Miss Garnett Airs Series

Miss Maude Garnett, assistant professor of public school music, will lead a series of broadcasts on public school music over KOAC on Wednesday afternoons at 2 p.m., starting the second Wednesday in February.

The program, titled "Children Are Musical," will consist of model classes for one and two-room schools. A one-room school of sixteen pupils will be in the studio for the broadcast and music for each grade will be demonstrated. Each lesson will contain singing, playing, listening, creating, and rhythms, stressing musical activity rather than listening. Miss Garnett will be assisted by her advanced class in public school music.

Teachers of one and two-room schools will be furnished with guidance programs and will carry out the programs demonstrated.

Miss Garnett will be in La Grande on Saturday, January 17, at the College of Education to conduct a clinic on public school music for every grade.

These courses will be offered fall term as well. The summer courses are merely being offered for those students who wish to get a head start. Dr. Caswell said.

Webfoot Campus Goes Slightly Cosmopolitan

By RUTH JORDAN

Twenty-eight states, four territories, and four foreign countries are represented on the University of Oregon campus.

A recent survey of the figures from the registrar's office show that there is one student registered from each Cuba, England, Korea, and Poland.

The territories are represented by 3 from Alaska, 25 from Hawaii, 1 from the Philippine islands, and 7 from Canada.

Cal Leads

Twenty-eight states, including the District of Columbia, are the home addresses of students, with California leading with 444, and Washington next with 100. Those listed from other states follow:

Colorado 4, Connecticut 2, District of Columbia 2, Idaho 36, Illinois 5, Iowa 1, Louisiana 1, Maryland 1, Massachusetts 1, Missouri 2, Montana 19, Nebraska 4, Nevada 3, New Hampshire 1, New Jersey 3.

New York

New York 4, North Dakota 2, Ohio 6, Pennsylvania 2, South Dakota 2, Texas 4, Utah 4, Vermont 1, Wisconsin 2, Wyoming 2.

Of the total registration of 3444 in the University there are 2741 students from Oregon, and about 5 per cent from other states and countries.

Twenty students are registered from Corvallis.

Costume Ideas Grow As 'Beaux' Ball Nears

The Beaux Arts ball, traditional celebration of the art school has been set for January 30, according to Woody Ichihashi, president of the Architecture and Allied Arts league. Glenn Westfall, sophomore in architecture, has been named chairman of the dance.

The ball will be a costume affair and all art students and their friends are invited. The place of the dance has not yet been announced.

Former UO Students Substitute on Libe Staff

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Caverhill will leave the library staff this week for Berkeley to obtain certificates in the school of librarianship at the University of California. Mr. Caverhill has been in charge of the open shelf reserve and Nash room; Mrs. Caverhill worked in the periodical department.

Two University of Oregon graduates, Mrs. Frances Schroeder Newsom and Miss Reta Ridings will substitute for them. Both have worked in the reference and periodical rooms here before. Miss Ridings, who is on leave of absence from the reference library of the University of Wyoming at Laramie, will also take graduate work here.

Honorary Shows Film

University students and townspeople will be given a chance to "brush up" on European history since World War I, Thursday and Friday, January 22 and 23 when Mortar Board stages its benefit show "The Last Frontier" at Chapman hall.

The film shows the rise of Japan, Italy, and Germany after the first world war and the United States part in the world conflict. Funds received will be turned over to Bundles for Britain and Bundles for Bluejackets, naval relief organization.

Showing time is from 4 to 10 p.m. on Thursday and from 3 to 6 p.m. on Friday. Admission price is 10 cents for students and 25 cents for others.

Dean Morse Returns to UO

Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school, who is arbitrating a longshoremen's dispute at San Francisco, is expected to return to the campus this morning.

Dean Morse was recently named as a member of the 12-man war labor board created by executive order of President Roosevelt. He expects to teach his courses at the law school this quarter. His plans after that are indefinite. It is possible that he may take a leave of absence for the spring term.

Oregon Band Plans Concert

The University concert band will give its first concert of this year in the music auditorium Sunday, January 25. The concert is open to the public.

Featured soloist will be Margery Williams, bassoonist, who will play the Rondo from Weber's Bassoon Concerto. Miss Williams twice received first ratings in the National Regional solo contests, is a member of the Portland Symphony orchestra, and is a junior at the University.

Also on the program will be Haydn's "Military" symphony, a light-hearted work so named because of the solo drum rolls that occur in the work, not because of any particular military character.

Shots Here and There

flawlessly under the bucket. He figured Oregon was off in shooting, while Washington was on, and that Saturday night would see a much tougher, tighter game.

The Huskies speak of their winning streak which was extended to thirteen straight games last night, only in hushed tones. Bill Morris, driving first string guard, starting to comment on this unblemished record, was promptly soft-pedaled from all sides. That ever-lengthening string is evidently considered as something quite fragile and not for general comment.

Huskies' Shots Lethal

Sharing the spotlight with the much-publicized Husky speed, was the deadliness of the Washington one-handed shots. Time and again the Purple and Gold sharpshooters from Seattle way pumped in long one-handed loopers from a seemingly off-balanced stance.

Tough luck dogged the Ducks' footsteps throughout the tilt. They were "all thumbs" when it came to handling the ball and many of their shots were of the tantalizing "in-and-out" variety. It was an "off night" for our Webfoots.

Oregon's sophs turned in a good showing against the Huskies, slowing down their scoring rate. All five of them—Wren, Christensen, Newland, Maynard, and Lloyd Jackson—carried the fight to Washington during their stay in the game.

May Reveals New Ad Men

Organization of a layout staff for the advertising department of the Emerald was announced Friday night by Fred O. May, business manager. Helen Rayburn, sophomore in architecture and allied arts, will be layout manager.

Staff members are Don Dill, Frankie Cecil, Chuck Politz, James Magee, Genelyn Gaston, Marilyn Woodruff, and Johnny Kahananui.

The new staff started work Friday, May said, after what he called "speedy and efficient organization" by Betty Jane Biggs, advertising manager, and Miss Rayburn. Present members of the staff will continue in their capacities throughout the term, May said, until the "usual spring reorganization."

The regular winter term free banquet for members of the Emerald business staff is planned for Thursday night, January 22, at Seymour's cafe. Students who have worked last term or this term on the business staff are eligible to attend, May said, if they notify him of their intention to come.

Shackrats Stuff

Members of the Emerald news, editorial, and sports staffs will have their winter term luncheon Thursday noon, Helen Angell, editor, announced last night. Place will be announced later.

Persons who have worked regularly on the Emerald are invited to attend, if they sign in the Emerald news room.
