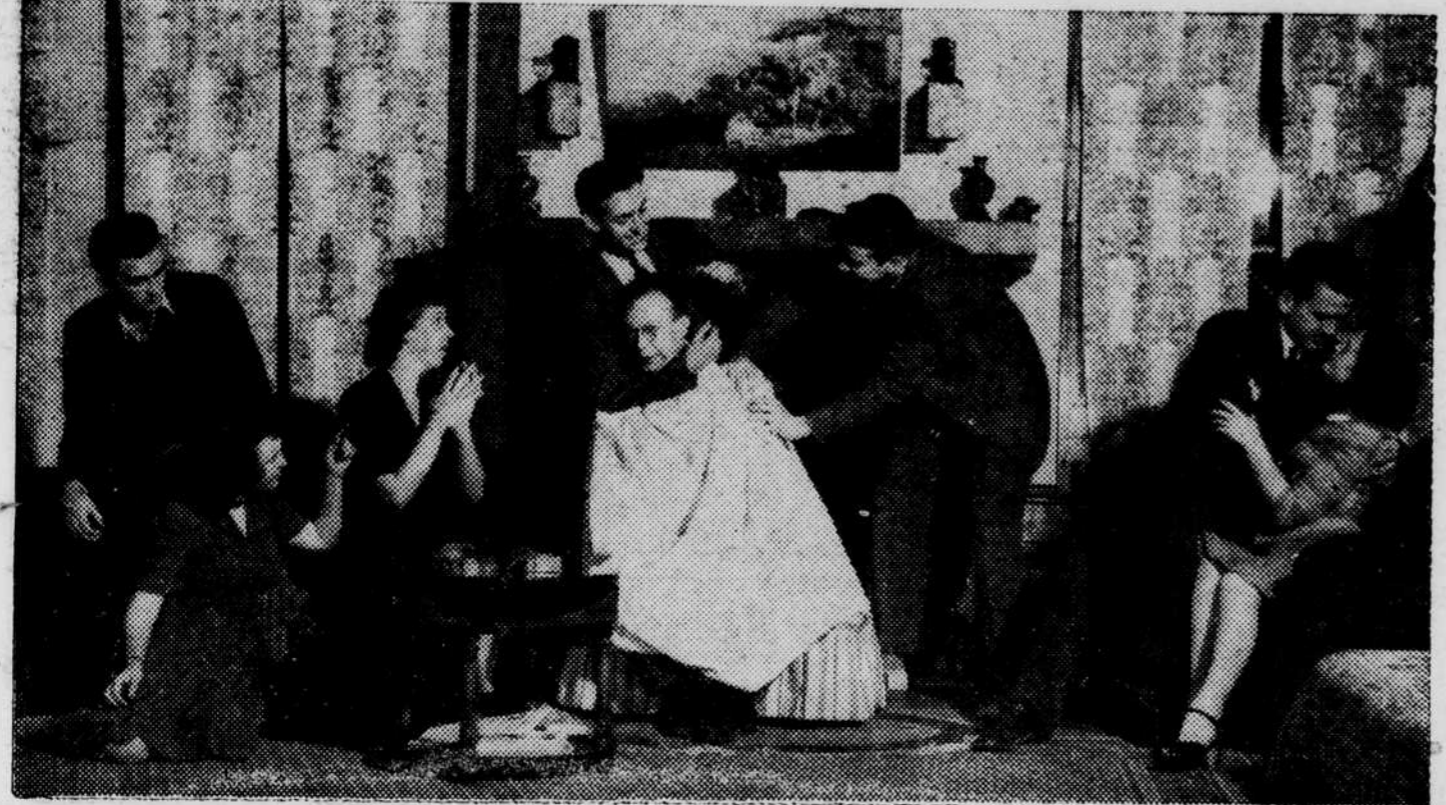

Who Hocked Bell, Campus Mystery

Where is Oregon's victory bell? The Betas, who had the bell, report that "We haven't got it. Some one, some group, came over and got it," a representative of the house told an Emerald reporter last night.

When asked if reports that the bell was at Oregon State were true, the house representative said, "I doubt that very much. We have contacted the Beta house at Corvallis and they disclaim any knowledge of its whereabouts."

Helen Angell, editor of The Emerald, received a letter, post-marked Corvallis, November 7, and signed "disgustingly yours, a student from a real school," which hinted the bell was on the OSC campus.

Theater Season Opens In Johnson Wednesday

Miss Durkee Takes Lead In Guild Play

Mrs. Rimplegar, in the person of Dorothy Durkee, her head swathed in a turkish towel, wanders vaguely through "Three Cornered Moon" when the Guild hall curtain rises Wednesday at 8 p.m. for a four-day run.

Miss Durkee took a leading part in last year's "George Washington Slept Here." Last summer she studied at the University of Michigan under Jimmie Church, director of "Great Plays."

