It's a gloomy old world, in spite of the sunshine, flowers, and spring atmosphere. Why? Well, we saw "Mayerling," the Pi Delta Phi-sponsored movie and thought it was tres magnifique! And Charles Boyer . . . oo-la-la.

But all our fond memories of the stirring movie have been shattered. The morning after (the showing) Dr. LeSage told us the movie was based on facts all right but merely represented what might have happened to Rudolph of Hapsburg (played by Boyer) and it wasn't all true. Can you imagine our disillusionment?

Eudolph could have saved us from this disappointment if he only would have left one little note telling how he actually planned to die.

Anyway, congrats to the French honorary for bringing the movie to Eugene.

Girls will be glad when spring-termed desserts roll around, 'tis rumored. Some have hopes of wearing campus clothes and others say they'll be happier eating sandwiches and cokes than the melted ice cream they have been eating. Here's hoping. . . .

Take our advice and drink your cokes now because no telling when they'll be gone with the sugar.

See you at the elections today.

'Turnabout' Theme for Friday Evening Formal

By LOIS HULSER

It's going to be nothing but a big time Friday eve when coeds call at men's houses for their dates, take them to dinner, check their coats, and take them home. Occasion is Gamma Alpha Chi's winter formal in Gerlinger with Maestro Art Holman playing soft music as beautiful mannequins model the latest styles for college women.

Bob McFadden is playing for the interdorm winterformal in John Straub hall Friday evening.

Five winter formals are scheduled for Saturday evening, including Alpha Phi with music by Ted Hallock; Delta Gamma, Art Holman; Phi Gamma Delta, Hal Hardin; and Delta Tau Delta, Walt Weber. Prelude to spring will be presented by Highland house at their formal.

After skiing is the theme of the Alpha Delta Pi radio dance. Alpha Gamma Delta's dance "Stage Door" is a costume party. "Blues in the Night" is the Alpha Tau Omega winter dance theme. Theta Chi and Canard club complete the list for Saturday.

Bouch-Skillern

In a simple home ceremony Friday evening, Miss Nadine Bouch became the bride of John Skillern. Miss Bouch is a member of Chi Omega and was a language major while on the campus. Mr. Skillern is a senior in business administration. They will reside in Eugene.

Desserting:

Kappa Kappa Gamma-Sigma Alpha Mu; Kappa Alpha Theta-Delta Tau Delta; Pi Beta Phi-Kappa Sigma; Highland house-Kirkwood co-op; Sigma Kappa-Campbell co-op; Alpha Chi Omega-Delta Upsilon; Phi Kappa Alpha-Alpha Delta Pi; Alpha Omicron Pi-Sigma Phi Epsilon; Theta Chi-Alpha Phi; Chi Omega-Phi Gamma Delta; Chi Psi-Delta Gamma; Phi Sigma Kappa-Gamma Phi Beta; Emerald house-Phi Kappa Psi, and Susan Campbell-Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Alpha hall entertained at a preference dinner-dance Tuesday.

Kappa Sigma has scheduled a preference dinner for Sunday.

University house entertained the faculty at dinner last night.

The Last Word

By MARGE CURTIS

Friday night sees the first major girl-date-boy campus dance, the Gamma Alpha Chi formal at Gerlinger. Good opportunity to show dates that you, too, can be a perfect escort, not forgetting the essential flowers, cigarettes, and perhaps dinner before the dance. Calling for your men, checking their coats, and getting them home on time are other duties.

It's debatable whether the girls should open doors, keep to the outside of the sidewalk, etc. Some feel that this is infringing too much on Mortar Board tradition, so those details are up to you.

The rest of the weekend is filled with house dances, and concerning the proper attire, we repeat: evening dresses for formal dances; dressy silks and heels for informal ones.

Meanwhile, there's always skiing and general snowplay at McKenzie pass and Hoodoo. If you merely wish to roll snowballs and are not lucky enough to possess suitable ski togs, don't let it worry you, says campus social chairman, Carolyn Holmes. Climb into a pair of old slacks, pull on a warm sweater or wool skirt, borrow ski boots or wear wooden shoes, and you're all set for a good time.

Durable armor with detachable steel helmets should keep you safe during the Independent vs. Greek basketball tilt Wednesday, March 4. Seriously, campus clothes will be worn that evening.

Since this is the last weekend

McCall-Loche

The engagement of Miss Betty McCall, Portland, to Harold Loche, Campbell club, was announced at Campbell preference dinner Saturday evening. No date has been set for the wedding.

Spotlight Girls Approved By Fashion Wise

Big weekend, wasn't it? At house dances, M. ball and preference dinners Sunday new clothes appeared. Many of them just as smooth as you'll be seeing at Gamma Alpha Chi come Friday.

At the military ball you saw Dawn Frask's canary jersey bodice seersucker skirt combination in green, yellow, aqua. Quite smethin' . . . Neva Haight in grey-green jersey dinner dress . . . Pat Vandeneynde, sister of the well-known Bud, looking simply wonderful in grey tulle sparkling with plastic circles . . . Mary Jane Dunn's black and red South American model has been previewed in leading magazines. The black jersey top makes it super. . . . Betty Gustavson couldn't look better than she did at the MB in a white jersey dress with narrow bands of gold sequins at waist and hip. . . . Glamorous Beverlee Tobin at the DU house dance in ice blue taffeta with everything to match.

Little Colonel Nelda Rohrback marches in a new light blue top coat. . . . Phyllis Root at a Sunday preference dinner in turquoise silk jersey . . . nailheaded belt. . . . Pudge Quigley's plaid skirt of beige, light blue and browns is a Vogue special . . . Aldine Gates goes in for a plaid dress in shades of green.
