

ISA Schedules Activity Insight

Members of the Independent Students association, under the leadership of Milton Small, president, are scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. Monday in 1 Johnson hall for the purpose of checking on the student activity file which is being prepared by senate members.

Jane Huston, Margery Pengra, and Stan Weber are on the committee to arrange for the compilation of activity file data gathered.

An attempt will be made, according to Small, to get suggestions for possibilities of forming new groups of 20 unaffiliated independent students who may wish to send one representative for each group so organized to the senate.

A number of students who are interested in this plan have already approached Small, and an effort will be made to consolidate them.

A discussion of ISA policy will also be held, Small said.

Coast Guard Offers Ratings in Air Corps

In order to keep 'em flyin', the U. S. coast guard air corps is offering coast guard ratings as aviation machinist's mates, second and third class, and aviation metalmiths, second and third class, to men with previous aviation mechanic experience.

Men between the ages of 17 and 35, in good physical condition, are eligible. Those interested are asked by H. J. Bourt, recruiting officer, to see the officer in charge of the coast guard recruiting substation, room 301 Pioneer post office, Portland, Oregon. Presentation of documentary proof of experience is desirable.

Those accepted for three-year enlistment will be eligible for flight pay and will participate in frequent flights.

The recruiting officer also reiterated in his recent announcement that men between the ages of 18 and 30 are needed as apprentice seamen in the U. S. maritime service. "After a seven months' training course at Port Hueneme, California, they are ready to put to sea and help insure a steady flow of the materials we need to win the war," his bulletin said.

and gives the Beavers greater height.

The second outfit is considerably smaller, but possesses more speed. It is composed of Mandic, Dement, Durdan, and Lew Beck, sophomore speedster, and George McNutt, dark-haired Californian who hit for nine points against the Ducks. Alternating between the groups was Paul Valenti, deadly long-shot artist.

Equally undecided on his starting five was Oregon's coach who changed his lineup frequently in workouts this week. Monday, a violent shakeup was enacted with four first-stringers—Warren Taylor, George Andrews, Bob Wren, and Archie Marshik — being dropped "downstairs" to the seconds. Only Paul Jackson, dynamic guard, remained as a starting fixture.

The positions were thrown wide open and since then a terrific battle for the four vacancies has ensued.

The series stands at one game each. A one-handed "shove-shot" by Don Kirsch in the last 26 seconds, gave the Ducks a win in the opener at Eugene 47 to 45. The Beavers came back in the second tilt to snow under Oregon 50 to 39.

Last year, though in third place, compared to OSC's second-place standing, the Ducks waxed the Beavers on three occasions, dropping only one contest of the four.

Included in the curriculum will be first term courses in general zoology, vertebrate zoology, general chemistry and analytical chemistry, first and second year German, English composition, mathematics courses, and physical education.

Air Corps Truly All-American

Twangy voices of mid-westerners predominate in cadet barracks, class rooms, and along the flight line at Randolph field as class 42E reports to this basic flying school.

From five gulf coast air corps training center primary flying schools came men from 38 states. Contributing heaviest to this basic training school's second wartime class roster was Illinois with 70 cadets. Michigan provided 64.

Although midwestern states took the lead in this class from upper Atlantic seaboard states, New York and Massachusetts each had 39 cadets, Pennsylvania, 40. There were many southern draws mixed in with every state south of the Mason-Dixie line sending cadets.

From gas pump and ice cream machine, from cop's beat and print shop, from bank and law office, from behind the plow and class room, came these men for their wings.

These cadets have finished their ABC's of flying in 10 weeks at primary flying schools at Tulsa, Okla., Corsicana, Texas, East St. Louis, Ill., Ft. Worth, Texas, and Pine Bluff, Ark. Here at Randolph they will get their secondary phase, using faster, more-powerful planes, and after 10 weeks will go to advanced schools for single motor or twin-motor training. Then—lieutenant commissions.

Hilyard, Sig Kaps Grab Coed Hoop Tiffs

Hilyard House Forward Dorothy Mills staged a one-girl scoring exhibition on the Gerlinger court Wednesday evening, as Hilyard coeds downed Alpha Gamma Delta hoopers, 27 to 4, in the most lopsided contest in coed intramurals during the past two days.

Rivalling the Hilyard win for one-sidedness was the Pi Phi's 29-to-8 victory over a Gamma Phi Beta team on the Gerlinger floor yesterday evening.

Sigma Kappas Win

In another game yesterday, Pat Howard chucked dramatics long enough to lead the Sigma sity house squad together during the first half of the encounter, and the score at the end of that period was 6 to 4 in the Sigma Kappas' favor. In the second half, however, Miss Howard hit the hoop repeatedly, and soon the Sigma Kappas had pushed too far in front.

It was all Hilyard house in the Hilyard-Alpha Gam tilt, with Miss Mills, backed by Captain Mildred Thomas, flinging the ball through for 17 of Hilyard's 27 points.

together will be after the basketball game Saturday when smokers at men's organizations and open houses at women's organizations will be held.

A second sports event of the weekend will be the Oregon-Washington swimming meet in the men's pool. This meet will probably decide the Northern division dual meet championship.

Saturday morning the dads will hold their annual business meeting in the Guild theater in Johnson hall. All dads are members of this organization. Joe Riesch, head of the Oregon Dads, will preside at this meeting.

Registration Deadline

Registration of dads will go on from 1:30 to 5 p.m. today and Sa.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. The deadline for registration which will count toward the registration trophies is 11 a.m. Saturday.

Three houses hitting high points in registration will receive the trophies. These are offered to the highest men's and the highest women's organization as well as the organization having the highest number of dads of freshman students registered.
