Hobart Bird, in charge of decorations, has announced that a battleship will be erected in the middle of McArthur court, and will be named after the Little Admiral.

A novel plan for the promotion of the Frosh Glee was announced yesterday by Bob Henderson, promotion chairman. There will be a contest open to all freshmen. Each contestant will wear a sign with a verse about the Frosh Glee.

Signs will be worn for two days about a week before the dance. The winner of the contest will receive $10 in defense stamps. Further details of the contest will be announced later, and all freshmen will be expected to participate.

Capital to Campus

as well as smart consumers. The Chicago area conference, March 2 through 7, in which 20 colleges participated, is a case in point.

Similar sessions are in the planning stage. Specifically those at Western Reserve, Vassar, Goucher, Denison and Central YWCA. There is a possibility of two more area conferences may take place, one of the west coast and one in the mid-west.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson, (Wisconsin, '41) and Mrs. Mary Jane Byrd, (Florida State College for Women, '37) and their boss, Dr. Mable B. Blake, bring OPA's gospel of consumer-education to the collegiate conferences.

A Guinea Pig club is the latest wrinkle at Montreal's McGill university. Members volunteer as "guinea pigs" to be used in experiments the university is conducting on war problems in behalf of the Dominion. Experiments are "harmless and simple," prospective club members are assured.

Connecticut coeds are taking seriously farmer complaints that hired help has been siphoned off the farm into war industry or the army. They are spending several hours each week on farms and communities, helping out with the chores.

Some of the schools most successful in setting up thriving OCD College Defense committees are the University of North Carolina, Northwestern, Occidental, Wayne university, Skidmore, Smith, University of Pittsburgh and University of St. Louis. Apparently the most difficult task at many schools is to keep the committees representative of the whole college family. The tendency often is for one faction or another to take over, according to the OCD office in Washington.

Attendance at British universities has dropped until it is now about 50 per cent of prewar normal.

Architecture Work Shown

Architecture and allied arts students have had an opportunity during the last week to see some of the work done by one of their professors, Walter R. Willcox, professor emeritus.

Professor Willcox's display being shown in the exhibition room in the architecture building, is made up of photographs, plans, and drawings of work he has done since he started practicing architecture in Burlington, Vermont.

Designed Home

While Mr. Willcox was practicing architecture in Seattle he designed a home for Dean Eric Allen of the journalism school. Mr. Allen was working for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer at that time. The plans of the house are in the display.

Various local buildings including the Westgate building in which the College Side is located, the Congregational church, and the Kappa Alpha Theta house were also designed by Mr. Willcox.

Defense Pamphlets Form Library Display

It was learned recently that pamphlets dealing with civilian defense and other phases of the war are now on display at a war information center in the circulation room in the library.

The display includes information about peace aims, war economics, bonds, morale, air-raid protection, post-war organization, army life, and any other topic that might help educate the public.

John March, formerly of the library reference department, began collecting the material for the display and started the arrangement. He is now stationed at the medical replacement training center at Camp Berkeley, near Abilene, Texas.

Here's Mud ... In Your Eye

By J. PIERPONT GIRDLESTAY

Today is the day to give politicians away, for a half a pound of cheese . . . anyway that's the way the song goes. Spring term at the U, and the politicoes come out of winter hibernation, secret meetings within secret meetings, etc., etc. . . .

This year's crop of specimens attaining political heights looks mighty impressive. Ought to be a lot of good clean mud slung within the next two weeks. It is rumored that a darkhorse candidate sponsored by (censored) made his appearance at the nominating assembly yesterday running on the ticket of "tain't what you do it's the way you do it."

It would be wise to review the potential candidates, so that you won't throw mud on your bloc candidate . . . which would be a heck of a note. Here is the box score complete with numbers . . .

For President: Stephen Worth. A fine upstanding fellow, who should be easy to hit with a broadside at 30 feet. Fine orator, good promiser . . . Fine Orator . . . good promiser . . . and so on.

For President: Lester Anderson . . . (the Jefferson terror). Active in campus politics, active in campus. Active. Combs his hair in the middle, ardent pigger, smooth dancer. Good orator, good promiser, good orator, good . . .

Pat Cloud: Not running.

Bud Vandeneynde: Ditto.

Notice to the boys who want their name on the door. Do you want to be a student body president? Would you like to be a shot on the campus? Advertise in the Emerald. Reach YOUR public by advertising. Politicians can get special rates of 42 cents an inch; contract rates are even lower.

If politicians print known lies, and the Emerald NEVAH prints lies, the rate is a flat two-bits. Reach potential voters, it pays to advertise! State law requires political advertising to be paid in advance. So get all the gravy now, and advertise your way into a big political job at Oregon.

ent-Greek ticket to oppose Miss Riesch and Miss Anderson.

No Dark-Horse

Until late Tuesday night, according to Jim Frost, ASUO first vice-president, no dark-horse petitions had been presented to Torgeson. The deadline for these is midnight Thursday. The petition must be signed by 50 student body members and be accompanied by a declaration of intention to run and certificate of scholastic eligibility signed by the dean of men or the dean of women to be placed on the ballot.

Except for Miss McCliment's "nomination," the candidates for class representatives to the executive committee were nominated according to a prepared list "released last week."

"List

Russ Hudson was nominated for senior class representative on the Greek ticket and Wes Sullivan on the independent. Jim Bennison will be Greek candidate for junior representative; his running mate will be Max Brown of the independents. Greek Walt Dickinson and Independent Hal Locke are running for sophomore class representatives.

This adds up to six nominees for six positions. No unemployment here.
