Yes, we know you didn't get any sleep last night, or the night before, and only four hours during the weekend, but you don't have to take it out on the rest of us who go to bed with the chickens and get up with the 8 o'clock whistle.

Professors are liable to remember names of recent nappers also, and not give you the benefit of the doubt if you are on the borderline between a C and a D. Try getting enough sleep so you can at least impress them by staying awake in their classes and impress the rest of us by being able to smile without hurting yourself in the effort.

When you wonder why Susie PhiBete wasn't too enthusiastic about looking up all the term's assignments in Modern Europe for you the other day when she was trying to study in the lib, just try to answer a bunch of questions yourself some evening when you're trying to make sense out of an econ assignment.

You know the old saying, "Whatever ye would that others should do unto you, etc. . . ."

And, don't try to borrow our class notes because we think that's as nery as borrowing your roommate's best dress to wear to class. We strained our ears and cramped our fingers in our efforts to hear the lecture and write down everything worthwhile . . . while you wrote letters home or read the morning Emerald. If you don't have any notes maybe your self-confidence will pull you through.

And remember when you're cramming until the wee sma' hours . . . it's the midnight snack that adds the calories.

Cramming Doesn't Help Says New PhiBete Coed

By MARJORIE MAJOR

Caught in the flurry of getting dressed for last night's Phi Beta banquet, Avis Marie Klemme, who is the University's leading girl "brain," had several bits of frantically needed information on how to cool a quiz.

"I have seldom done more than two hour sstudying a day, and
"I have seldom done more than two hours studying a day, and

"Studying is easier if you do it during the term instead of the last two weeks, and if you make up your mind what is important about a course and what is non-essential, it's easier to review," she said seriously, not realizing that everybody knows that now, when it's too late.

Likes Funnies

Hardly the student's idea of a Phi Bete, Avis is blue-eyed and brown-haired with a charming grin. She follows Li'l Abner and Little Henry in the funny papers with fervor and confesses to a better than average roller-skating skill.

She admits that she "didn't even know they were having the elections" and that when she was notified was the one time she "couldn't think of any answers."

Ambitions

This poised senior would like to teach English in a university or work in a university library when she graduates. She remembers her four year University career as a time when "I just began to learn all the things I want to know."

Bentley helps defense in plaid rose suit and blue hat . . . Mollie Jean Maison dazzles the army in green velveteen. Her sparkling earrings make it tops in style. . . . Mary Esther Green and Sue Sawyer are savin' their new silver lame dresses 'til Christmas.

Flashy Garb Sported By Campus Gals

That there's more than one way to "Blitz the Beavers" became apparent when smooth looking Oregon coeds caught Oregon States' glances at the game and dance. . . .

Leone Spaulding gets her signals straight in a flashy red greatcoat . . . swell for games. . . . Heten Angell, the nearest thing to a Powers model in a brown and beige suit and hat that she wears to cheer Oregon. . . . Who was wearing that wonderful mustard colored bonnet with a beige coat . . . Jeannette Torney cheers between cokes while wearing a light brown Teddie Bear coat with a bright red lining. Looks swell with her blond hair . . . Annabelle Dow looks new and different in her steel grey Teddie Bear coat with matching dress and felt hat. . . Goldie Puziss' brown coat with a lynx died fox collar keeps her snug . . . Carolyn Holmes takes Oregon State's eye in her white Teddie Bear coat. It has loud red lapels and is plenty cute . . . Seen . . . one salmon pink coat and matching hat with black band . . .

Woody Hite and white wools make a good looking dance combination. . . .
