'O' Hack List Accuses 33 Of Violations

By FRITZ TIMMEN

Thirty-one students and two professors are on the "list" to attend the Order of the "O" swing session as guests of honor this noon on the steps of Fenton hall.

Jim Rathbun, "O" president, compiled the list Monday and Tuesday, and has issued strict instructions to all tradition violators to appear for their punishment or receive an extra hack for each day they fail to appear.

"After the first day they don't show," Rathbun proclaimed, "the boys will be hot on their trail, and the punishment will be doubly stiff."

Don Kirsch, "O" secretary, is to be on hand to check off the names of the evildoers as they receive their just desserts. All guests of honor are expected to appear at 12:30, and hacking will begin five minutes later.

On Thursday the pool between Friendly hall and Deady will be filled and several girls who have failed to observe the rules will be ducked therein.

Because of no hacking on Tuesday the Order of the "O" Gestapo, as Jim Rathbun has named his crew, will hold a hit parade Thursday noon.

Following is a list of the violators summoned to appear this noon:

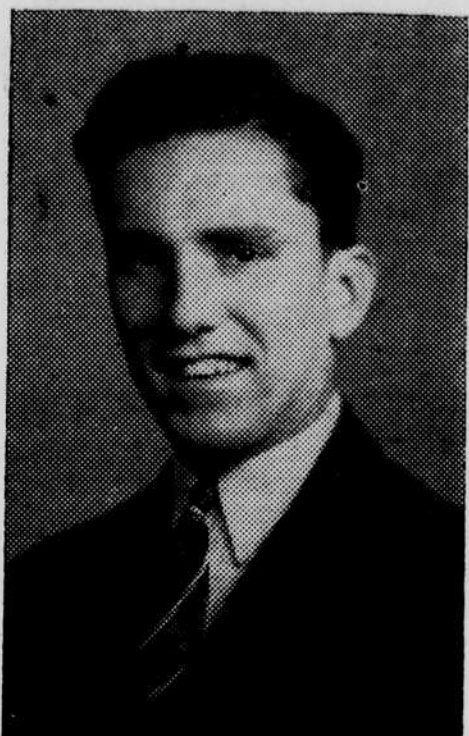

Ernest G. Moll, associate professor of English; Marvin A. Krenk, instructor in speech; Lou

OSC Game Tickets

Students may obtain exchange tickets for both the Oregon State game and Menuhin's concert at the booth in the corridor outside the educational activities office in McArthur court beginning at 8:30 this morning. Students must have exchange tickets in addition to their athletic cards in order to attend the game Saturday.

TNE HITTER

Steve Worth, independent leader, struck against the TNE Tuesday at the first meeting of the Independent Student association. 875 students were at the meeting which was held for the purpose of unifying and coordinating independent activities.

Coast Meet Elects Boyer As President

Dr. C. V. Boyer, dean of the college of arts and letters, was elected president of the Pacific Coast Philological association at a Stanford university meeting Saturday night.

According to Dr. R. P. Bowen, head of the Romance language department, "This is the first time in the history of the association that a president has been elected from the University of Oregon." Before this time they have been chosen from Stanford university, he said.

H. F. Frankel, Stanford, and Professor S. Griswold Morley, University of California, were elected vice-presidents, and Professor F. W. Strothman, Stanford, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Professor W. L. Schwartz, Stanford, was reelected president of the Pacific Coast Federation of Modern Languages associations. Professor H. L. Nostrand, University of Washington, was elected vice-president.

Canoe Fete Threatened By Flood-Drained Race

The Junior Weekend canoe fete on the millrace, 29-year-old University tradition, may be abandoned in 1942 for lack of water in the millrace, according to D. L. Lewis, superintendent of the physical plant.

During the recent flood in the Willamette river 70 feet of the millrace retaining wall at Judkins point washed out. With this gone the water has flowed from the millrace until it has almost drained and will soon be dry.

