The Sun Also Rises Early Rising Set for Easter

By ELSIE BROWNELL

Students will rise an hour earlier tomorrow in order to attend the sunrise service to be held in McArthur court at 7 a.m.

Miss Gertrude Boyd Crane, associate professor of psychology and education at Pacific university, will give the main address on the subject, "Easter in a World at War."

Professor Crane is well-known on the University campus. She took graduate work on the campus in the summers of 1936

Poem Contest Closes Today

Six prizes of $2 each will go to the winners of the Junior Weekend roadside sign contest which closes at noon today, Betty Jane Biggs, promotion chairman emphasized Friday. Entries in the contest should be turned in to Miss Biggs today at the business office of the Emerald.

The entries should be jingles which can be displayed on progressive signs along Thirteenth street. They should play up any aspect of Junior Weekend.

The rhymes will be judged on cleverness, originality, and the adaptability to Junior Weekend. The signs will be displayed next week and changed weekly.

Winners of the contest will be announced in next Tuesday's Emerald. The entries will be judged by an impartial committee headed by John Busterud, chairman of Junior Weekend.

Suggestions for subjects made by Miss Biggs include "Of Thee Sing," musical comedy which will highlight the weekend, the Junior Prom, the campus luncheon, and the terrace dance.

Les Anderson Vies for Seat As President

Les Anderson, junior in law and last fall's rally squad chairman, will oppose Steve Worth, independent candidate, as Greek candidate for student body president, it was learned from reliable sources Friday night.

Russ Hudson, junior in business administration, will be a candidate for senior representative; Jim Bennison, sophomore in law, will be nominated for junior representative.

Walt Dickinson, freshman in business administration, will run on the Greek ticket for sophomore representative.

Classes

Don Cawley, junior in journalism, will run for senior class president; Roger Dick, sophomore in law, is the Greek candidate for junior class president; and Robert Henderson, freshman in business administration, will be nominated for the freshman class presidency.

All these potential office-holders will be nominated from the floor at the general student body and the separate class nominating assemblies to be held at previously stated hours Tuesday.

Independent candidates were announced in the Emerald Friday morning.

Candidates Apply

Candidates for the position of Oregon editor will go before the educational activities board next Monday evening, April 6, at 7:30. They will be interviewed by the board as to their qualifications and experience at that time.

ADS Name 'Mud Sling'

Politics mixed with spring elections that result in regular campus "mud slinging" set Alpha Delta Sigma members thinking and finally brought forth the theme "Mud-Sling Swing" for the coming Krazy Kopy Krawl.

The theme will be built around the approaching student body elections that will be three days following the advertising honorary's dance. The ASUO nominations will precede the affair by four days and the committee is working with co-chairmen of the dance Bob Lovell and Jim Thayer in an attempt to make some arrangements for the important nominees to be presented at the dance and given an opportunity to present their platforms.

The dance has been scheduled for Saturday, April 11 in Gerlinger hall.

Dead Deadline . . . Card Sales To Continue

Sale of class cards for the freshman and sophomore classes will continue despite the April 2 deadline set earlier, according to Richard Williams, educational activities director.

A ruling found in the freshman class constitution states that class cards can be sold at any time, and thus the sale will continue, Williams revealed.

A copy of the sophomore constitution is not obtainable at the present time, Williams said, but it is presumed by the office that such a ruling is also made for sophomore class card sales.

Sales will begin today from the educational activities office from 8 to 10 a.m. and from 1 to 2 in the afternoon. Cards may be purchased all next week and April 13. Class members will also sell cards.

Schedule

June Hitchcock, freshman vice-president, acting in the absence of Ted Yaw, president, and Barry Campbell, president of the sophomore class, have agreed to arrange a schedule with their separate classes.

The former deadline, April 2, is still effective for the junior and senior classes, whose constitutions specify that class card sale must stop within 10 days.

Sunrise Services

When first they announced they would move back the clock, I arose in the dark 'mid a grumble and growler. But with services starting at sunrise on Easter, I'll approve of their moving the sun up an hour.

Speech Fest Progressing

By BOB EDWARDS

The debate teams from Hillsboro at present hold the lead in the Oregon high school debating league tournaments now being held on the University campus. Roseburg, with 3 wins and 1 loss, follows Hillsboro's 4 win and no loss lead, while Medford with 2 wins and 2 losses is the third team remaining in competition.

Teams from Dallas, Bonanza, and Redmond were eliminated in rounds I and II. The tournament is set up so that 3 or 4 losses can be accumulated before a team is eliminated. This plan is used so that schools which must travel long distances have better opportunities.

Trophy

E. E. DeCou, professor of mathematics, founded the Oregon high school debating league in 1907 and provided the first place trophy which is known as the University trophy. Two other debate trophies were provided by Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University.

Three trophies for individual competition in public discussion, extempore speaking, and after dinner speaking have been provided by the speech division of the University. A trophy for radio speaking could not be purchased due to priorities restrictions.

Host

The tournaments are a general extension of the Oregon state board of higher education and the University of Oregon speech division plays host to the tournament. Marvin A. Krenk, instructor.

Opera Music Will Glitter With Martini

By MARJORIE MAJOR

Opera music, with all its glitter and glamour will share the spotlight with Nino Martini, Italian tenor, when he presents a program full of famous arias Tuesday at 8:15 in McArthur court.

A Metropolitan star for the past six years, Martini has grown up in a musical tradition, beginning his active singing career when he was only 21. His concert here includes arias from many of his favorite roles in opera, as well as representative songs from the moderns.

Pianist

Martini will be accompanied by the pianist, Robert MacDonald, who will also play several groups on the program.

In the first group, Martini is including "O Del Mio Dolce Ardor" by Gluck; "L'esperto nochi-ero," by Bononcini; and "Amarilli" by Caccini.

"Caprice d'Alceste," Gluck-St. Saens; and "Sonata in B Flat Major" compose the second group, to be played by Mr. MacDonald.

"Suzanne"

The last group before intermission will include: "Tes Yeux," Raby; "Bon Jour Suzon," Delibes; and an aria from the opera "Suzanne" by Paladike.

"Che gelida manina," from "La Boheme" by Puccini follows the intermission. A group of three shorter songs, "Sigh No More" by Achin, "I Come To You" by Sandoval, and "The Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff, are included in group five.

"Blue Danube"

"The Blue Danube Waltzes" by Strauss as arranged by Schuz-Evler, is the last offering of Mr. MacDonald.

The concluding selections by Mr. Martini will be "Madrigal Espanol," Huarte; "Estrellita," pome; and "El Trust de los Tenorios," Serrano.

Students will be admitted upon presentation of their educational activities cards.

Emerald Beats Open

Several beats have been opened on the Emerald during the past week, according to Jack Billings, news editor. Applicants for these reporting positions will be interviewed any day next week from 4:30 p.m. until midnight at the Emerald office.

A reporting staff meeting has been called for 11 a.m. Saturday, April 11, in the Emerald news room.
