Cute Coed Friendly--UO Males Not Interested

What, oh what has happened to college spirit? Where are the good old days? Isn't there any friendship left in this dreary world? Can't a pretty girl even turn a male head any more? Where is the student conviviality of "ye olden dayes"?

Out of 10 men students approached by Margaret Brooke, pert, dark-haired, freshman girl, yesterday afternoon on "Hello Walk," two of them answered her "Hello," and the other eight looked at her as if she were an annoyance.

It was all part of a survey conducted by the Emerald to find out how closely students are observing some of the Homecoming traditions.

A cameraman was on hand to record the reactions of some of the students. In the 20 minutes between 1:50 p.m. and 2:10 p.m. he had taken three pictures, and they were posed for the occasion.

Jim Rathbun and his "Order of the O" men are patrolling the campus beginning Monday, November 24, and all offenders of Oregon traditions, including not speaking on "Hello walk," will be severely chastised at the noon "hit parades" on Fenton hall steps.

Constance Returns

Clifford L. Constance, assistant registrar, will return today from a vacation in Los Angeles. He arrived there after a meeting of collegiate registrars on November 8 to 10, in Santa Barbara, California.
