

NORTHERN DIVISION STANDINGS
	W	L	Pct.
Washington State	9	4	.696
Oregon State	8	5	.583
Washington	8	5	.583
Idaho	3	8	.272
Oregon	3	9	.250

UO Falls in Hoop Cellar; Mermen Lose Tight Race

Football Needs You!

Oregon needs you! Oregon's campaign on the Pacific coast gridiron needs recruits, and previous college football competition is NOT a prerequisite, which opens up the ranks to the entire male population of the student body.

Coach Gerald A. "Tex" Oliver will be on hand to meet all those who desire to play varsity football Tuesday, February 24, at 4 p.m., in the dressing rooms of McArthur court (downstairs).

Reliable sources indicate that there will be a lot of uniforms to go around, uniforms for everybody.—for those who have played high school football but who haven't continued at the University, and for those who have admired hectic sport from the grandstands and have secretly wished that they could actively participate.

OREGON EMERALD

Sports Staff

- Fred Treadgold
- Wally Hunter
- Erling Erlandson
- Tommy Mayes
- Nancy Lewis
- Bill Stratton
- Virginia Wells
- June Hitchcock
- Jean Frideger
- Harry Glickman
- Joe Miller

IM RESULTS

"A's"—Sigma Nus 20, Phi Deltis 15; Betas 21, Auwfuls 11.
 "B's"—Betas 31, Sigma Nus 20; Sigma Chis 13, ATOs 8.

Idaho Wins, 38-36; Ducks Tubbed 37-38

Basketball

Idaho beat Oregon's hoopmen, 38 to 36, in Moscow last night, crept out of the Northern division cellar, and left the Webfoots in sole possession of the league's "booby nest."

In Seattle, Washington pated Oregon State, 47 to 40, showing the Beavers one full game behind the league leaders, Washington State, and pulling OSC down into a tie for second place with the Huskies.

Sub Stars

Two belated field goals by a Vandal substitute, Norm Freedekring, clinched the game for Idaho over Oregon. Idaho was trailing, 33 to 34, when Freedekring dripped two goals through from the floor, pulling the Vandals past the Ducks, 37 to 34.

Immediately after, the Vandals got another digit on a technical, boosting their total to 38. Kirsch then retaliated with a field goal, but the clock ran out before the Ducks could score again.

Nineteen personal fouls and three technicals were called against Oregon, with Archie Marshik and Bob Wren of the

(Please turn to page seven)

Swimming

After drowning San Jose State college mermen yesterday, Oregon splashers dropped a 37-to-38 decision to the San Francisco Olympic club in San Francisco last night.

Bill Lucas of the Olympic club demonstrated that his title, "best all-around swimmer on the Pacific coast," is no fluke, as he splashed to three first places—the 220-, 440-, and 100-yard freestyle events.

Oregon Cops Three Firsts

Oregon copped three firsts, Chuck Nelson winning the 100-yard backstroke, and the Aquaducks collaborating to cop the 300-yard medley and the 400-yard freestyle relays.

Jack Robinson, sophomore Oregon swimmer, splashed in second behind Lucas in the three races the Olympic club star won.

Co-Captain Gerry Huestis grabbed two thirds, in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle races, finishing behind Teammate Johnny Mead in the 50 and behind Teammate Robinson in the 100.

R. Huestis Scores

Ralph Huestis got a second in (Please turn to page seven)

Frosh Massacre Rooks In Hoop Struggle, 64-45

Firing Stops On OSC Floor This Evening

By HARRY GLICKMAN

University of Oregon's freshman basketball team got some measure of revenge for the beatings that its varsity brothers have suffered from Oregon State this year, and did quite a thorough job of it too, by decisively whipping the OSC Rooks by a score of 64 to 45 in McArthur court last night.

The two teams conclude hostilities with a game tonight at Corvallis.

Coming to life a few minutes after the game started, the Frosh started pouring in buckets from all angles to take the long end of a 37 to 14 halftime score, with Roy Seeborg pacing the attack.

Ducks Slow Down

The Duckling attack slowed down somewhat in the second half, and the Beaver yearlings started shaving the lead. But with the fans clamoring for the "60" mark, the Ducklings responded to their plea by hitting that total.

After taking a 37 to 28 lead with 11 minutes of the second half gone, Oregon failed to score again in five minutes. Denton cracked the ice with a free throw and Seeborg followed a minute later with another gifter to make the count 59. Al Popick put the Ducklings over the 60 mark when he stole the ball, eluded one Beaver with a fake and shift that looked like a halfback off for a touchdown, and neatly dribbled in for the score.

