

Campus Gets Conference

Pi Lambda Theta, women's national education honorary, will hold its annual regional conference on the campus Saturday and Sunday, February 21 and 22. This will be the first time the conference has ever taken place in the University city.

Conference sessions will officially begin with the initiation of new local members at 6 p.m. Saturday in Gerlinger hall. Following this, Dr. Paul B. Means, head of the University's religion department, will speak at a formal banquet at McCrady's cafe. He will discuss as his topic, "Cultural Consequences of the Fall of Singapore."

Program Planned

The program for Sunday is as follows:

9:45 a.m.—Brunch, McCrady's cafe.

10:30-12:30—Business meeting, McCrady's cafe.

12:30-2 p.m.—Tour of the University campus and art museum.

2-4—Business meeting, YWCA hut.

4:30 on—Fireside and potluck buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Calvin Crumbaker, 1031 Mill street.

Miss Harriet Batie, of Zeta chapter at the University of Washington, will preside at the conference. The chairman of the local committee on arrangements is Miss Marie Tinker. Members of the committee are Dr. Leona Tyler, Miss Dorothy Sherman, Ruth Condon, and Mrs. Calvin Crumbaker.

Members Only

Meetings are open to all Pi Lambda Theta members. Delegates and representatives from Spokane, Pullman, Seattle, Portland, Monmouth, and Ashland, as well as Eugene, are expected to attend the conference. The last regional conference was held in 1940 during Christmas holidays at Seattle. Miss Tinker represented the local chapter.

Reservations for the banquet and brunch may be made through Mrs. W. R. Leighton at the school of education, telephone 3300, local 315 until Friday noon, February 20.

Billie Christensen, senior in education, has been named as the honorary's newest member.

Harris Everett, tennis captain-elect at University of North Carolina, has volunteered for the royal Canadian air force, and expects orders to report soon.

Measles Demand Darkroom Sentence

Ten days in a blackout is the penalty for all victims of the current measles plague. In spite of the spring-like weather, spotted patients residing in the infirmary must spend all their time in a darkened room.

Art Greet Sun As Easel Boys Trek to Oxygen

Spring, though not according to the calendar, arrived at the art school Wednesday. All winter students have been busy working out their problems of art over drawing boards and in front of painting easels, but sunshine changed all that.

When the sun came forth long enough to make it look really warm outside, students moved out into the patio between the art and architecture building to sketch, study, and talk.

Later in the spring art students usually spend much of their time between classes in the patio that has benches around three sides.

year to go on immediate duty with troops at the completion of such training.

If orders from the war department verify the report in the Army and Navy Review, juniors duly enrolled in advanced military science and tactics will probably be able to continue in school and be graduated with their regular degrees. Their military field training will then follow graduation with assignment to duty coming toward the end of the summer following commencement.

Kratt Tells Plan For Choral Sing

On his return to the campus from a trip to California, Dr. Theodore Kratt, dean of the music school, announced plans Thursday for the concert to be given by the choral union spring term.

Besides "The New Earth," which the chorus has been working on, the program will include the first performance of "The White Silence" a four part work for women's voices by Nichola Montani. Plans are also under way for a short number for male voices only.

Dr. Kratt has been in California on an inspection tour in behalf of the National Association of Schools of Music. Among the schools visited were Stanford, Fresno State college, University of California, University of Southern California, and University of California at Los Angeles. This week he has given speeches in Marshfield and Monmouth.

Education Classes Get 'Guest' Supervisors

Three education classes being taught today will have "guest" supervisors to replace Dr. Harold W. Bernard and Hugh M. Shafer, assistant professors of education, who leave for San Francisco to attend the national education convention.

Dr. Bernard's class in hygiene of learning will be in charge of Mrs. Gladys Tillman, who will discuss the retarded child. John W. Dunn, graduate assistant, will supervise today's mental hygiene class, with "Mind and Digestion" his subject.

The principles of teaching class will have Anna Banick, senior in physical education, as class co-ordinator while reports are being given.

he was sponsor of Alpha hall and chairman of the Senior ball. He won the Jewett contest and was active in campus debating. After graduation, he was a graduate assistant in the school of speech at Northwestern university and taught in Myrtle Point and Grants Pass high schools.

One o'clock permission has been granted for the Military ball.

Pi Delta Phi to Show Prize Film on Tuesday

"Mayerling" is the choice French film to be presented by Pi Delta Phi, Tuesday, February 24 in 207 Chapman. Unanimously voted the best foreign picture of the year 1937, Mayerling stars Charles Boyer and Danielle Darrieux.

The movie is noted for its exceptionally fine dramatic development, lavish settings and scenes in the court of Emperor Franz Josef, beautiful orchestral and dance music, and the outstanding performances of the cast.

An additional feature, "French Peoples of Canada," will also be presented. The movie, which runs 91 minutes, will be shown at 4:15 and 8 p.m. The admission is 30 cents, which includes the tax.

Art Shows Will Honor Oregon Seniors' Work

Lynn Alexander and Thomas Hardy, both seniors in art, who displayed pottery work they have done at the Oregon Ceramics studio in Portland during January, have received word that a part of their work will be displayed at leading museums in the West.

The display, being made up by the ceramics studio, is of various art work that has been displayed there and is considered to be far above average.

Dr. Means to Speak

Dr. P. B. Means, professor of religion, will speak at the Portland City club, at 12:10 p.m. in the Benson hotel, Portland.

His subject will be: "As the East Indies Faced the Advance-West."

Alumnus Flies For Air Corps

A letter received by Elmer C. Fansett, alumni secretary, from the public relations office of the naval reserve at Corpus Christi, Texas states that Robert Hinman, class of 1941, is an aviation cadet in the intermediate stage of flight training at the United States naval air station at Corpus Christi.

Cadet Hinman, who attended Willamette university, also was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity here and played on the varsity football team.

He enlisted in the navy May 15, 1941, and had preliminary flight training at the naval reserve aviation base at Seattle, Washington, where he received approximately 12 hours of flying, including his first solo. He then went to Corpus Christi and received his appointment as an aviation cadet on October 10.

He has successfully completed the course in aviation and navigation subjects in ground school. Going into the intermediate squadron at the present, he has two stages of training, instruments and advance flying, to complete before receiving his navy wings and commission as an ensign in the naval reserve.

Hinman's only previous flying experience has been a CPT flight training course.
