

Frosh Glee Heads Choose Committees

Committees for the Frosh Glee were announced Friday. Co-chairmen Glen Macy and Lorraine Davidson expressed complete satisfaction with the way committees have started to function, and said prospects were bright for a successful dance.

Following is a complete list of committees: promotion, Bob Henderson, chairman; Jack Wallace, Ed DeKeater, Shirley Beller, and Don Assestine; publicity, Harry Glickman, chairman, Barbara Younger, and Don Stephens; advertising, Betty Ann Stevens, chairman, Joanne Dolph and Al Popick.

Speech Fest Progressing

Medford, Dallas, Bonanza, Hillsboro, Roseburg, and Redmond each entered two teams to debate the question, "Resolved: The state of Oregon should adopt a general sales tax."

Speakers
In addition to the schools entered in the debating, Sailem, Albany, Oakridge, and Beaverton high schools are represented by individual speakers for extempore, public discussion, radio, and after dinner speaking.

Friday morning was dedicated to registration, general assembly, drawings and the first round of debate. Friday afternoon saw the second round of debate, radio speaking, and public discussion. Public discussion of the question, "What methods of raising revenues are best for the state of Oregon," was presided over by Kirt Montgomery, instructor of speech. Four plans were advanced including income tax, sales tax, excess profits tax, and severance tax.

Banquet
At last night's banquet at Seymour's cafe the after dinner speaking contest was held. One entrant from each school competed. J. L. Casteel, director of speech division, was master of ceremonies. "The Gruesome Two-some," Bob Mundt and Keith Hoppes provided entertainment for the banquet.

The third round of debate and extempore speaking will be held this morning. This afternoon there will be a general assembly with presentation of cups for after dinner speaking, extempore speaking and public discussion.

Pictures will be taken by the University news bureau this afternoon. Additional rounds of debate will be held if necessary.

Broadcast
The final round of debate and presentation of the University trophy by Professor DeCou will be broadcast over KOAC at 8 p.m. tonight.

Ernest Seymour, member of the Hillsboro debate team reports that the fraternities are giving the delegates a royal welcome.

"I like the trees and grass," reports Richard Smurthwaite, Beaverton radio speaker. "By the way," he added, "I like the radio studios, not that I did very well in them."

Moot Trials Billed Today

Ed Luckey will point an accusing finger at Frank E. Day, three times this afternoon as third-year law students present their first moot trials of the spring. Lane county 4-H club members, in Eugene for their annual marketing day, will serve as jurors.

According to Orlando J. Hollis, acting dean of the law school, Luckey accuses Day of negligently throwing his bat through the air, during a game of softball, and thereby hitting the plaintiff in the head and causing injury which led to hospitalization and care by a doctor.

4-H Club
Special trials have been given for 4-H clubbers for several years. Professor Hollis explained. Three trials, at 1, 2, and 3 o'clock, are necessary to accommodate the large number of people who attend this event. The same case will be tried at each sitting.

Student cogs in the legal machinery that will grind out justice are Charles A. Phipps and Mary Jane Wormser, lawyers for the plaintiff. Defending for Day will be John L. Luvaas and Irvin L. Mann.

Witnesses
Witness for the plaintiff is Cecil Wright and Hall Phillips will testify for the defendant.

Judge will be Orlando J. Hollis. Leon F. Olmstead will be bailiff and Jeanette Hafner will be clerk during the trial.

The Lane county court house will be the setting for today's trials.

The Intercollegiate Peace Association was organized at Earlham College in 1906.

Women Feel Saving Urge

Eugene women are feeling the urge to save for defense and clothes have already received the attention of the conservation-minded ladies who are showing interest in an extension class in tailoring.

Besides saving by making the clothes, some members of the class are making old clothes over to increase the amount of use from one piece of material. One of the ladies is making a man's overcoat into a garment for her own use.

The no-credit class has reached the limit of its enrollment, which is sixteen members. Several students taking the course taught by Mrs. Mary S. Huser, instructor in home economics, are members of the faculty.

Zoot Suits
At present the tailoring students are working on suits or coats. They meet each Wednesday night in room 302 of Chapman hall where sewing machines and cutting tables are available to help in their work.

Miss Mabel Wood, head of the home economics department, commented that this is the first time tailoring has been offered as an extension course at the University.

Math Men Attend

Professor K. S. Ghent, Professor T. S. Peterson and Dr. C. F. Kossack of the University mathematics department are attending the regional meeting of the American Mathematics association at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B. C. Dr. Kossack will present a paper on statistics at the meeting Saturday.

ROTC Men To Set Pace On Army Day

By PEGGY OVERLAND

The University of Oregon will be represented at the big Army Day celebration which will be held in Eugene on Monday, April 6. Every phase of community life will be represented during the day which has been declared "Total War" day in proclamations by President Roosevelt and Governor Sprague.

The feature event of the day will be a parade, scheduled for 7 p.m., and in order to save rubber everyone will be "on foot." Colonel Orville Waller has been named chairman of the parade by the Lane county defense council. Army regulations will be lifted for the day, and flags will be flying all over the city.

