

Greeks Sweep All-Star Brawls; 'A's Win Rough Fight, 26-24

Late Minute Tally Decides 'A' Hoop Tilt

Sigma Nu Johnny Bubalo's bucket in the keyhole in the final two seconds of play last night broke up one of the wildest games ever seen on McArthur court as the Greek "A's" grabbed a 26 to 24 victory. 2300 thrilled fans watched the fray.

The Independents led all the way throughout the fiery ball game. They jumped out to a 9 to 2 halftime lead sparked by the spectacular play of Walt Reynolds of Zeta hall, who dunked two beautiful buckets and fed Bill Craig and Omega's Chuck Boice for the other markers.

Greeks Pushed Back

The favored Greeks seemed rushed off their feet by the inspired play of the ballhawking Independents. Frank Baker of the Sigma Chi clan hit the only first half points for the Greeks on a long set shot from center.

Halftime saw the "Swing Yell" of Earl Russell recorded for the Victor Record Album of College Medleys. Ted Hallock on the drums, Bob Sell on the bass, and Al Kasmeyer on the trumpet worked with Russell and the assembled student body in making the recording a success.

A determined Greek team opened the second half by firing back to within a point of the Independents. There was confusion over the score, and the Greeks were given four more points by the scorekeeper than they had by the Associated time-clock.

Score Changed

After an argument the score was announced as 16 to 15, in favor of the Independents. Nobsey Morris, Campbell club, a rugged floorman got a gifter, and Canard's Bob Simpson hit a bucket on the run from the left-hand side, giving the Independents a comfortable 19 to 15 lead.

SAE Center Ossie Redfield, dribbling fast into scoring territory, hit a bucket outside the keyhole, but Bill Craig hit his "hook" shot to keep the Independents four points up. Beta Quent Sidesinger spun and hit with a right-hand push shot, but Hoot Bailey, Alpha guard, lofted a swisher from 15 feet, and the Independents were up, 23 to 19. Tom Roblin dropped in one at the free throw line, but the omnipresent Walt Reynolds got a gifter himself, 24 to 20.

Independents Start Stall

With two minutes remaining the Independents began to stall. The Greeks frantically shifted to a man-to-man. Kappa Sig Bill Jameson battled his way out of a pile-up and hit on the run way down in the right-hand corner, 24 to 22. Sidesinger dropped in a foul toss, but the Independents got the ball with a bare 9 seconds in the game.

Tom Roblin fought in to get the casaba, rifling it to Ox Wilson, who in the clear was stopped by a dive by Don Mabee. But Ref Floyd Rhea gave Wilson two shots after a near

Frat Team Edges Out 'B's, 24-19

The Greek "B" stars fought off a last quarter independent attack to win 24 to 19. Rangy Cull Murphy sparked the Greek attack with 10 points.

With Leo Welch and Glen Kelly pacing the Independents they got away to an early 6 to 2 lead. But a smaller team opened the second quarter for them, and the taller Greeks soon made their height felt under the backboard. Sigma Chi Dick Hanen lofted a deep looper and Cull Murphy dunked a rebound tying the encounter 6-all.

Greeks Lead at Half

Paul Bocci, Jack Lansing, and Dick Rathbun canned three buckets in quick succession, and the Greeks were far ahead at the half, 12 to 6. The Independents seemed badly tied up, and were missing their shots, although their floorwork was superior to the Greeks.

The Greeks kept rolling throughout the third quarter. DU Gordie Jones barreled into the keyhole to hit, Bocci and Murphy

Turner Clips Scoring Mark; Webfoot Five Wins, 53-39

Idaho Star Notches Up 192 Counters

By FRED TREADGOLD

The dressing room was in an uproar. Pushing from all sides were small boys, wildly waving scraps of paper for autographs, news photographers battling in for closeups, and enthusiastic fans crowding in to get a glimpse of, and perhaps shake hands and congratulate, the new champion. In the midst of this bedlam quietly stood Ray Turner, with a weary but contented smile on his face, desperately trying to accommodate everyone. As he stripped off his sweat-saturated number "15" jersey, Turner admitted that he was "glad it was over," but added "I figured that I would crack it."

Has 192 Points

For the tall Vandal center had done something that no other hoop star had been able to do in five long years. His 13 points thrown in against Oregon Tuesday night established a new conference scoring record of 192 points, chucking Wally Palmberg's old 6-year-old mark of 187 into the wastebasket.

Breaks Glasses

As he put it, Turner broke the record "the hard way." With but a minute remaining in the first half and just one point away from a new mark, Turner came out of an under-the-basket melee with his glasses smashed and a ragged gash over his right eye. He received medical attention during the half and a loud cheer went up from the Oregon fans following the announcement that he would be able to start the second half.

Just one minute and ten seconds after the second half started Turner flipped in the "big one." It was a left-handed rebound shot, taken on a follow-in which he had missed.

On the Oregon side of the fence, little Paul Jackson showed the way with a sparkling 13-point performance in his last game for the Ducks. Captain George Andrews and Archie Marshik, mammoth center, also wound up their collegiate careers with six and seven points respectively.

Tall Hoopmen Dominate ND First String All-Star

Height paid off for Northern Division basketball players yesterday when the All-Conference roster was released, showing three 6-foot-4 centers, one 6-foot-3 lad, and a mere shorty of an even 6 feet, to be the proud holders of the first string positions.

On first string were: John Mandic, Oregon State; Ray Turner, Idaho; Marvin Gilberg and Gail Bishop, Washington State; and Bill Morris, Washington.

The selection was made by 10 players and the coach of each team in the conference. Each man voting cast his vote for first string and second string. In the tabulation a player was given two points for each time he was selected on the first and one point for each selection on the second string.

Mandic Unanimous

Mandic was the only player to be chosen unanimously for the first team by every ballot. Turner missed by a single vote of being chosen unanimously.

Chosen on the second team were: Don Durdan, Oregon State; Norm Dalthorp, Washington; George Andrews, Paul Jackson, and Warren Taylor, Oregon.

Others who received votes were: Bob Lindh, Wally Leask, Chuck Gilmur, and Doug Ford, Washington; Sam Dement and Lew Beck, Oregon State; Ted Thompson, Idaho; and Archie Marshik, Oregon.

Lame Ducks Beat Chi Os In Playoff

The Chi Omega sextet proved to be but a temporary stumbling block to the Lame Duck championship drive, but the Independents battled through the two-day semifinal basketball match Wednesday to win by a score of 30 to 25. On Tuesday by a free-shot at the end of the game the Chi Os pulled into a 19 to 19 tie to prolong the contest another day.

In smooth form, the Lame Ducks rolled into the lead at half time with a margin of three points. With uncanay accuracy Pat Carson and Margaret Shipler kept the ball flying through the loop. In spite of the tension between the belligerent teams the game was fast and clean.

Dropping their third forward in the fourth quarter the Chi O guards were completely baffled by the speed and accuracy of the Carson-Shipler combination. Roblin Nelson made 13 points for the losers.

Monday night the Orides swamped Highland Hoopers 26 to 11 to put the Orides in the finals against last night's victors.

Friday afternoon will determine the winners of the girls' intramural basketball championship.
