'O' Crew Starts Rule Monday

Hefty football arms will wield a maple paddle to play a tattoo upon the luckless ones who come within the grasp of Jim Rathbun and his Order of the "O" crew beginning Monday, November 24.

Each day at 12:30 those miscreants apprehended by the "O" stalwarts will present themselves on the steps of Fenton hall to receive their deserved punishment.

Says Rathbun: "Not even faculty members or girls will be exempted. Several professors were punished last year, and we'll be on the lookout for them again."

A complete list of traditions to be observed and areas of the campus that will be patrolled follows:

1. No walking on the grass between Kincaid street and University street, and Eleventh and Thirteenth.
2. Say "hello" to everyone met on "Hello Walk." This walk extends from Fenton hall past Deady to Villard.
3. Freshman girls must wear green ribbons in their hair.
4. Only seniors will be allowed to sit on the senior bench which faces the library behind Susan Campbell hall.
5. Freshman must wear their tin pants and rooters' lids.
6. No smoking on the old part of the campus. This is the area mentioned above.
7. Sophomores will wear either their moleskins or blue jeans.
