

Splashes On . . . Chuck Weitzel

By ERLING ERLANDSON
PANAMA CITY, PANAMA,
 July 4, 1923—An overflow crowd stood mentally lost today as 21/2-year-old Charles Weitzel splashed over the 10-foot course to victory in this city's annual baby swim.

Time marches on!
 CORVALLIS, ORE., Feb. 7, 1942—Chuck Weitzel, Lemon and Green swim star, won the backstroke and 50-yard freestyle events at today's swim meet between Oregon and Oregon State.

What Happened
 What happened to C. S. Weitzel in those a-thrill-a-minute years between 1923 and 1942?

Well, during those years this lad, now popularly referred to as "The Face," competed in swim meets in China, in the Philippines, in Honolulu, in New York, in California, and in Texas. Before coming to Oregon this year he attended Compton junior college in California and the University of Texas.

During those years he gathered up the southern California interscholastic individual medley and 50-yard freestyle records. And last year he was awarded the 50-yard all-Texas freestyle championship.

Best Spirit Here
 Quote from this world traveler: "Of all the places I've swam, they have the most swimming spirit here at the University of Oregon."

It was with his father, a graduate of West Point and now a naval commander, that Chuck wandered about the globe.

Last summer "The Face" was a life guard at one of Honolulu's palm-bedecked beaches . . . Hobby: jitterbugging, et cetera. Chuck wants to swim the 50 in 23 seconds flat. He's said to get 12 hours of sleep a night.

"C.S." hasn't smoked yet but will light up a cigar when he becomes 21 (March 7). Figures show that Chuck, whose physical measurements are 6 feet and 190 pounds, has taken part in 33 auto mishaps during the past two years.

Time and Chuck Weitzel march on!

Hobson Yanks Four Starters From Lineup

Drastic steps were taken in the Duck camp this week when Coach Howard Hobson in an effort to find a winning combination, benched four first stringers and indicated he would continue to shift men till he found a successful unit. The shakeup followed on the heels of the Oregon State victory over the Ducks, 50 to 39, in which Oregon failed to measure up to its potentialities.

Only diminutive Paul Jackson, capable guard, remained as a regular with the other four who opened against the Beavers being relegated to the seconds. This means that demotions were in order for Captain George Andrews, Bob Wren, Warren Taylor, and Archie Marshik.

No Lineup Named

No combinations have definitely been named by the Webfoot mentor as things were still in the experimental stage. Taylor was showing up quite well Tuesday, looking more like he did earlier in the season.

The Igloo was closed tighter than a "drum," as the Ducks ran through their secret practice.

Determination was not lacking in any way, as the Ducks show more fight now than at the start of the season. That the pennant race is far from over is one fact of which the Oregon varsity is certain. Though the Webfoots have five losses against three wins, that is only one more defeat than the other teams have.

Ducks Drop Three

Conquering of the jinx which has administered three straight reversals will also be the aim of the Ducks who will be lowering their sights on their old rivals, the Beavers this weekend. It will be the final Oregon State series of the year for Oregon and opens at Corvallis Friday. The following night the two outfits clash again at the Igloo in the Dads' day feature.

Second-Half Duckling Explosion Blasts Springfield Cagers, 52-30

Frosh Attack Paced By Crowell, Popick

By HARRY GLICKMAN

It took the Oregon Frosh a long time to start hitting the hoop, but when they found the range in the second half, they started pouring in buckets from all angles and rolled up a 52 to 30 casaba win over the Springfield Millers on the latter's floor last night.

The Ducklings held but a 21 to 17 halftime lead, finding it difficult to get their offense rolling on the small Springfield high floor.

Popick Sparks

Al Popick kept the Frosh in the ball game in the first quarter, sinking two field goals and a free throw which, together with a basket by Bob Erlandson, accounted for Oregon's 7 to 5 lead at the end of the period.

Oregon stretched its lead to 19 to 9 in the second quarter, and then Springfield got hot to dwindle the lead to four points at halftime.

Roy Seeborg started things rolling in the second half with a field goal and freethrow, while Tom Williams sank a bucket for the Millers to make the score 24 to 19.

At this point Oregon really got hot, and held Springfield without

Mumps, Measles Hang on at Palace

In spite of rumors that measles have vanished from the infirmary, another case has been reported. Two cases of the mumps are also stubbornly hanging on.

BENCHED

Warren Taylor, Webfoot forward, was benched last night by Coach Hobby Hobson along with three other regular starters—Porky Andrews, Archie Marshik, and Bob Wren—as the Ducks prepared for Oregon State's second Igloo invasion this Saturday. Paul Jackson, guard, is the only regular starter left in the lineup.

Alpha, Zeta, Gamma Win Hoop Battles

The McArthur court floor shook Saturday to the tread of six dorm teams opening their own basketball league. In the curtain raiser Alpha hall was not troubled with last second baskets, as they ran up a commanding lead early to outdistance Sherry Ross, 26 to 16. Uke Paris potted 10 for the winners and Bob Faw hit eight for the defeated Rossmen.

The second tilt gave Gamma hall a 30 to 10 win over a combination Sigma-Alpha club. In the finale, Omega succumbed to too much Reynolds with a little Olts thrown in. They lost to Zeta hall, 34 to 22. Walt Reynolds and

Idaho Thumps Washington, 39-32, Dumps Husky Cagers in Third Spot

Washington's one-day of roosting atop the Northern division basketball pile with Washington State ended in Moscow last night, as Idaho's Vandals, reeking of the cellar, rose up to clobber the Huskies, 39 to 32.

Idaho's win dragged the Huskies down into a technical third place, behind Washington State and Oregon State, with idle Oregon sandwiched between Hec Edmondson's quintet and the cellar-dwelling Vandals.

Idaho dusted off its old "slow-down" attack and avenged the 44-to-37 beating administered by the Huskies Monday night.

With Steele operating the main Vandal battery, the Moscow five retired at halftime with an 11-point lead over their adversaries, 24 to 13.

Washington managed to bore into that advantage as the second half got underway, but faltered and was dealt a crushing blow, when Chuck Gilmur, high-scoring center, was benched midway in that period with four personal fouls posted against him.

From then on, the Vandals had things their own way, and the Huskies waltzing along with them.

Steele of Idaho marched off with scoring honors, grabbing 11 of the Vandals' 39 points.
