Huskies Rake UO,

OREGON Soil, EMERALD

VOLUME XLIII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1942

NUMBER 56

'Mice and Men' Raises Curtain

Lights Used To Intensify Drama Mood

By MARJORIE MAJOR

Five curtain calls, tributes to a superlative, honest portrayal of a great play, marked last night's opening of "Of Mice and Men" with the plaudits which its directing, acting, and settings deserve.

University audiences have seldom seen so direct, brutal and uplifting a portrayal of human friendship and sacrifice as the Guild players offered last night. Individual performances cannot be segregated for excellence. The players' finished, restrained interpretations left little or nothing to be wished.

Lighting

Various techniques, particularly that of a swinging lamp, the sound of frogs in the distance, and the remarkable imitation of sunlight deserve special notice. Lighting all through the play was used to intensify mood very effectively.

The settings themselves - a river bank, bunkhouse, and the interior of a barn—were designed by Director Horace Robinson. Combined with lighting that was stark and different, the sets gave a feeling of realism that was almost startling at times.

Jerry Lakefish as George does what is perhaps the best work of his University career. Robert Stedman gives a fresh, pathetic interpretation of Lennie. The old man, Candy, is convincing and

(Please turn to page eight)

Cuthbert Gives Services To U.S.

The services of Fred A. Cuthbert, associate professor of land architecture and campus planner, have been loaned to the federal government to be a technical consultant on architectural planning for military and civilian development areas under construction or proposed, according to President Donald M. Erb.

This new position will not occupy all of Mr. Cuthbert's time as he is only working on a parttime basis in assisting the government in planning in Portland, Astoria, Corvallis, and Medford or wherever he is assigned.

This act is part of the University's program of cooperation for service to the nation.

Social Calendar

... See Page 3

ISA Senate Plans Action

First meeting of the ISA senate to organize standing committees and outline a plan of action for the future will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in 207 Chapman, according to Milton Small, senate president.

The most important immediate action, Small said, will be to formulate a list of independent students interested in participating in campus activities.

Groups of 20

Possibility of organizing groups of 20 independent students not affiliated with living organizations who may also send representatives to the senate will be considered.

The standing committees to be appointed at this meeting will include the activity committee and a subcommittee under it to keep in contact with the ASUO and executive committee, and a group to commence organization of unaffiliated independents.

Members

Senate members are: Alpha hall, Edgar Lewis, Norman Mannheimer; Campbell club, George Mosher, Stan Weber; Canard club, John Cram, Eugene Newberry; Gamma hall, Minor Brady, Bill Belt; Kirkwood co-op, Al Larsen, Harold Brevig; Omega hall, Jerry Winkler, Bill Pillsbury; Sherry Ross hall, Johnny Kahananui, George Schade.

Sigma hall, Ty Hutchins, Dick Bennett; Yeomen, Erwin Snyder, Bob Rockstein, Max Brown; Zeta hall, Warren Applewhite, Ted Hallock; Hendricks hall, Jean Spearow, Bernice Gay, Mary Reimers, Evelyn Nockelby; Hilyard house, Janet Wagstaff, Ruth Foreman; Orides, Alene Gardner, Margery Pengra, Audrey Lynds;

(Please turn to page eight)

Not members of a furnace storing gang but artists in the process of creation are Lynn Alexander (right) and Thomas Hardy, pottery makers. A display of their ceramic work is now on display in Portland. About 70 pieces are in the collection which are the result of two years of work at the University.

Pottery Artists Happy Over Ceramic Display

By EDITH NEWTON

Lynn Alexander and Thomas Hardy, both seniors in art, are feeling very happy this week that their display of pottery, the results of two years of work at the University, will open as a two-man show at the Ceramics studio in Portland on January 19.

About 70 pieces of their work will be shown, each having approximately 35 pieces in the display. Much of the work is terra cotta. They explained that terra cotta is work made of ground baked clay mixed with fresh clay to make a rough surface and give opportunity for gréater glaze varieties. Using this method they have in the display a variety of surfaces varying from rough to very fine.

"We have done all the firing and glazing on this work ourselves," Alexander explained. For this reason they will be able to display the work as their own instead of as a class project.

Miss Avakian

Miss Victoria Avakian, associate professor of applied design, (Please turn to page eight)

Soph Team Shows Push In Last Half

By LEE FLATBERG

"Hec" Edmundson's baskethungry Huskies rode rough shod over a hapless Oregon Duck last. night in a foul-infested hoop brawl, 60 to 34. Two very conscientious officials called the astounding total of 38 personal fouls and one technical to slow down what usually turns into a scoring race between the two ancient rivals.

The two teams will play again tonight at 8 in the Igloo.

Sophs Pave

But the real story of the game was an alert, driving sophomore team that came into the game in the second half to give the northerners a tough time.

The sophs entered the battle with a 38 to 18 score facing there and played a whale of a game before the varsity entered the fray again, and left the struggle with the score at 46 to 22.

They entered the game again with five minutes to go and fell short but one basket of keeping up with the invaders on the scoreboard.

Norm Ford

Norm Ford, a stocky sophomore from Washington, took over scoring honors, tossing in six buckets and three fouls for 15 points. He was pressed by two of

(Please turn to page five)

Registration Feels Pinch Of Wartime

Figures once more were spotlighted in the news Friday with the first announcement of registration figures since the campus blackout caused by Oregon's much-censored "silver thaw."

Friday's cumulative total at 5 p.m. was 2986, 14 short of 3000 and a 13 per cent decrease over last winter term for the same number of days since registra-

Figures Released

Figures released by Clifford L. Constance, assistant registrar. showed that by Thursday night. the ninth day of classes, the total was 2964, compared to last year's total, on the ninth day, of 3404. The cumulative total for last. winter term was 3476. During the fall term of this school year 3444 students were enrolled at the University. Of these 1996 were men and 1448 were women.

Last winter term, on the fifth day of classes, there were 1722 men, compared to 1605 on last Saturday, when the last recapitulation was made. This shows a 7 per cent decrease of men students. At the same time last year there were 1145 women enrolled,

(Please turn to page eight)

30 Cents an Hour

The dorms pay thirty-five an

The headlines shriek, but without tact.

If I'd been paying thirty cents, If I'd been doing such an act,

I'd spend my time in silent mood And trying to hush up the fact. -J.W.S.