

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

VOLUME XLIII

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 1942

NUMBER 94

Time
Grows
Old

Purchased when the University opened its doors in 1876 is the oldest clock at Oregon, being checked by Sue Lewis. The clock is now in the office of Miss Mary Kent, office manager at the extension building.

Photo by Don Jones

'Going, Going . . .'

AWS Auctions Stray Articles

By BETTY ANN STEVENS

"Sold—to the gentleman in the green bow-tie" is an example of what to expect from auctioneers Joe Montag and Bunny Potts in front of the Side today at 4 p.m. as the AWS auction of lost and found articles rolls into action.

According to Janet Ross, in charge of the auction, 'It's going to be a riot,' for of the many items offered to a predominantly male audience are such feminine items as bracelets, purses, a duck pin, and about 50 hand-danas.

Also offered up on the block for their erstwhile owners to gape at are glasses, pins, one sweater, about 20 umbrellas, three overcoats, one reversible, two pairs of tennis shoes, about ten rain hats, one slicker, pens, pencils, looseleaf notebooks, leather binders, and about 15 pairs of gloves.

For the students are offered the following texts: "English Composition," "Advertising," "Introduction to Physical Education," "Nations of the World," German, French, and Spanish books, speech books, economics books, "Index to English," "Short Stories," "Problems in Prose," marketing books, "British Prose and Poetry" books, "Background of Social Science," "Accounting Principles," and "Plane Trigonometry."

Cagey Clams Emerge Under WPA Shovels

"In the spring young man's fancy . . .", "A man is never too old to love" and similar expressions which indicates the ambitions of men during this season apply even to invertebrate animals born millions of years ago.

Yesterday afternoon some mollusk fossils were found in solid rock by WPA crews digging (another sign of spring) sewers on the western fringe of the campus.

The geology department reports that the specimens are the same ones found when excavating for the library. Apparently the place is infested with the critters.

Professor Sick

Dr. Gordon Wright, assistant professor of history, has been ill with influenza for the past few days. He is expected to return to his classes today.

Plays? . . . Page 7

National Collegiate Players run through drama tonight. For details see page 7.

'Sing' Aspirants Called

Reading rehearsals for "Of Thee I Sing" begin Wednesday, April 1. This rehearsal is at 8 p.m. for Act 1, Scene IV. There will be no rehearsal for Tuesday.

Tryouts will be held Wednesday, April 1, at 7 in Guild hall of Johnson hall. Those asked to be present are Aldine Gates, Norma Trovarrow, Marjorie Quigley, Pat Howard, Maxine McNeil, Joe Montag, Steve Werth.

Frank Quinn, Ed Prock, Jim Prior, Dana Lance, Earl Hoimer, Charles Haener, Bob Dudley, George Arbuckle, Francis Doram, Elbert Wilson, Elaine McCliment, Allene Meek.

ASUO Sets Nominations For April 7

The annual ASUO nominating assembly has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 7, at 11 a.m. in McArthur court, according to word received late last night from Jim Frost, first vice-president of the student body.

Those students planning to run for an office must, according to the ASUO constitution, present their declaration of intention to run and certificates of scholastic ability, signed by the dean of men or the dean of women, to Frost, who is in charge of elections, before midnight, Sunday, April 5.

Class officers for next year will be nominated April 7 at 7 p.m. Places of nomination are: class of '43, 207 Chapman; class of '44, 105 Commerce; class of '45, 203 Villard.

Class cards for all classes will be on sale March 31, April 1 and 2 at the booth between Commerce and Oregon between the hours of 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

ASUO Offices

ASUO offices open are student body president, first vice-president, second vice-president, secretary-treasurer, two senior commissioners, two junior commissioners, and two sophomore commissioners.

"I would like to urge the prospective candidates to turn in their (Please turn to page eight)

Min Yasui Protests Law

Information received by long-distance telephone from Portland late last night revealed that Minoru Yasui had been released upon the payment of a $500 bond.