Col. Sampson
Colonel Charles Sampson, of the Oregon ROTC with his unit, his staff and his student-trainees, and the University of Oregon band will be in the line of march along with soldiers stationed here, or who may be in Eugene at the time.

Others scheduled to participate in the parade will be the Eugene high school band, state guard units, women's ambulance corps, police and fire departments and reserves, Red Cross, parents of men in service, veterans' organizations, civic groups, fraternal groups, farmers, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and 4-H clubs.

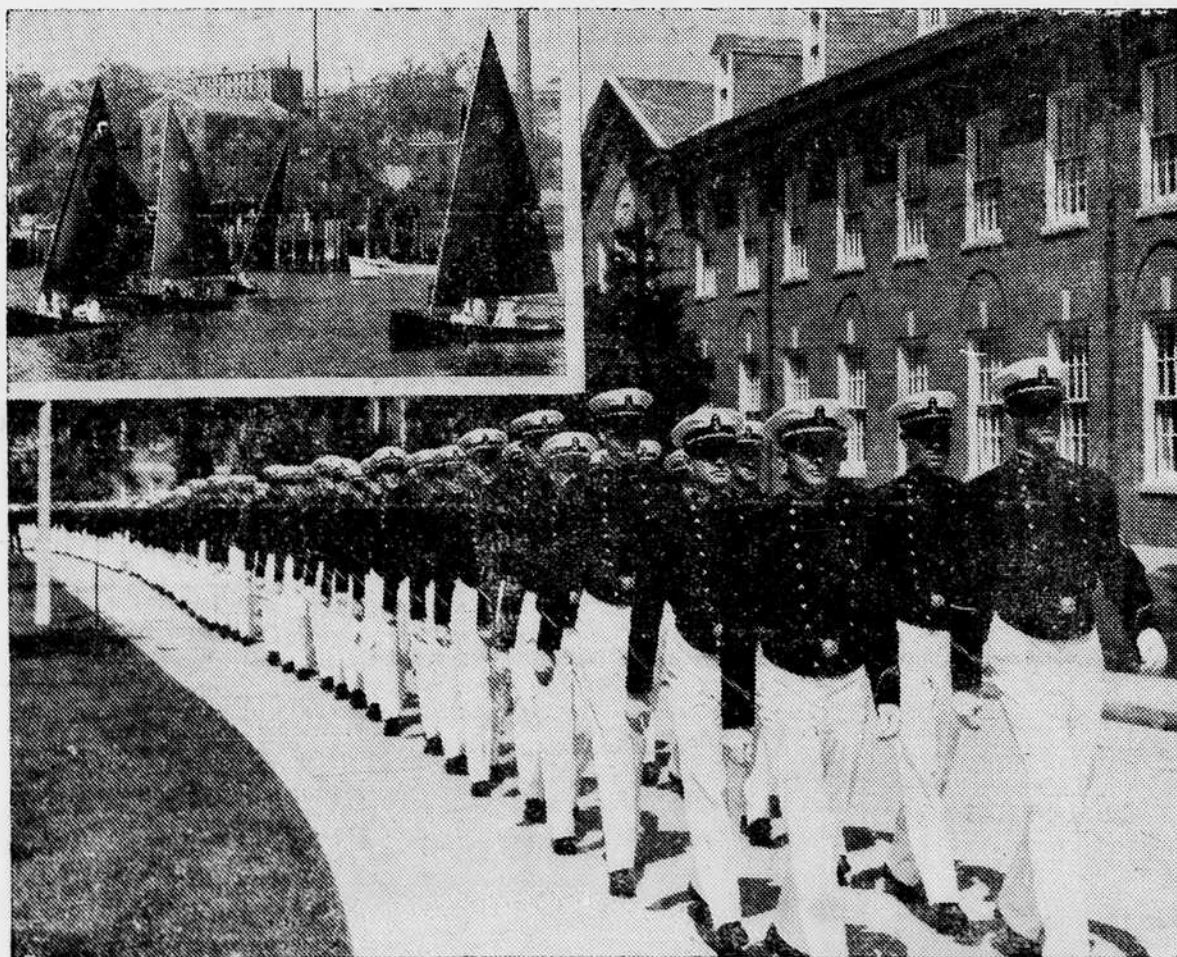

Arrangements have been completed for a reviewing stand to be built for city officials, draft board members, and defense and war activity leaders to review the parade.

Dancers Take Patriotic Motif

An American theme will be developed in the Master Dance recital for Junior Weekend, according to Tom Hardy, president of the group. Variations of the jitterbug, square dances and other dances will be worked out.

About 15 girls and 5 men will participate in four related dance suites, as well as duets and solos.

"The emphasis this year will be on specific effects, costuming lighting, and sets," according to Hardy. In charge of lighting arrangements are Bob Forsyth; costumes, Merlin Dow; sets, Barbara Scott and Drusilla Johnson. The recital is scheduled at Gerlinger on May 8, just before the Junior Prom.
