

BA Confab to Spotlight State Business Leaders

—See Story Column 1

OREGON Daily EMERALD

VOLUME XLIII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1942

NUMBER 86

Defense Pledging Efforts Renewed

UO Arbitrator Returns Home

Arbitrator Wayne L. Morse, dean of the law school and member of the war labor board, is on his way back from Washington, D.C., this week to finish his work on the campus for the winter term and prepare to speak at a University assembly March 5.

Dean Morse, who is in Portland today, will speak next Thursday on war and labor relations. He will leave again on Friday, March 6, for Washington to continue his defense duties for the rest of the year.

Honored

This evening Dean Morse will be honored at a banquet given by the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity in Portland. He arrived there this morning.

Some of Dean Morse's latest decisions while on the war labor board involved the Boston Fishery, the Aluminum Company of America, and other vital defense industries. His war duties, however, have not necessitated his giving up his position as west coast labor arbitrator.

National Recognition

Dean Morse was recently given national recognition in Time magazine. He has been granted leave of absence from the University for spring term, but promises to be back for classes at the beginning of next fall term.

Race Conflict In 'Victory'

By MARJORIE MAJOR

Race, with its bitterness, its pride, and its tragedy was given a penetrating depth in the hands of a competent cast when "The Wingless Victory" by Maxwell

Attendants at the two remaining performances of "The Wingless Victory" are asked to arrive about ten minutes before 8 o'clock so that the performance can begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Anderson opened last night in Guild hall.

Highly realistic, but at the same time romantic and poetic in the best sense, the play itself is practically foolproof material for the cast. Its best scenes are the more restrained, considered

(Please turn to page seven)

Four Houses Accomplish Perfect Score

By EDITH NEWTON

University of Oregon is all out for defense and they proved it again when four more living organizations yesterday reported that their members have signed 100 per cent in the individual pledging drive for defense stamps and bonds.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma hall, and Kappa Alpha Theta, and Chi Omega were the four groups that called Russ Hudson, chairman of all defense activities on the campus, yesterday to report that all their members have signed pledges.

Representatives

Representatives for these organizations are Jerry Vawter, Bob Bloom, Polly Gordon, Jim Kinersly, and Dorothy Routt.

This brings the total number of 100 per cent organizations to double the number that had

(Please turn to page seven)

Basketball Game

The dough from the Greek-Independent scrap

Will go to defense work to beat off the Jap.

I wonder through spring term election orations,

If they will remember such cooperations.

—J.W.S.

AWAITING THE WHISTLE . . .

. . . Milt Small, Campbell club, hovers over the ball with ATO Paul Bocci while Marcy Hartwick and Peggy Johnston anticipate the start of the Greek-Independent casaba brawl.

Buckets for Defense . . .

Rival Camps Primed For All-Star Hoop Tilt

By JOE MILLER

Independent and Greek camps are primed and ready. Ticket sales are reaching the sellout stage, and everything is set for Wednesday night's first annual Independent-Greek all-star game. The entertainment has been arranged, and the show is slated to begin at 7:30 when the "B" league stars open their game. The funds received will go to the student defense fund.

Between halves of this battle the Sigma Nus will be presented their intramural "A" league championship cup by Betty Kincaid, and the Sigma Chis will be presented their "B" league prize by their sweetheart, Jane Williams. The "B" game is slated to be refereed from the "crow's nest" if McArthur officials can strengthen the glass backboards.

Trios and Band

The AOPi and Pi Phi trios will combine their talents to open between-game entertainment with "Blues in the Night" and a very beautiful Oregon song, "As I Sit and Dream at Evening." Bob McFadden will present his band in some special arrangements.

The "A" game starting at

(Please turn to page eight)

Auto Deadline Nears

Students using automobiles on the campus must have their cars registered with the campus policeman by March 4 or have their cars impounded, it was announced by O. L. Rhinesmith yesterday. Registration involves the reporting of the license number and getting a sticker for display on the windshield.

BA Men Set For '42 Meet

(See program page eight)

Plans for the annual student business conferences March 3, 4, and 5, sponsored by the school of business administration, are nearing completion, Dean Victor P. Morris, announced Friday.

The yearly event features prominent industrial leaders of the state, who will help BA students to determine the field to which they are best suited, and the type of work to pursue in the future.

Business Discussions

H. K. Cherry, of the Calmar Steamship corporation, Portland, and John Gallagher, Prudential Life Insurance company, will present discussions on business Tuesday.

Colonel R. M. Lyon, C. F. Kosack, and Commander R. E. Kerr will speak on military matters.

(Please turn to page eight)

Journalist Jump . . .

SDX Show Gets Steam Up

The Spring Varieties will organize Monday at 4 p.m. on the third floor of Gerlinger, under the direction of Jerry Lakefish. Final auditions were held last week.

The Varieties will be a feature of the Sigma Delta Chi dance in McArthur court the second week of spring term.

General Douglas MacArthur and his stand in the Philippines will be honored at the national professional journalism fraternity's all-campus dance. Decorations will be pictures of the General and other United States military heroes, and famous military slogans.

Broadcast

Negotiations are underway to have the dance broadcast over local stations. If broadcast, transcriptions of the Varieties will be short-waved to U. S. troops, according to U. S. troops, according to

(Please turn to page eight)

FIRST NIGHTERS . . .

. . . Charlotte Louise Means, Dorothy Durkee, and Lorraine Long in a scene from last night's opening of "The Wingless Victory."