Wins Boost Title Hopes For Oregon

By WALLY HUNTER

University of Oregon's varsity swimming team clamped a death-like grip on the favorites position for the coming northern division swimming championship by virtue of a stunning record piled up in an abbreviated sojourn in California.

San Jose, the San Francisco Olympic club, and the lads from Stanford university fell before the onslaught of Coach Mike Hoyman's undefeated Ducks. The San Jose men were slapped about 52 to 23, the powerful Olympians were knocked 38 to 37, and to complete things the Stanford Cardinals were dumped, rather emphatically, 49 to 25.

Ducks Break Record

Against San Jose the Webfoots kicked into oblivion a five-year pool record in the 300-yard medley relay. Chuck Nelson, Gerry Huestis, and Ralph Huestis pooled resources (no pun intended) to clip 6 3/10 seconds off a mark of 3 minutes, 8 7/10 seconds. The Ducks oozed home first in every event except the 400-yard relay.

In rapping the Olympic club the Webfoots defeated one of the strongest teams in the nation—which hadn't been beaten in five years of competition. The Olympians, a star-studded band of ex-collegians were upset in what was termed the "best Bay Region swimfest in years." Top event on the program was the 100-yard breaststroke portion of the 300-yard medley relay, in which Duck sophomore Ralph Huestis turned back the challenge of All-American Werson.

Sophomores Chuck Nelson and Jack Robinson came in for a little of the glory by throwing a surprise in the face of the club swimmers. Nelson took the cream off the 150-yard breaststroke by breasting the tape ahead of the highly-favored Cal lad, Taft. Husky Robinson pushed the Olympic club's All-American Sprinter Lucas to the wall in both the 220 and 440 but was nosed out in both events.

Divers Show

The Oregon divers, considered one of the weaker spots of the Duck team, dragged down several points. Against San Jose Tom Corbett and Ox Wilson finished in that order, and did likewise in the Stanford meet—where the Cardinals failed to enter men.

The Olympic club annexed both first places but Wilson nabbed an all-important third. Also outstanding on the trip was Freestyler Dick Smith, who copped a first from Stanford, and the number one spot in the 220 freestyle in the San Jose go.

Summary of the Stanford meet: 220-yard freestyle—Won by Robinson (O); second, Monroe (S); third, Smith (O). Time, 2:19.5.

50-yard freestyle—Won by Young (S); second, Weitzel (O); third, Mead (O). Time, :25.1.

300-yard medley relay—Won by Oregon (Nelson, R. Huestis, G. Huestis). Time, 3:09.3.

Football Needs You!

All University men interested in football are asked to report to Tex Oliver in the dressing room of McArthur court this afternoon at 4.

It is not necessary that you have previous college football experience. All Oliver asks is that you have an interest in football and a desire to come out.

Spring football will start Wednesday and rumor has it that there are plenty of uniforms to go around. All who have played high school football or wanted to, and those who have admired the game from the sidelines and have wished to enter competition are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday and to turn out Wednesday.

Ducklings Tip Rooks, 65-55

Final games of the season are on tap for John Warren's University of Oregon freshman basketball team this weekend when the Ducklings trek to The Dalles for a game Friday night and meet Baker high on the latter's floor Saturday night.

The Ducklings concluded hostilities with the Oregon State Rooks by winning the annual series, three games to one. Oregon won the final game Saturday night in Corvallis by a score of 66 to 55. The night before the Frosh posted a 64-45 win over the Rooks at McArthur court. In the other games

Salem beat the frosh last night, 43 to 40. Simmons, Vicking forward was high with 20 points.

OSC won the first by a score of 38-30 and Oregon copped the second by a 42-35 count.

Scoring Melee

Saturday night's free-scoring melee at Corvallis was a replica of the Friday night game. The Frosh used the famous Oregon fast-break tactics and connected from all angles. Sammy Crowell tallied 20 points to take high scoring honors, followed by Al Popick with 16.

Plans call for workouts the remainder of this week in preparation for the tilts with The Dalles and Baker, both leaders in state prep circles. Baker, with a long winning streak to its credit, is coached by Hank Anderson, former University of Oregon star.

Master Dance Heads For Monmouth Showing

The Master Dance group will make a special appearance Wednesday at the school of education in Monmouth swing combination concert and lecture demonstration, according to Tom Hardy, president of the group.

The group of 16 students, accompanied by Pirkko Roecker, instructor in physical education, and Mrs. Kay Holman, pianist for the group, will appear in the Monmouth auditorium under the sponsorship of the physical education department there.

Various types of dancing including folk, ballroom, square, German, and tap will be demonstrated.

Last Wednesday the group appeared twice, once for the local chapter of Oregon Mothers, and later for a dance class.

Former Professor Visits Here Last Week

Captain F. G. Macomber, former professor of education and director of University high school, returned to the campus for a visit last week after a year with Uncle Sam's forces at Camp Wolters in the "heart of Texas."

While here he visited with friends, including Dr. Donald M. Erb, University president, and the education faculty. Captain Macomber was a member of the University faculty for four years before he was called January 13, 1941.

At Camp Wolters, one of the largest replacement centers in the United States, Captain Macomber is classification officer in charge of the rookies from induction centers.
