

Dean Reviews Railway Case

The report which the emergency board headed by Dean Wayne L. Morse of the Oregon law school made on the railway labor disputes to President Roosevelt has received a great deal of attention in eastern papers, according to Dean Morse. In a statement released for the press, Morse brought out the importance of the case to the American public.

"The issue involved in the threatened strike is a much more significant one than the men seem to realize. It raises the issue of supremacy of judicial process over economic force. It confronts the American public with another opportunity to decide whether we shall have government by law or by pressure groups.

Should Ponder

"Railroad labor should ponder long and seriously the fact that a strike would damage irreparably the judicial processes provided for in the railway labor act. Labor must remember that a judicial process to be judicial must apply equally to both sides in a dispute.

"If one party can succeed in repudiation of an honest decision, fairly reached in accordance with the judicial procedure of the railway labor act, then that act loses all value as a guarantee of the legal rights of railroad labor as well as of the carriers.

Confident

"I am confident that the industrial statesmanship portrayed by the railroads' labor leaders whom I saw in action at the Chicago hearings will rise above disappointments over the fact that the board decided against higher increases at this time."

Demands made by the labor leaders were for increases in all basic daily wage rates, vacations with pay, and for changes in rules which indirectly affected employees. The board recommended certain increases in pay, which were not, however, to affect the basic scales. Six-working-days vacations were recommended along with changes in certain rules.

Hunter Stops at Ord On Way from Chicago

Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of the Oregon state system of higher education, left Chicago by train Friday for Oakland, California. He attended the convention of the National Association of State Universities in Chicago November 7 and 8, and the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities November 10 to 12.

The chancellor will stop in Oakland on his way back to Eugene to visit his son, Maurice Hunter, lieutenant at the Fort Ord presidio, who was graduated from the University in June. Mrs. Hunter left Tuesday to join Dr. Hunter in Oakland.

Oregon Men Listed With Noted Americans

Several persons connected with the University of Oregon are mentioned in "Notable Americans of Foreign Birth," published by the Common Council for American Unity. It contains a list of foreign-born persons from Who's Who in America, 1938-39, with an introductory article by Will Irwin.

Oregonians from Canada are John Henry Nash, master printer, who has a special collection of books in the University library; Edgar Ezekiel DeCou, for 37 years head of the department of mathematics at the University and now in fortieth year of service; Oswald West, ex-governor of Oregon; and Alfred Edward Clark, lawyer in Portland.

Although A. Phimster Proctor, sculptor, who is listed in the book is now a resident of New York City, he is represented on the campus by two famous sculptures, "The Pioneer," in front of Friendly hall, and "The Pioneer Mother," in the women's quadrangle.

Democracy Explained In High School Booklet

The Oregon state system of higher education, in cooperation with the state department of education and the state curriculum committee, has just released a 30-page pamphlet, "Calling the Youth of the Nation."

Every high school senior in the state will be given a copy this week. Prompting this action was the result of a recent survey made by the educational policies commission which revealed an incomplete understanding of the democratic way of life on the part of high school students.

The pamphlet is a simplified high school version of the latest publication of the educational policies commission, "The Education of Free Men in American Democracy," which attempts to provide the fundamental understandings of democracy today and to analyze the dangers which threaten it.

The book was prepared by Hugh B. Wood, professor of education at the University; Paul F. Potter, vice-principal of Eugene high school; and Howard J. Akers, Roosevelt junior high school at Eugene.

Committee Distributes Homecoming Stickers

Cartoon stickers, to be pasted on Homecoming letters, will be distributed today by Jim Banks, mail promotion chairman of Homecoming committee, and his staff.

This year, in place of the form letters used to publicize Homecoming last fall, students will write their own letters. A representative from each living organization will see that Homecoming stickers are attached to letters before mailing.

There are four different cartoon designs on the stickers.

OREGON EMERALD

Office Staff:
Betty Lee Stuart
Lois Clause
Lila Watumull
Carolyn McKinley
Dorothy May Hansen

Saturday Advertising Staff:
Mary Riemer, day manager
Nan Sheffer
Jim Wilson
John Jensen
Bill Hunt
Bobbie Edwards
Edith Newton

Copy Desk:
Herb Penny, city editor
Thorn Kinersly
Fritz Giesecke
Mary Wolf
Al Gould
Jack Billings
Marge Brooke

Night Staff:
Bob Edwards, night editor
Fritz Giesecke
Lucille Voegelien
Mary Wolf
Ora May Watson
Edith Newton

Oregon Student of '98 Now Acts in Hollywood

Lyle Nelson, editor of the alumni magazine, Old Oregon, recently received a letter from Clyde Fillmore, '98, who is now acting in plays and movies.

