

Stith Thompson Talk Scheduled For Tuesday

Speaking under the auspices of the University lecture series, Stith Thompson, professor of English at the University of Indiana, is to talk on "The Modern Study of the Folk Tale" at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the faculty room at Friendly hall.

According to Rudolf G. Ernst, professor of English, Professor Thompson, "the most outstanding scholar in America whose interest lies in folk lore" has been secured to speak especially for students. There is no admission charge.

Professor Thompson, the author of many books on folk tales, was formerly on the faculty at Reed college, Colorado college, the University of Maine, and the University of Texas. He received his doctor's degree at Harvard.

While here, he will be a house guest of R. P. Bowen, head of the Romance language department.

Membership Deadline Set by Pot and Quill

Deadline for the current membership contest, sponsored by Pot and Quill, women's creative writing honorary, has been extended till November 25, the Tuesday after the Thanksgiving holidays. It was felt this would give prospective entrants an opportunity to secure manuscripts which might have been left at home.

First prize is $5 and additional membership prizes are being offered. Entries may be original plays, short stories or poems. If poetry is submitted, several selections should be included in the contribution.

Entries should be typed and unsigned. A sealed envelope, containing the name of the contributor, should accompany the manuscript. Written on the sealed envelope should be the name of the selection or selections submitted.

Contributions may be put in the Pot and Quill boxes to be found in the library, near the second floor map room, or in the Emerald news room. Pot and Quill members will also take entries.

AAA Gilchrist Trip Delayed Indefinitely

The architecture and allied art students' trip to Gilchrist, originally planned for last Saturday morning, was postponed because of bad road conditions between Eugene and Gilchrist due to heavy rains.

At present there are no definite plans to make the trip later this term, but such plans will probably be formed after the Thanksgiving holiday.

Emeralds Wanted

Students having issues of the Emerald for the dates of August 9, September 25, October 2, 3, 14, 15, or 24 are asked to bring them to the Emerald business office as soon as possible. Fred May, Emerald business manager, is eager to obtain the issues to complete his files.

AWS Auction Date Set Soon

The AWS auction, originally scheduled for November 13, and postponed because of rain, will take place in front of the Side as soon after the Thanksgiving vacation as the weather permits, according to Mary Louise Vincent, chairman of the committee.

Don Swink and Hal Kemp, auctioneers, will present over 100 lost and found articles for bidding. The collection has been growing in the lost and found department of the University post office for a year. It includes among other things pens, ever-sharps, bandanas, dark glasses, and hats. Books lead the list with an assortment of 41 on hand.

Mrs. Helen Bryant Gray, '40, is now living in Brooklyn, New York, at 55 92nd street.

Staff Member Joins Patients At Infirmary

That the Health Service really practices what it preaches was further proved this week when Mrs. Glenna Piper, receptionist in the dispensary, went upstairs to an infirmary bed for Thanksgiving, too.

Though all won't spend the holiday in the capsule camp, 18 others are listed now: Carolyn Cordon, Nancy Riesch, Margaret DeCou, Nancy Weston, Myra Pauline Fromme, Dorothy Manley, Lorraine Lewis, Alyce Peppion, Bob Petersen, Harold Morgan, Ernest Whipple, Robert C. Jackson, Fred Barker, John Daniels, Jerry Woodward, Mark Cooper, Richard Atiyeh, and Harold Brevig.

Miss Doris Jean Tamiesie, '39, and Frederick R. Findtner, '39, were married in Portland on June 22.

Streit's Idea Set in Motion

Clarence Streit's Union Now movement will be set in motion again Monday and Tuesday when George Hellyer, area representative for the movement, visits the campus.

The first step toward the formation of a Eugene chapter of Union Now was taken at a meeting held in Chapman hall shortly after Streit spoke at the University on his plan. At this meeting an executive committee was appointed for the organization of a Eugene chapter with Dean Victor Morris as temporary chairman.

Hellyer will assist in the actual formation of a local chapter of the movement and will discuss the aspects of the movement in a speech Monday evening at Chapman hall.
