Swatting Squad Orders Dread Torture Weapon

By FRITZ TIMMEN

Jim Rathbun laughed fiendishly. "Yessir," he said. "Anyone who comes in range of that paddle will sure know it."

And he's probably right, for the Order of the "O" has ordered a special inch-thick, solid maple paddle with which to chastise any Homecoming tradition violators. No offenders will be excepted throughout the week beginning Tuesday, November 25.

Even professors and girls will have to pay for their transgressions if they walk on the grass, fail to say "hello" on "Hello walk," or walk on the Oregon seal.

Other Rules

Several other ordinances have been passed by Rathbun's men, the violation of which will result in a session every day at 12:30 p.m. on the steps of Fenton hall.

"This weapon has been ordered especially for the occasion," Rathbun remarked. "It will be kept for Order of the "O" initiations, too, and for any other time when it is deemed advisable to use it."

Formidable.

Painted green, with Order of the "O" in lemon on it, this will make a formidable instrument of torture in the hands of such stalwarts as Dick Ashcom, Chris Iverson, Bill Regner, Elliott Wilson, Curt Mecham, or Dick Whitman.

"Whitman should be especially able," Rathbun grinned, with a sadistic gleam in his eye. "He's got plenty of power in those

Mete It Out

Violators accosted by "O" men on the campus will be expected to be at Fenton each noon at 12:30 to receive their punishment. If they don't appear it will be twice as bad when they are caught, Rathbun announced.

Hacking sessions will be held every day from Tuesday through Friday with the exception of Thursday because of military classes.

Marshall Talks Today On Migratory Camps

"Migratory Labor Camps" will be the subject of a talk by Ellis Marshburn, graduate of Whittier college and the Presbyterian seminary in San Francisco, at the YMCA house today at 12:30.

Mr. Marshburn is working under the Home Mission council of the Federal Council of Churches, and at the same time is doing his field work for an M.A. degree.

Oregon Coeds Caper Monday

Committee chairmen of Coed Capers are completing plans for Monday night, November 17, when University coeds gather to dance, eat, play games, and listen to class and faculty skits at Gerlinger hall, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Marge Dibble and Barbara Hampson, so-called "comedy team" of the Coed Capers, have no picked committee. They will gather stooges from the audience in true Hellzapoppin fashion—so coeds, beware!

Concession chairman, Mary Ellen Smith, promises that cokes, candy, ice cream, and carmel apples will be sold. Booths are now being constructed for that purpose.

Following the theme, "It's a Woman's World," pictures of famous women will adorn the walls of Gerlinger as part of the decorations, decoration chairmen, Gertrude Puziss and Mary Louise Vincent, announced. The co-heads have also planned a three-legged race, among other games, to keep coeds busy when they are not dancing or viewing entertainment.

Dean of women, Hazel Schwering, has granted special 11 o'clock permission for the occasion, and festivities will continue until 10:45, it was announced.

Miss M. Elizabeth Martin, '28, long a teacher in Portland public schools, died June 8 at the Oragon City hospital.

Dog in Downpour Visits Dispensary

Oregon's Capsule camp turned into a canine camp during Thursday afternoon's downpour. A bedraggled, red-eyed dog and 27 people waited in the dispensary at 1 o'clock. Although eye washes are in the line of infirmary duty, the little dog departed after a thorough back scratching.

AWS Auction Moved Ahead

The AWS auction, postponed yesterday because of rain, will be held next Thursday at 4 p.m. in front of the Side.

Auctioneers Don Swink and Hank Kemp at that time will offer over 100 lost and found articles for bidding. Included in this group will be pens, eversharps, bandanas, sweaters, dark glasses, and hats. Books lead the assortment with a collection of 41, on hand.

The auction, an annual affair of AWS, is made up of articles which have been turned into the lost and found department at the University depot and have not been claimed.

Retailers Boost Homecoming

Cooperation by Eugene merchants, as well as student aid for Homecoming festivities will be enlisted in a different manner this year, Russ Hudson, Homecoming general chairman, announced Thursday.

Merchants of Eugene have been contacted through the Homecoming committee in conjunction with the efforts of Fred Brenne, chamber of commerce secretary. Their cooperation in preparing special "olden days" window displays for the thousands of guests who will visit Eugene has been asked.

This year special window stencils and posters have been prepared for the merchants by the committee. In the past the Homecoming stencils have been provided by the stores displaying them.

Four different envelope stickers will be available for all students through heads of houses. These cartooned stickers will replace the function of form letters that have been previously mailed to alumni. In making the announcement, Hudson urged students to make use of the stickers on all letters mailed from the campus.

Further promotion plans include automobile bumper posters.

Museum Refinishes

Refinishing of floors in the Japanese textile room will keep the Murray Warner museum of Oriental art closed November 19, 20, and 23.

XSB2C-1—It's the Navy's new divebombing sensation— Test Pilot Bill Ward at the stick

HOW DOES IT FEEL to dive straight down from several miles up? Bill Ward knows. He's the test pilot who put this amazing new Curtiss dive bomber through her paces for the Navy. That's Bill (in the picture at the left, above) smoking his {and the Navy man's} favorite cigarette. He'll tell you—

"YOUR EARS CRACKLE and pop. You think," says Bill Ward, "the whole world's trying to squeeze the daylights out of you. You think maybe it bas, if things go a little foggy or dark when you're pulling out of your dive." After a ride like that, a cool, flavorful Camel tastes mighty welcome.

Test Pilot Bill Ward shares the Navy man's preference for Camels

SPEAKING of tests, Bill Ward adds:
"Those recent laboratory tests showing less nicotine in the smoke of Camels only go to prove what I've always found in my smoking—Camels are milder in lots of ways. That's what counts with me."

Light up a Camel yourself. You'll know in the first few flavorful puffs why, with men in the service*... with the millions behind them...it's Camels. {*Actual sales records show the favorite cigarette with men in the Army, Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard is Camel.}
