

Ducks Bomb Linfield, 13-2

Gloomy Track Picture Faces Bill Hayward

Despite a steady downpour, the intrasquad track meet was run off Saturday. Because of the rain, there was a small turnout, and the track was sloppy. Hayward remarked, "This is the worst turn out I've had in 40 years."

The meet was run on the honor system, the field events being judged by the participants, while the running events were being staged.

This was the second group of time trials for the Portland dual meet Saturday. The first were held last Wednesday, and the finals will be held tomorrow. The frosh participated, but will not be in the Portland dual.

All the events were in abbreviated form, but Hayward thinks the final time trials and the meet will be run full distance.

Don Wilson, sophomore, was the high scorer of the meet, taking firsts in the three-quarter mile and the 660. Bob Simpson, hurdler and sprinter, was not there, nor was Dick Shelton, who runs the 660. Homer Thomas, pole vaulter, didn't show up, and the other vaulter, Owen Day, did not jump. Hurdler Ralph Kramer was unable to compete because of a leg injury he acquired in Thursday's workout.

The squad was bolstered Monday by the appearance of Ray Dickson. He has arranged his schedule so he can be out every day. A lab on Tuesday and Thursday had barred him from track, but he has arranged it so he can be out every day, even though not always with the squad. He is a letterman in the broad jump and hurdles.

Vacation Boosts Varsity's Spirits; Frolic Thru Drills

By SI SIDESINGER

The Duck varsity grid squad resumed activity last night after a three-day rest due to inclement weather and the Easter holiday. The short vacation seemed to have done the team more good than harm, for there was an added zip and sparkle in the workout, more noticeable than before.

Among the most notable incidents on the field was the dissolving of the Red team. Coach Oliver has fortified his White, Green and Gold teams with the members of Red group, enabling the practices to go ahead faster in case of injuries or absences. With only three teams to learn assignments and plays, the sessions seem to roll along smoother.

Last night's turnout opened with a rough warmup to toughen up muscles that had been idle for three days. Stretching, duck-walking, rolling, and all the exercises that tighten ligaments and muscles were involved in the warmup.

Work on Passing

Passing took a good share of attention under Tex Oliver's eagle eye. The whole squad took

The frosh will run the same day as the varsity, and preliminary tryouts are tentative for next week. McKinney announced. The squad hasn't been thoroughly organized as yet, and a crude attempt was made Monday.

In the sprints, which include the 100 and 220 yard dashes, there are Still and Lawrence who won first and second respectively in the intersquad meet Saturday. Elliot, Weinstein, Barrows, and Pearson are also entered in the sprinting events.

The distance men—440, 880, mile and two-mile—are Todd, Boylen—who was third in the 660 Saturday—Glasgow, Wisdom,

Winner Hurls 3-Hit Ball; Kirsch Clubs

By LEE FLATBERG

Sports Editor, Daily Emerald

Oregon's '42 baseball edition came to life in the late innings yesterday on Howe field, unleashed its war clubs, and sent Linfield's Wildcats staggering home on the short end of a 13 to 2 score. The Webfoots move to Pacific tomorrow to play the Badger nine.

It was a great day for the Duck pitching staff, long the brunt of skeptics, as it bowed gracefully, thumbed its nose at the skeptics, and set the Linfield nine down with four scattered hits. Al Wimer took care of the pitching scores for eight full frames and limited the Linfield boys to three measly hits. Oregon's ever-present sluggers took over from here, blasted out 10 hits and a "baker's dozen" worth of runs.

Kirsch Heads Parade

Don Kirsch was the big gun in the Oregon barrage. He laced out three singles and a triple in six trips to the plate. He plastered another far out into left field but a fielder got his glove on it and while Kirsch got four bags on the swat, it went as an error.

The game bore some semblance to a contest for five innings. Jim Partlow, Linfield pitcher, had the Ducks fairly well in hand up to the fifth with four runs while his teammates had collected one. Wimer, serving up a slow, but very tricky southpaw slant, had the situation well in hand for Oregon.

Things erupted in the bottom half of the sixth. Kirsch banged his "error" home run for number one. Dick Whitman reached first on an error, stole second, moved to third on John Bubalo's single. Then Partlow balked and Whitman scored and Boob moved to third; to score a second later when Linfield's catcher dropped an infield fly.

Oregon kept right on in the seventh. Bill McKeivitt and Kirsch singled in order. Linfield's left fielder lost Whitman's drive in the sun and two more runs filtered across. The third baseman booted one to let Whitman score number three of the inning.

McKeivitt Walks

To put a clincher on the affair the Ducks pushed three more across in the eighth. McKeivitt got life on a walk, was sacrificed down by Philip's bunt and came home on Kirsch's fourth hit. Ike Brown, in for Hamel, socked a single to center, and Whitman walked. A long fly out by Bubalo brought Kirsch across and a screaming single by Bill Carney seconds later brought Brown in with the final tally.

The Wildcats got their first score in the fourth without benefit of a hit. An error, a past ball, and a sacrifice added up to a score. They added the final one in the seventh with an error and a long triple by O'Meara.

Oregon got two in the first on an error, a walk, and a double by Carney. Two more came in the fourth on Kirsch's single, a walk, and a long single by Boob.

Susie Mermaids Ready To Swim Sherry Ross

The Susan Campbell swimming team were accused by the Sherry Ross mermen of trying to "welch" on their swimming meet this coming Thursday night, and Susie girls arose to a woman behind their mermaids to declare that they would be there to uphold the honor of the female sex in the pool. The meet, therefore, will be held Thursday evening at 5 p.m. in the Gerlinger pool. Both girls and fellows are invited to attend.

From Johnny Kahananui to F. Miles (MJO) Mayfield to even Joe (J. Spencer) Miller the Ross men are ready. They've been working out lately in some of the local tanks—Saturday night a big time trial was held at the Stone-Hut. Bud Salinaro looked great. He should be a sensation in the diving events. Franklin Gunn, former San Francisco swim ace, is all set for the 40-yard breast stroke. Betty Joe Daniels may be recruited to swim against him. Bob Simmons will be counted on to take points in the crawl events for the Miller mermen.

Yes, Sherry Ross is ready (as they ever will be).

Susie Favored

Susie Campbell has its championship team of last term intact and will probably go into the meet 2 to 1 favorites. Margaret Leshner will definitely be on hand to attempt to crack her own COAST records in the crawl and the backstroke. Pat Carson is the usual tower of strength in the relay and distance events and will be ably abetted by Barbara Taylor.

Captain Jeanette (don't mention my name) Neilson will perform from the LOW diving board, and the competition between her and Barfin' Bud Salinaro is expected to make it the finest event of the evening. All in all, the entire meet shapes up to be a close affair, although the Susie aquatournament competition.

After the meet, to prove that there is no hard feelings, both squads will eat their dinner together, and hold an old-fashioned clam-bake.

Frosh Meet Varsity 2nds

A practice scrimmage game is slated today when the frosh team meets the varsity seconds for the second time this year.

Baseball suits were passed out to twelve frosh diamond players Monday, replacing the makeshift uniforms which the yearlings have been wearing.

Coach John Warren announced two games for this weekend for his charges. Franklin high school of Portland meets the Ducklings here Friday, while Saturday Albany high provides the competition for the frosh.
