

Twenty Students Listed In College Who's Who

Ten men and ten women students were listed from the University for "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" by Virgil D. Earl, dean of men.

Preliminary lists of possible candidates were handed in to Dean Earl "by several responsible people" and it was up to him to condense these into the 20 requested names. The list, completed Wednesday, follows:

Women Named

Women: Rebecca (Becky) Anderson, senior representative on executive council; Ruth Hall, president of pan-hellenic council; Hope Hughes, Homecoming hostess, president, WAA; Bette Morfitt, secretary-treasurer of the ASUO; Janet Morris, co-chairman of the world student service fund; Lois Nordling '42, president of YWCA.

Nancy Riesch, president of Phi Theta Upsilon; Eleanor Sederstrom, member of disciplinary committee and co-op board; Jean Spearow, second vice-president of the ASUO; Elizabeth Steed, president of the AWS.

Men Listed

Men: George Andrews, president of interfraternity council; John Busterud, junior representative on executive council; James Frost, first vice-president of the ASUO; Russell Hudson, Homecoming chairman; Allan Hunt, secretary-treasurer for interfraternity council.

Five Relisted

In addition to those being included in the book for the first time this year, there are five University students who are being relisted from last year's edition, since they are still active on the campus. They are:

Theta Sigma Phi Pledges Eleven

Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalistic honorary, will meet at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house tonight at 7:30 p.m. for formal pledging, according to Pat Parker, president of the honorary.

Those girls who will be formally pledged are Betty Jane Biggs, Elsie Brownell, Mary Ann Campbell, Frances Cox, Mary Lois Dana, Ruby Jackson, Shirley Jacob, Corrine Nelson, Clarethel Roselund, Anna Mae Sullivan, and Mildred Wilson.

Pi Lambda Theta Plans Initiation and Banquet

Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary for women in education, will conduct initiation exercises Saturday evening at 6 o'clock in the alumni room of Gerlinger hall. Following initiation will be a banquet at Seymour's.

Visitors at the affair will be Miss Helen Olson of Seattle, national corresponding secretary, who will talk to the group at the banquet, and Miss Shannon Pettinger of Portland, a former national officer.

Holy Land Film Student Fare

"Journey to Jerusalem," by Maxwell Anderson, one of the most unusual sound movies ever produced, will be presented Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in the Chapman hall auditorium by the educational activities board.

Eminent dramatic authorities as well as church officials have praised this work highly. The acting is of outstanding quality, performed by some of the greatest showpeople of the stage. The movie is the first of a series of "Theater on Film" productions and is an exact reproduction of the original play, recorded on film. The dialogue, cast, costumes, and scenery are identical with those used originally in the National theater performance in New York.

The film will have three continuous showings each afternoon. Wednesday it will begin at 2, 3:30, and 5 p.m. Thursday's showings will be at 4, 5:30, and 7 p.m. The performances are free to students who show their educational activity cards.

Another showing of the film will take place Wednesday evening at the Methodist church at 7:30. It will be sponsored by the Wesley club and admission will be 55 cents.

Hospital Hails Weekenders

Homecoming festivities presented few cases for the pill packers at the student health service, but one of the Sunday patients was a zealously school-spirited grad. Having tried a bit of Beaver blitzing on his own, Thomas McKelvy, class of '40, presented a mutilated eye for treatment. He tritely remarked, "You should have seen the other guy."

Infirmary residents Monday were: Erling Erlandson, John MacDougall, Robert Swartz, Cornelia Walter, Peggy Gardner, Marilyn Woodruff, Edward Nulty, William Clayson, Willard Wilson, Cecil Warner, Elmer Hanscam, Thomas Duffy, John Alden, Richard Clarey, and Dick Larkin.

Stetson Chosen Representative

F. L. Stetson, professor of education, was reelected to the committee of higher institutions to represent the state of Oregon, and to the executive committee of the association of secondary and higher schools at the twenty-fifth annual meeting held last weekend in Salt Lake City at the University of Utah.

Mr. Stetson was also made chairman of the committee on forms to be used in the accrediting of higher institutions at the meeting.

He reported a very successful convention with over 400 representatives present.

Staters' Band Stymies Self In Street Maze

The OSC band, which heralds the coming of the mighty Beavers when they take their famous football trips, got lost Saturday, and they were only 40 miles from home.

The band led a parade of rallying Staters from the railway station up Willamette and down Eleventh and Thirteenth to the campus. At Thirteenth and Kincaid they paused a moment, flipped a mental coin, and turned south on Kincaid. Soon they hit a dead end in front of the education building.

By that time they were bewildered. So the parade broke up, and the Beaver band walked, did not run, but walked, across the campus to Hayward field and the game.

Police Officers Leave Campus

After a weeks' schooling 57 police officers from Oregon cities returned to their homes Saturday night leaving the University of Oregon campus comparatively unprotected.

Each received a certificate from Earl Snell, secretary of state, after passing examinations in courses sponsored by the Oregon Association of Police Officers and the bureau of municipal research, and administered by the FBI with J. D. Swenson, head of the Portland office in charge.

Classes in various types of investigation, traffic safety, use of firearms, and fingerprints were all part of the curriculum followed by the "student" cops. Laboratory sessions, moving pictures, and demonstrations were also in the program.

The examination was given

Students Must Petition To Move From Dorms

Persons wishing to move from the dormitories must file petitions to that effect in the office of Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed, director of dormitories, before December 5.

Petitions are available in Mrs. Turnipseed's office in Straub Memorial hall. After they are properly returned they will be passed upon by the housing committee, and the student will receive notification by mail.

"If a petition is not filed and passed upon," Mrs. Turnipseed explained, "the student will not be permitted to move from the dormitory."

Saturday morning. The "star-wearers" took the afternoon off to see the game, having been granted admission upon presentation of their badges. A banquet was held Saturday evening at Seymour's restaurant where Snell presented the awards.