Mr. Fillmore told some of his experiences during his portrayal of the "man who gave the dinner," in the play "The Man Who Came to Dinner" with Alexander Woolcott. He said that President and Mrs. Roosevelt attended the play the second night and invited them to supper afterward. Mrs. Fillmore played the role of the wife in the play.

The actor is now working in Hollywood in the part of "a fat old Chinaman" in the movie "Shanghai Gesture."

'Sky' and 'Telescope' Magazines Combined

The Sky magazine and the Telescope magazine joined together and are now putting out a joint magazine, Sky and Telescope. The first magazine was published by Charles and Helen Fedor of the Hayden planetarium staff. The second magazine was published by the Bond Astronomical club at Harvard.

It is now being published by Charles and Helen Fedor. This magazine carries many articles on astronomy and the beginner.

Teachers Visit

All prospective teachers who are planning to ask about practice teaching winter term should see Hugh M. Shafer, within the next ten days, as it is important that assignments be made before the beginning of next term. Mr. Shafer is in charge of practice teaching and may be reached in room 7, education building.

Prospective Teachers

The principals of teaching class, instructed by Hugh M. Shafer, visited the guidance department of Eugene high school and the new high school plant at Springfield this week. The trips were made as part of the field trip program of the class.

At its homecoming, Valparaiso university also celebrated inauguration of its new president, Otto Paul Kretzmann, and the fiftieth anniversary of its reorganization.

Blind for the last ten years, 26-year-old Frances Biery recently gave an organ recital at the University of Chicago.

Feminine enrollment in the University of Vermont engineering college is three, tripling that of last year.

Student Service Unit Opening Announced

International Student Service, through the office of personnel administration, announced Friday the opening of a Washington Student Service bureau.

Purpose of the new organization will be to provide students and faculty members, especially those in the social sciences, an opportunity to study at first hand the operations of the federal government. This will take the place of individual trips on the part of many thousands of students yearly to Washington, D. C., who seldom find what they seek.

The service will provide the following services: (1) it will aid students in collecting material on government for special studies, (2) it will give general information to individuals and groups of teachers or students, (3) it will conduct field trips, including tours of the capital city and sessions of the senate and house, and (4) it will hold conferences in Washington on topics of political, social, and economic interest.

Further information about the organization may be obtained by writing Molly Yard, secretary of the Washington Student Service bureau, 1155 N.W. Sixteenth street.

Campus Calendar

Order of O will meet Tuesday noon at the Kappa Sig house.

Heads of independent houses meet at 5 tonight in the Green Room of the College Side.

Student pacifist group will meet at the YMCA house tonight at 6:15.

Beta Gamma Sigma, business administration honorary, will meet Monday at 3:45 in 107 Commerce building.

Food Expert Talks

Dr. Mary Etta Eichelberger, educational director of the Evaporated Milk Institute in Chicago, will be a guest of the home economics department Tuesday.

Dr. Eichelberger will speak before home economics classes and faculty members and county health nurses at 4 p.m. in Chapman hall.

Her position is nutrition director, which is one of the three educational directors for the Evaporated Milk Institute.

IF YOU WERE THE PROF WHICH WOULD YOU RATE—

A NEATLY TYPED PAPER

OR A HANDWRITTEN ONE?

A WORD TO THE WISE

RENT A TYPEWRITER—PUT IT TO WORK

OFFICE MACHINERY & SUPPLY CO.

30 East 11th

Phone 148

LOW TRAIN FARES FOR THANKSGIVING

ON SALE

WED. NOV. 19

PORTLAND

$2.75 ROUNDTRIP

(Plus 14c Federal Tax, Total $2.89)

Lv. Eugene 12:15 P.M. or 4:15 P.M. Wednesday, November 19.

RETURNING

Special train leaves Portland, Sunday, November 23 at 6:30 P.M.

SPECIAL PARTY FARES

For parties of 15 or more traveling together.

	COACH	TOURIST (Plus Berch)
SAN FRANCISCO . . .	$13.80	$15.50
LOS ANGELES	22.30	25.05
KLAMATH FALLS . . .	5.05	5.65

(Federal Tax of 5% not included)

OREGON vs. WASHINGTON at Seattle, Nov. 22

Special low fares for 15 or more traveling together on train leaving Eugene 5:10 P.M. Friday, Nov. 21

ROUNDTRIP SEATTLE

COACH $6.75 COACH-TOURIST (Plus Berth) $9.25 (Federal tax of 5% not included)

Tickets and Information at Booth on 13th Street, between Oregon and Commerce Bldgs., or phone 2200.

Sponsored by

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS, UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

PHONE

in your orders early for your Thanksgiving dinner pastries.

We Have

Pumpkin and Mince Pies; and all the order cakes you wish.

Pete's Bakery

Phone 1194

1622 Olive