Other Plays

While there she played a revival of "Hobson's Choice," "Smoke Screen," and the nurse in "Romeo and Juliet."

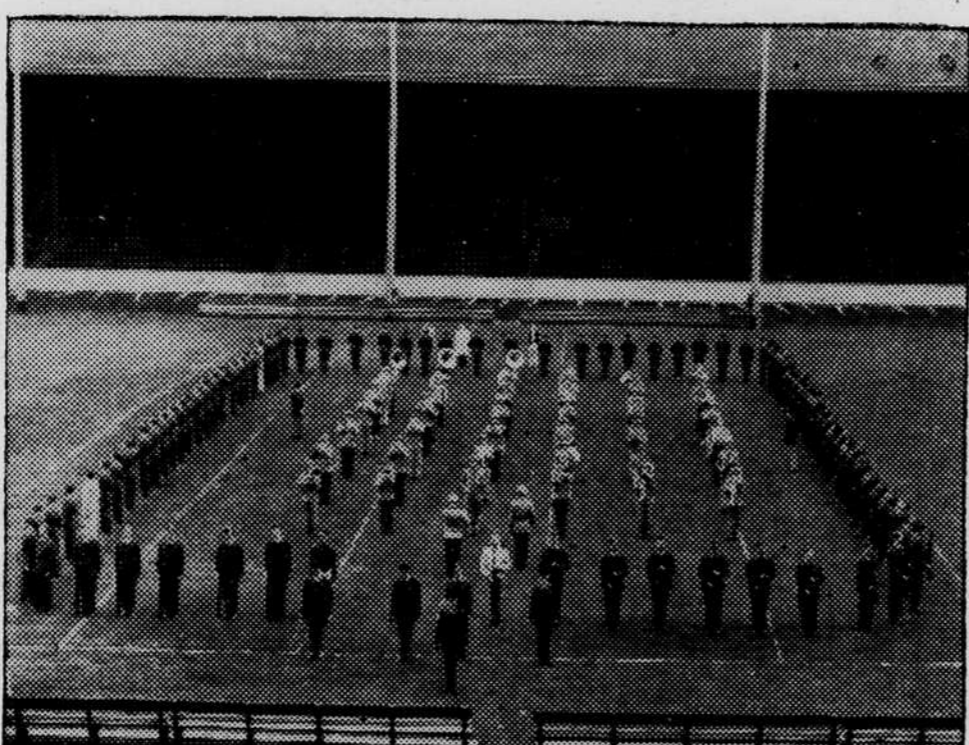

This season's opener, "Three Cornered Moon," will present the befuddled Mrs. Rimplegar and her unusual children in a three-act explanation of abnormal psychology.

Complete Cast

The complete cast includes David Zilka, Adrian Martin, Jean Person, Bob Weston, Pat Howard, Charles Boice, Marjorie Quigley, and Dick Turner.

The University theater box office will be open this week except Tuesday for the sale of general admission and season tickets. General admission tickets are 50 cents plus tax and may be purchased in Johnson hall.

ROTC Men to Parade

Members of ROTC honor company A assemble in an "O" formation, which is one of the maneuvers they will go through during the Oregon-Santa Clara football game in Portland, Tuesday. Led by Cadet Captain Roy Lindley, the group will appear as part of the Armistice day observances.

Ace Company Stunts at Game

While campus bound students wistfully watch the "ducks fly north" for the Portland game with Santa Clara, nearly 100 ROTC men with brightly shining buckles, shoes, and eyes, will assemble at the corner of SW Madison and Park avenue at 10 a.m. Tuesday to participate in the Armistice day parade.

After the parade down town, Company A, Oregon's crack rifle company, will present a halftime stunt at the game. The University band, under the direction of John Stehn, will march on the field followed by Company A. The drill company will form an "O" around the band, march in company mass formations, and execute a silent manual of arms.

Company A has been drilling an extra two hours a week in McArthur court in preparation for the public demonstration and the commander, Cadet Captain Ted Lindley said that he was very well pleased with the results of the training.

Captain Harvey Blythe of the military science department is faculty adviser for the group.

Students participating in the demonstration must provide their own transportation to Portland and appear in proper uniform, it was announced. The military department will see that each man is equipped with a rifle.

Ol' Time Flickers List 'Robin Hood'

Douglas Fairbanks at his peak will play to University students Wednesday in 207 Chapman, when "Robin Hood" is presented as the last fall term number in the "Memorable American Films" series.

The movie, directed by Allan Dwan, stars, besides Fairbanks, Wallace Beery, Sam deGrosse, Enid Bennett, and Alan Hale.

Get Husky Tickets

Students who plan to attend the Oregon-Washington game in Seattle November 22 should obtain tickets at once from the educational activities office, Ed Walker, ticket manager, announced yesterday.

In Requiem

If 'twas mine but to say, There'd be no holiday With parades and adorning. If I had my way On Armistice day We'd all be in mourning.