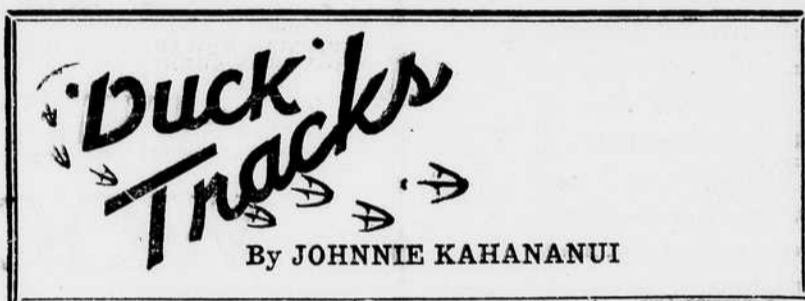

Oregon State began casting off from all over the floor, and made a good number of its shots to pull closer to the Frosh. Oregon mentor John Warren riddled his entire bunch of substitutes allowing all members of the squad to earn their numerals.

Roy Seeborg had his hottest night of the year to take highest honors for the game with 19 points. The victory gives Oregon a one-game margin in the "little civil war" series.

OSC (45)	FG	FT	PF	TP
Finlay, f	2	0	1	4
Brophy, f	2	2	4	6
Anderson, c	1	1	2	3
Martinson, g	4	1	4	9
Dale, g	1	3	3	5
Reginato, f	2	1	2	5
Kohler, f	0	0	3	0

(Please turn to page seven)

Hey, Jack Vermuel! You listening Jack? Say, Al Weiner, wake that guy up, will you? Thanks. What in hell do you think you're doing anyway, Jack . . . all this stuff about your Rook Basketball Coach Bill McKalip being the hero of the McArthur court brawl last Saturday night (Barometer, Tuesday, February 17) . . . about McKalip struggling gallantly through the surging masses and yelling remnants of the Oregon band into playing the "Star Spangled Banner."

I don't know from where the Barometer gets its information, but from all appearances, I can't say much for both. Of course that stuff is gobbled up by the Beavers . . . it bloats their collective egos. But what guff! Once, perhaps, is pardonable. The Barometer, however, blandly makes it a habit.

I remember quite well when a little fracas erupted out of a questionable decision called during an Oregon-Oregon State baseball game on Howe field. I recall with nausea how the Barometer, with jubilant piety, exclaimed that Beaver Leonard Younce was the hero of the incident, that he bravely protected Umpire Spee Burke, that he, Younce, was oh so modest about the entire thing and demurely refused to tell too much about his noble role in the affair. Pardon me while I vomit.

' . . . Get It Right'

I don't know whether you Barometer sports staff members have ever heard of Hearst's INS, but that news service has a particularly good slogan, to wit: "Get it first, but first, get it right." Perhaps the Barometer would do well to flop ever-so-slightly out of its way and adopt the "get-it-right" portion of that slogan.

Oh yea, what about that rather brazen statement some one of you on the Barometer had leering out of the game story? . . . the claim, shouting in very factual tone, that the Oregon students initiated the riot, that Oregon students did this because they were mad at being behind in the game.

Teh, teh, quit kidding yourselves. You know darned well the thing would have happened even if the spark were ignited when or if Oregon were ahead. And I don't think you're ignorant or naive to the point of not knowing why, although you perhaps slam your eyes shut to the fact, or facts, whatever they may be.

What About Purdy's Shot?

Then too, I don't believe the Corvallis gym is especially virgin where the breeding of minor or major riots is concerned. Ask oldtimers what happened there to a referee when Webfoot Ken Purdy tossed in a last-second basket that beat the Beavers some years back? What happened to the hapless referee when he ruled in favor of Oregon, that is, when he ruled that the ball had been in the air before the gun went off?

I read your column in the Barometer, Al Weiner, and I agree that the McArthur court melee was not without its share of humorous incidents. For the benefit of Beavers who are rabidly intent upon condemning Oregon students, who loudly insist that "we ought to just give them h—1 for it," we reluctantly print this little gem.

One of the Beaver ballplayers had his girl down in Eugene for the game. She was sojourning at the Alpha Omicron Pi house. When everything was over and she was being mildly berated about the rather dubious court tactics of her very masculine boy friend, she frowned: "Well, I know (so-and-so) is a dirty player, but you've got to admit he's a darned good one." A good dirty player or just a good player? Humorous as all get out.

Go Skiing this Sunday

February 22

HENDERSHOTT'S is sponsoring a Greyhound stage to Willamette Summit ski grounds.

Bus will stop Sunday at College Side Inn. We rent skis and ski boots.

MAKE RESERVATIONS AT

HENDERSHOTT'S

Phone 151

Phone 151

WE RENT SKIS AND SKI BOOTS