At present the owners of the millrace, the Eugene Excelsior mill and the woolen mills, do not plan to rebuild the wall until late May or early June when the river will be low.

Pat Cloud, junior class president, said that unless the millrace is repaired it will be difficult to stage a canoe fete, but that if a plan at all within reason can be worked out the canoe fete will take place.

The class president stated, "The wall may be repaired temporarily in order to make the fete possible if the cost of this is not too great. The financing of such repairs would have to come from private sources. But if it is at all possible there will be a canoe fete."

Architects will start work on the race in connection with the changes already planned after the first of the year, but it is very doubtful that this work can be finished in time for the fete.

This is the second time Jupiter Pluvius has played havoc with Junior Weekend plans. In 1911, when Ruth Gibson was elected the first Junior Weekend queen her coronation had to be cancelled because of rain.

Two Pledges Named

Johnnie C. Todd, Portland, was pledged by Pi Kappa Alpha, while Dave Gowans, also of Portland, was pledged by Chi Psi, reported the dean of men's office Tuesday.

Torgeson Beat In Political Bet; To Talk for ISA

A soap box located squarely between Oregon and Commerce building at 11 o'clock Friday morning will be the scene of one of the strangest political speeches ever delivered on the Oregon campus. Lou Torgeson, ASUO president, will be paying off a bet.

The bet, between Torgeson and Steve Worth, independent leader, concerned the number of independents who would turn out for the mass meeting last night. The one whose guess was the wilder by actual count of the door list agreed to make a public speech at the aforementioned spot, favoring his opponent's political connections.

After chewing his finger nails to the knuckle and composing several speeches Worth was happy to learn that he had won the bet. Torgeson is saving his comments for his speech Friday.

Dads' Weekend Petitions Due

Deadline for petitions for Dads' day and Love and Marriage chairmanships has been extended to 5 p.m. today, Lou Torgeson, ASUO president, announced Tuesday. The deadline was moved up because of vacations and the lack of Emeralds to publicize the petitioning.

Only one person has applied so far to be Dads' day chairman, and there have been no applications for the Love and Marriage series, Torgeson said.

If sufficient petitions are received by either Torgeson or Bette Morfitt, ASUO secretary-treasurer, the executive committee will interview candidates for the Dads' day position Thursday. He said there was a possibility that a part of the committee might interview candidates for the other chairmanship Thursday.

I Hope It's Sunny

I like the weather now-a-days
When autumn leaves are near.
Don't you feel the call of nature
When
The days are crisp and clear?
With temperature at 32
The trees bleak and forbidding,
I sit behind my cozy desk,
And wonder who I'm kidding.

Not Greeks, But Outlaws Flayed by ISA

By BOB FRAZIER
"TNE must go."

With these words Steve Worth, independent leader, last night lifted what might have been an ordinary pep meeting to an epochal spot in University political history.

In his opening address to the Independent Students' association in the Igloo, Worth made the first open attack against Theta Nu Epsilon, outlaw Greek letter society. Never before on the Oregon campus had the organization been mentioned openly. Other schools, however, have frequently brought the group out of the cellar to occupy a focal spot in political struggles.

Declaring that the organization was "not organized for the best interests of the students at large," Worth said that "We are not opposed to recognized Greek organizations," but that the new Independent Students' association was opposed to this "clique of selfish campus politicians."

Elections of ISA officers nominated last night will be held Tuesday. Nominees are:

For freshman representative: Fritz Giesecke, Audrey Holliday, Ralph Johnson, Harold Locke, and Bill Pilsbury.

For sophomore representative: Franky Nelson and Fritz Timmen.

For junior representative: Johnnie Kahananui, Elaine Lee, George Mosher, and Mildred Wilson.

For senior representative: Warren Phillips.

For representatives from the campus at large: Marvin Gorrie, Gerald Huestis, Milton Small, and Edwin Snyder.