Minoru "Min" Yasui, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1939, rebelled Saturday against the alien curfew regulations passed by congress, and traveled 50 miles from Hood River to Portland, submitting to arrest on a charge of violating the rule that Japanese aliens and citizens must stay within five miles of their homes at all times.

Until the day of the attack on Pearl Harbor, Mr. Yasui was secretary and public relations man for the Japanese consul at Chicago. He is a graduate of the University law school and a member of the Oregon bar association. While at the University Mr. Ya-

(Please turn to page eight)

Politics No. 1

In the spring a young man's fancy Lightly turns to thoughts of love, And they say the world in general Centers 'round the turtledove.

At U of O this is not so; The situation's in a mix, For in the spring a young man's fancy Lightly turns to politics.

—J.W.S.

Juniors Feature Cash Sign Game

A childish game played by all American vagabonds will net cash rewards for long practicers at Oregon in the next weeks until Junior Weekend. The game: reading of successive signs along the highway advertising a well-known shaving cream.

John Busterud, chairman of Junior Weekend, announced Monday a series of six contests with cash awards. The contests will consist of verses which will be arranged on eight signs which will be placed between Oregon and Friendly next to the street.

The signs will be changed weekly with prizes for each winner whose verse is used. It is permissible to enter more than one verse and win more than one prize.

First signs will be raised next Monday. The entire contest will close Saturday, April 4.

Entries should be submitted to Betty Jane Biggs, promotion chairman for the Weekend, at the business office of the Emerald. The judges will be the main heads of Weekend committees.

Measles Step Out As Diphtheria Enters

Because two cases of diphtheria were reported at the infirmary, isolation of infirmary wards will be more strictly enforced, according to Dr. Fred N. Miller, director of the health service. "The chances of an epidemic, however, are very remote," he said.

The measles "epidemic" is down to one patient, as is the mumps.

Infirmary sufferers are Wreatha Johnson, Don Brinton, Peggy Smith, June Chesney, Charles Gleeson, Haslett Haight, Nuvere Cartozian, and Patricia Cossitt.

Oregon Singing . . .

Friday Deadline Fixed On 'Sing' Applications

By JOANNE DOLPH

Applications for the all-campus sing, which will be held April 25, must be turned in to the educational activities office in McArthur court by Friday, according to Bob McKinney, general chairman of the song-contest.

Applications must state the living group represented, its song leader and the number of persons in the chorus, which has been limited to 24. Dress will not be judged. Only one song may be sung.

The sing will be on a concert basis with a grand piano in a setting of potted palms. A big finale will be featured, during which the audience will rise and sing in unison.

"This is the first time in the history of the University that every living organization will be represented in one group, all doing the same thing," stated Chairman McKinney.

Theodore Kratt, dean of the school music, will be instrumental in choosing the song for the finale and will aid in organizing the groups.

Coeds Reject Merger Plans

By MARJORIE YOUNG

Plans for the amalgamation of the two student cooperative associations were rejected last night by the Coed Cooperative association by a vote of 58 to 36. An overwhelming majority of the members of men's houses voted for the plan, there being 189 votes for, and 2 against.

The plan, formulated by Wilbur Osterloch, former general manager of the men's co-op, now in the army, and Leonard Farr, present general manager, had been presented to the group at a tea Sunday, where it was decided to postpone the actual voting until Monday evening at the regular meetings of the individual houses.

Board of Directors

The constitution proposed to the two associations provided for incorporation under a board of directors composed of the house presidents and managers. A general manager to be in charge of the purchase of all supplies for the units, of making employees' contracts, and of making daily menus was to be appointed by the board. Individual house government was to remain the same.

(Please turn to page eight)

UO Band Slates Guest At Monday's Concert

Henri Arcand, Portland pianist, will be guest soloist with the band in its concert April 13 in the music auditorium.

Well known as an exponent and performer of the music of modern composers, Mr. Arcand has appeared in many concerts in Portland. His numbers will include Poulenc's Concerto in D. Minor, and David Bennett's "Repertoire." Others on the program are "Tolle Gesellschaft," by Ernst Von Dohnanyi, and "His Respects to Samuel Pickwick, Esq.' P. P. M. P. C." by Debussy.