

War Emergency Opens Teaching Positions

Owing to the present emergency, there is great demand for athletic coaches, according to the teacher placement service maintained by the school of education. Commercial teachers and music instructors also seem to be needed, possibly because of the defense positions which are now being filled.

More vacancies were open for teachers last year than ever before. During the 1941 fiscal year, almost five times as many experienced Oregon education alumni sought promotions as had the previous year.

Out-of-State Too

Out-of-state positions are also becoming more available. One-third more such teaching posts were reported registered at the placement bureau than previously.

Demand for teachers of one subject is comparatively small. Most of the positions open ask for a knowledge of three or more subjects. Positions most frequently called for were: physical education, English, social science, commerce, and music.

Favorite Subjects

The most frequent subject combinations requested were: physical education with social science, English, or commerce; English with music or commerce. Leading activities mentioned were: athletics, dramatics, and music.

Students interested in securing more information of this type are asked to refer to the placement bureau's annual report.

UW Favored

(Continued from page four)

junior, gets the other opening nod.

Fighting fire (speed) with fire (speed), Hobby will have his two lightning-quick guards, Porky Andrews and Paul Jackson, start the contest. This should insure a race-horse series, typically Washington vs. Oregon.

Besppectacled Bob Lindh and Doug Ford, tall sophomore star, appear as sure-fire starters at forward, 6-foot 4-inch, 205-pound Chuck Gilmur at center, and diminutive Norm Dalthorp and speedy Bill Morris, at guards.

An open house will be held by Westminster house after the basketball game this evening.

Gerlinger Trap Council Rules

(Continued from page one)

Dr. Taylor, who is head of the psychology department and associate dean of the graduate division. "Thursday, at the suggestion of Dr. Pallett and the defense council, Dean Onthank ordered the balcony closed off, since there was not likely to be a large enough audience to fill both floors."

Both Dr. Pallett and Dr. Taylor pointed out that the crowded balcony and narrow stairways make Gerlinger a veritable "fire-trap."

"I am of the opinion," said Dr. Pallett, "that no more large student gatherings should be held in the Gerlinger gymnasium. Besides the dangers of panic and congestion during a fire or air raid as a reason for the change, it is much easier and equally inexpensive to set up for an assembly in McArthur than in Gerlinger as the chairs are already there."

Before, the chairs had to be moved from the Igloo to the women's building before each assembly. It will take little preparation to make ready for a McArthur assembly.

Problem Scanned

"The defense council will hold another meeting next week," said Dr. Taylor, "to go into the Gerlinger problem more deeply. We will probably decide at that meeting or subsequent weekly meetings the problems of dances in the gymnasium and routine use of the hall as a gymnasium."

The council, reported Dr. Taylor, will probably go into the possibilities of other fire or air raid dangers on the campus at their weekly meetings. This particular type of problem comes under the jurisdiction of the committee on communications and utilities, headed by Dr. Will V. Norris, professor of physics. This committee has general charge of campus buildings.

In the air raid plan of the campus, Gerlinger hall is part of section "E," which is under the supervision of Dr. Paul B. Means, head of the department of religion, and Clifford Stalsberg, University cashier.

In Dr. Henry D. Sheldon's "History of the University of Oregon," the building is described as a "two-story structure, 300 by 100 feet, located off University street on a slight elevation above the women's dormitories. The west wing contains the recitation rooms and offices of the women's department of physical education, the central portion consists of the main floor of a large room for aesthetic dancing and gymnastics, a room for many years also needed for University assemblies."

Built in 1920-21

The total cost of the building was in the neighborhood of $300,000, much of which was raised by Mrs. George Gerlinger, who served on the board of regents from 1914 to 1929. It was erected in 1920-21 at about the same time as the commerce building, Susan Campbell hall, and the school of education group, which includes

Panel Draws Talk of Future

"The World We Want Tomorrow" was discussed last night by students and faculty members in the first of a series of student forums on current affairs.

A panel of five faculty members, under Charles G. Howard, professor of law, led off in the discussion. Faculty members and their subjects follows:

Waldo Schumacher, professor of political science, "Basic Causes Leading to the Present Crisis;" Calvin Crumbaker, professor of economics, "Inside the U. S. A.;" Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration, "Across Our Borders;" the Rev. E. X. Bartlam, rector of the St. Mary's Episcopal church, "Values to Live By."

Following these discussions, eight University students of "more than average ability" led a student discussion. They were Don Treadgold, Earl Holmer, Ger-

University high school.

Members of the University defense council, who were chiefly responsible for the change-over, are:

Dr. Taylor, chairman; Dr. Chandler B. Beall, professor of romance languages; Dr. Albert E. Caswell, head of the department of physics; Charles M. Hulten, associate professor of journalism; Col. Robert M. Lyon, head of the military department; Karl W. Onthank, dean of personnel administration; Dr. Earl M. Pallett, executive secretary and registrar; William P. Riddlesbarger, associate professor of business administration; Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the departments of geology and geography; and Miss Mabel Wood, head of the department of home economics.

OREGON EMERALD

Copy Desk:
Jim Banks, desk editor
Ruth Jordan
Fritz Timmen
Carol Greening
Joanne Dolph

Night Staff:
Jack Billings, night editor
Marjorie Young, assistant
Ted Bush
Marilyn Wiley
Pat Farrell
G. Duncan Wimpres
Hal Olney

ald Huestis, John Cavanagh, Hope Hughes, Janet Morris, Gene Brown, and Ann Reynolds.

Discussion from the audience followed this. Chapman auditorium was about three-quarters full. A series of study groups will be instituted next week in the YMCA house to supplement the forums.

McDONALD

A BEST SELLER
How Green Was My Valley
with Walter Pidgeon
and Maureen O'Hara
— also —
Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville in
'Miss Polly'

HEILIG

A WESTERN EPIC
'Outlaws of Cherokee Trail'
with The Three Musketeers
— also —
Weaver Brothers and Elviry in
'Arkansas Judge'

1st
BEAT UNIVERSITY of
WASHINGTON
2nd
GO TO Robinson's
550 East 13th
MALTS
SHAKES
SANDWICHES
FOUNTAIN

REX
A THREE-STAR CAST!
Fred McMurray, Erroll Flynn, Ralph Bellamy in
'Dive Bomber'
— also —
'Pittsburgh Kid'
with Billy Conn and Jean Parker

MAYFLOWER
ELEVENTH AT ALDER
A COMEDY HIT!
Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy in
'Look Who's Laughing'
with Fibber McGee and Molly

National Defense Committees
Special Milk for Health
SPECIAL CAMPUS SERVICE
EUGENE FARMERS' CREAMERY
558 Olive St. Phone 638

After the Game—
Get Your • Milkshake
• Sundae
• Soda
• Sandwich
• at the
LEMON-O
Cor. 13th and Alder
"Doc" Ireland, Prop.

Dinner Dancing
with
ART HOLMAN
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
"It Brings You Fun and Relaxation"
Eugene Hotel
222 E. Broadway Phone 2000
DINING ROOM AND COFFEE SHOP

Western Thrift Stores
TOILETRIES
REMEDIES
CIGARS
804 Willamette and 917 Willamette
HINDS' HONEY AND ALMOND LOTION
Regular fifty-cent size for Twenty-five Cents